The Answer Is "Vodka."
The Booming South.
Von Huenefeld's Story.
A. P. Sloan Is Cheerful.

— By ARTHUR BRISBANE —

(Copyright, 1928.)

CELEBRATING Easter in Moscow, many were killed, 1,500 were arrested. Some started with vodka, and ended drinking kerosene, and fighting savagely at Easter parties. Others, drunk and helpless in the streets, fell under automobiles.

Russia's Easter celebrations begins with sweet religious fervor, but doesn't end that way.

The czar abolished vodka, then Russians, sober and thinking clearly, abolished him. Now vodka comes back. Bolshevism realizes that to rule, it is wise to discourage thinking in the crowd!

THE South is energetic and growing. Governor Smith of New York, chose well, selecting North Carolina for his golf holiday. He is studying one of the most amazingly progressive states of the Union.

These five men, northbound from Miami, got off the train at Asheville, N. C., the other day to pay their respects to the governor: Judge Olvaney, Surrogate James F. Foley, Bernard F. Gimbel, George Le Boutillier, president of the Long Island Railroad, and Arthur Foran, all of New York.

THEY all agree that North Carolina typifies the South and American progress generally.

"The whole state," said B. F. Gimbel, "seems as closely built up as the area between New York and Philadelphia."

The Cannon Towel Mill, biggest on earth, employs 5,000 men and women. The well-known B. V. D. gentlemen, and the great Chicago firm of Marshall Field, have enormous manufacturing plants in North Carolina. Other manufacturing institutions spring up daily.

The state has water power practically unlimited, at low cost, an energetic working population and extremely good living conditions.

Don't overlook North Carolina in your plans.

THE story of the westward flight across the Atlantic, told by Baron Von Huenefeld, will be read today with intense interest. Those that go down to the sea in airships will note that if the German air boat had not been most powerfully built the three passengers would probably have been killed when they landed on the ice-covered pond.

PRESIDENT ALFRED P. SLOAN, Jr., of General Motors, is not exactly discouraged about the automobile situation. His company in March, 1928, sold 35,911 more cars than in March, 1927, a gain of 22.2 per cent, and March broke all records for all time, total sales, 197,821 cars.

Mr. Sloan expects General Motors to break this record in April, usually a bigger month than March. There is nothing the matter with this country or its prosperity, nothing to frighten us except our own foolishness.

"MAN'S best friend," the dog, occasionally gets mixed in his friendship. Mrs. Janes McCormick told Policeman Dunn that Terrence Dillon, in whose apartment she lived, put her out. When the policeman escorted the lady to the apartment Dillon's dog leaped at Dillon, bit him on the right leg, bit the policeman on the right hip, bit Mrs. McCormick on both legs, and then rested. A "police dog" would have done the job more thoroughly, but Mr. Dillon's dog did as well as it could. There wasn't anybody else to bite.

CHINA announces a competition, with prizes for the best Chinese anthem, open to all Chinese. A hymn is also wanted for the Kuomingtang party, and an anthem to honor the Chinese revolution. How would you begin such a hymn or anthem?

Something will be produced, strange to our ears, but as inspiring to the Chinese as Rouget De Lisle's battle song, the "Marseillaires."

THE Brown Daily Herald tells students of Brown University: "Drinking and drunkenness at the university social events on this campus have all but killed Brown's social prestige." That's too bad. What's worse, drinking bootleg liquor will kill the Brown young gentlemen's mucous membrane and heart action.

THAT is not exactly what prohibition was expected to produce. Government hasn't the faintest chance of suppressing bootleggers, the latter having public opinion, or at least public indifference, back of them.

WHEN our present peace was still young K. Ogden Armour said, "Talk about big profits. Why, Armour & Co. made less than $25,000,000 last year. When I think of Carnegie, Rockefeller and others that have real money, I feel like a gypsy."

TODAY you read that Armour's wife and daughter take from their private fortune $10,000,000 to pay the debts of Mr. Armour, who died last year.

"Take care how you get into the hands of high finance," said Mr. Armour, shortly before he died. "They took millions from me and had me on the way to the cleaners before I knew where I was."

ONE addition to the horrors of our bootleg-crime age. Twenty passengers riding peacefully in a Jersey motor bus were ordered to get out, line up and be robbed by four highwamen on a lonely spot between New York and Paterson. The bandits, also passengers, drove away in a Ford car parked in advance at the right spot.

Their work was easier than that of the James brothers, who had to hold up locomotives.

BREMEN HOPS MONDAY FOR NEW YORK

International News Service

QUEBEC, Que., April 19.—Maj. James E. Fitzmaurice will depart for Greenley Island in a plane of the Canadian Transcontinental Airways Company either late today or tomorrow, the Irish trans-Atlantic flier informed an International News Service correspondent here via telephone from Lake St. Agnes.

Fitzmaurice also stated that he thought the repairs on the Bremen would not take more than two days. He declared that, if weather conditions permitted, he was certain that he and Capt. Hermann Koehl and Baron Ehrenfried von Huenefeld would be able to fly to New York from the ice-bound Greenley Island on Monday.

BARON'S OWN FLIGHT STORY ON PAGE 6

He revealed the probable route the fliers would take to their ultimate goal, Mitchel Field, L. I. He said the Bremen would fly southwest down the Belle Isle Straits to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, then follow the St. Lawrence River to Quebec, where, without making a landing, they would veer to a direct

Seize Flask Toters in Clubs

Hip-loaded customers in cabarets, road houses and ordinary "joints" have been marked as victims of prohibition agents.

This much was made clear when, last night, agents arrested four patrons in raids on two Hill district night clubs, a Millvale roadhouse and a North Side bar, apprehending, in all, 17 persons.

At Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington's headquarters today it was explained that agents have been instructed to arrest all customers who have bottles of liquor in their possession.

The places raided were the Castle Gardens Cabaret, 1213 Wylie avenue; the Parrot or Little Paris, Wylie avenue and Fullerton street; the Paese Restaurant, Bigelow boulevard and Washington street; the Oakleaf Gardens, known as E. C. (Curley) Lacock's roadhouse, Millvale, and "Gordon's Bar" at 1301 Federal street. Gordon and Lacock have not yet been arrested, but warrants have been issued for them. The former is said to be a brother of Nettie Gordon, North Side political leader.

John Sibilia and Louis Martine of 1230 Dagmar avenue, Beechview, were arrested as the proprietors of Castle Gardens. Five waiters also were arrested there. The four patrons, two of them women, who were arrested when bottles were found at their table, said they were Margaret Miller, 23, of 80 South Twelfth street; Mary Farrell, 21, of 608 Filbert street, Donald Barkley, 24, of 333 Melwood street, and George Marson, 22, of 5131 Hillcrest avenue.

At the Little Paris, Peter Davidson, of 1315 Epiphany street, was arrested as the proprietor. A Negro bartender and a Negro waitress also were arrested. Several patrons were in the place when the raid was made, but they were not bothered. Joseph and Gabriel Paese, brothers, were arrested as

Indict 20 Here for Murder

Twenty persons were indicted on murder charges by the grand jury in Criminal Court today. Two were held on manslaughter charges and bills against two others, notably Mrs. Marie Spehar, were ignored.

Nine boys were indicted in the death of Mike Yarsavage, 38, of Nant-y-Glo, slain at Rural Ridge on March 6, when he was mistaken for a strikebreaker. They are Joseph Bassetti, Sam Koneski, Fred Simonetti, John Kubic, Louis Branzet, Julius Frank, John Micklow, John Koneski and Elic Simon.

Rose Bartolette, of 538 Becks Run road, was held for the shooting of Simone Lagattuta, 39, slain when it became known that there was "another woman."

Toy Warne was indicted for the murder of Andrew Muldoon, 68, a miner, at Mollenauer, on February 14.

CROWD GATHERS EARLY, EYES SPARKY ADAMS

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 19.—Moth balls of the closed season at Forbes Field, home of the Pirates, were thrown away today in favor of baseballs, and the ceremony was attended by more than 30,000 fans who watched the opening engagement between the white-clad Pirates and the gray-garbed St. Louis club.

That day for which some anxious thousands of baseball devotees have been awaiting ever since that bleak afternoon when the Pirates drooped sadly before the Yankees of New York last October brought a mixture of a wintry wind and springtime sunshine.

Eager footsteps shuffled through Oakland on their way to the ball yard. The early birds took up position in the unreserved sections in the leftfield bleachers and in the covered sections in deep rightfield.

A red-coated band on the field some distance behind home plate regaled the early arrivals with an assortment of the softer ballads of the day. A tenor who sang pleasingly helped add to the festive color of opening day.

As an obligato batters of both clubs cracked baseballs with hickory and the net result was that the fans moved impatiently awaiting the start of hostilities between the Corsairs and the Redbirds.

A focal point of considerable interest was a tiny figure, not much bigger than a half pint, who moved with speed and dash around the second base section. That undersized figure was Sparky Adams, who came to fill a second base gap. He came along with Scott, named romantically as Floyd, but now known as just Pete.

Sparky Adams and Scott came here for the banished Cuyler. "Hi, Sparky," the newcomer heard from a hundred throats as he moved around the field. The unofficial reception committee in the stands wanted Sparky to know he was going to like his new home.

McKECHNIE CHEERED

There was a familiar figure who moved in and out of the St. Louis dugout. He was keeping his hands warm by parking them in his hip pockets. There was a familiar air about the way he wore his baseball cap. "Hey, there Bill," was the cue that this figure was Bill McKechnie, former Pirate leader, Wilkinsburg citizen, who, in the short space of one year after having been demoted, pulled himself up by his baseball bootstraps to command once again a big league outfit, the Cardinals.

Ole Bill, so ran the buzz through the stands, was not so bad, after all, and you sense in the welcome tone of the fans they were mighty glad that Ole Bill had come back with a bang.

6 Families Routed by Blazes

Six families were routed by two fires in Wilkinsburg this afternoon, and an invalid woman was rescued by pedestrians after her daughter failed in the attempt. The loss totaled $15,000.

Sparks from a bonfire set fire to a row of four two-story brick dwellings at 620, 622, 624 and 626 Kelly avenue, causing $3,000 damage.

Winona Ketter, 21, tried to carry her mother, Mrs. Belle Ketter, 40, who is ill, from the second floor of No. 622, but failed. She ran to the yard and summoned several men, who took Mrs. Ketter to the home of neighbors.

Other families driven out were those of Roy Witts, James Haggenbottom and Rodney Leets.

A three-story brick apartment at 812 Holland avenue was damaged $12,000 by fire originating in the basement and reaching the roof through a wall. The owner, D. H. Smith, his wife and child, occupying the first floor, and D. E. Cutler and wife, on the third floor, were forced to flee.

Several firemen ready to start for the ball game at Forbes Field were called back by the alarm and aided in subduing the two fires.

FORBES FIELD, April 19.—The baseball season in Pittsburgh was inaugurated this afternoon with about 30,000 in the park.

Fifteen minutes before the game started the two teams marched to the flag pole behind Danny Nirella's band to raise Old Glory and the National League pennant of 1927.

Manager Bush of the Pirates stood by his announced pitching selection and Carmen Hill went to the mound. Bill McKechnie of the Cardinals called upon Fred Frankhouse for mound duty.

The game in detail follows:

FIRST INNING

ST. LOUIS—Douthit bunted safely. Holm lined to Lloyd Waner. Frisch flied to Barnhart. Douthit was caug't off first, Hill to Grantham to Adams to Hill. One hit.

PITTSBURGH—L. Waner walked. Adams flied to Douthit. P. Waner flied to Roettger. Wright fanned.

SECOND INNING

ST. LOUIS—Bottomley flied to L. Waner. Hafey doubled to left. O'Farrell fanned. Roettger faned. One hit.

PITTSBURGH—Traynor singled to center. Granthams tripled to right center, scoring Traynor. Barnhart singled on the infield, Grantham holding third. Gooch flied to Douthit, Grantham scoring. Hill forced Barnhart, Thevenow to Frisch. L. Waner doubled to right, Hill taking third. Adams flied to Roettger. Two runs, four hits.

Convict 4 In Vote Frauds

The most crushing blow to the traditional election cheating of Allegheny county was dealt this morning when two women and two men of the North Side were found guilty to the limit of the indictments for election frauds in the key case of the sweeping election prosecutions.

Those convicted, members of the election board of the Fourteenth District of the Twenty-first Ward at the September primary, were:

CLARA A. MANES, college graduate and 22-year-old housekeeper for her mother at 1322 Juniata street, one of the prettiest defendants Criminal Court has seen.

MRS. ANNA ALSTON, 1320 Franklin street, wife of a city employe and mother of three daughters, the eldest 21.

JAMES WILLIAMSON, 26, father of two children.

Logan's Rise Reviewed in Mine Probe

UNION FOE PORTRAYS W. VA. GROWTH

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The story of the development of the coal fields of Logan county, West Virginia, the sharpest thorn in the flesh of the United Mine Workers, was told to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today, in its investigation of the bituminous industry, by William H. Coolidge, of Manchester, Mass., chairman of the board of the Island Creek Coal Company and arch foe of the union.

He told of going into Logan county, then a trackless wilderness of 5,000 population, a quarter of a century ago, and of making it "blossom like the rose." Today the county has 60,000 inhabitants, of whom 10,000 live on the Island Creek Coal Company's property.

DECRIED BY UNION

The United Mine Workers had described Logan county as a benighted region in which the miners were paid starvation wages and virtually held in a state of peonage. They declared it was the fountain head of most of the trouble from which the soft coal industry had suffered in recent years, explaining that it was the necessity of competing with the ruthless and inhuman Logan county operators that had led to reduction of wages and repudiation of contracts with the workers by coal companies in the union fields. Several witnesses had testified that it was as much as a union organizer's life was worth to venture into Logan county.

Coolidge, a stocky man with a shock of white hair, shaggy eyebrows and an undershot jaw, told a different story. He exhibited photographs which indicated that the Island Creek Company's miners live in model towns and enjoy numerous social advantages. He said the company's accident record was four times as good as that for the mining industry as a whole, and that last year it had had only one fatality per 1,232,997 tons of coal produced. Fifty per cent of the company's employes last year earned $6.80 a day, and its average wage rate for both skilled and unskilled workers is higher, he stated than the average rate for skilled workers in many other industries.

BLAMES UNION

Coolidge disclosed by his testimony the most irreconcilable attitude of hostility imaginable towards the United Mine Workers and labor unions in general. He blamed them for the high cost of living and for many other things. He refused to concede that the country had received a single benefit from trade unionism.

This attitude of his brought him into conflict with Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, and Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York. They wandered far afield in their debates on the various points raised. Child labor, birth control, legislative practices, the use of automobiles, the League of Nations, prohibition and various other social, economic and political problems were argued in a witty fashion that afforded the audience a vast amount of amusement.

Coolidge, it developed, had an ancestor in common with President Coolidge 10 generations ago.

The witness was sarcastic in his animadversions on the Senate's inquiry in the coal business. The purpose of the inquiry, he declared, was to see "if some way can be found, within the Constitution, to make coal production cost more." He said the United Mine Workers had requested the investigation because they desire "that the cost of coal to 1,000,000 people in the United States shall be increased for the benefit of 500,000 coal miners and possibly 100,000 people who are owners and stockholders in coal companies."

HISTORY OF FIELD

"Early in the spring of 1902, Taylor Vinson, of Huntington, and other citizens of West Virginia, came to Boston and asked my associates and myself to become interested in a tract of coal land, some 20,000 acres in area, located in Logan county some 75 miles south of the city of Huntington. Mr. Albert F. Holden of Cleveland, O., a mining engineer without a superior, together with myself and two or three others, went in May, 1902, to West Virginia.

"We left the Norfolk and Western Railroad at a little, almost deserted town, rode across the mountains a distance of about 15 miles into Logan county. There were then no railroads in Logan county. The roads were well nigh impassable. Transportation was almost entirely by horse back and mule back. The population of the county was approximately 5,000, now 60,000 and the county seat, Logan, the largest town, had less than 500 people, now 10,000. The tract now known as the Island Creek property was beautiful by nature, mountainous, with narrow ravines. There were no people living on the tract, but it contained several coal seams, since estimated by engineers to contain between 300,000,000 and 400,000,000 tons of coal. The chief seam, some six and a half feet in thickness, is now known as the Island Creek seam.

"The property was purchased and development begun. Of course, we had to build houses, provide a store and build tipples before we could begin to mine coal. Everything except the machinery was obtained from the property itself. The first machinery was hauled over the mountain, a distance of 15 miles. The Guyan branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad ran up the Guyandott River to its terminus some 40 miles from the town of Logan. The Chesapeake and Ohio was induced to build the 40 miles to Logan, with which our mines were connected by a road some four or five miles in length, built by our company. The first coal shipped by our company was in the winter of 1904-1905.

"The county of Logan now has approximately 200 miles of railroad, approximately 100 different mines producing coal, about 150 miles of concrete and hard surface roads and a population of about 60,000. Upon our property are now some 10,000 people, the majority of whom live in 1,500 houses built by our company. We have 10 stores on our property.

CONVICT 4 IN VOTE FRAUD

200 election officials, admittedly critical alike to the prosecution and combined defense, was a sweeping victory for the prosecution. The jury of six men and six women, after agreeing on conviction on the four wilful counts of the five counts in the indictment, in a recommendation "of extreme mercy, believing the defendants were influenced from outside sources," pinned culpability on Republican leaders of the district charged with dictating the returns and altering ballots.

"This verdict, one of the outstanding verdicts obtained by the district attorney's office in years, is a sweeping victory for the prosecution in the critical case of the sweeping indictments," declared Attorney William H. McNaugher, representing the special committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association. "It will serve as a stern warning to all election boards and reflects distinct credit on the able manner in which the case was handled by Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk."

"The important thing in the verdict is that the two women were found guilty and that the jury was not influenced by sympathy," said Mrs. J. O. Miller, of the League of Women Voters, who is following the prosecutions. "It is a wonderful victory and a warning to the election cheating that has existed for years in this county."

NEW TRIAL TALKED OF

Attorney Rody P. Marshall, retained by Republican leaders as the sole defense counsel in the wholesale charges, said that he would file a motion for a new trial and fight the case through to the end. This was interpreted to mean that he would appeal the case to the higher courts. Attorneys expressed the opinion that the verdict was a severe blow to the veteran attorney.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and his first assistant, Andrew T. Park, in charge of the election prosecutions, expressed gratification. Park declared that the entire prosecution hinged on the result of the case, which was the first trial in the continuous disposition of the cases agreed upon. Two pleas disposed of the first two cases this week.

The defendants were released after the verdict, having provided bail on arrest for the verdict and disposition of the charges. No statement was made as to the time of disposition. Sentence may be imposed on the refusal of a new trial or may await any appeal. It is expected that severe jail sentences will be imposed.

VERDICT IN 3½ HOURS

The verdict was reached by the jury at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after 3½ hours' deliberation, and was opened before Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, of Kittanning, when court convened today. The jury was released after reaching its verdict to report this morning, having been confined since the trial started Monday.

The verdict was found on the four wilful counts in the indictment, charging conspiracy to make a false count and false return, making a false count and false return, wilfully performing the duties of election officers so as to defeat the objects of the election laws, and wilful fraud. The remaining count, charging negligence, is regarded as a minor charge in the indictment. The penalties on conviction are several years in jail and several thousand dollars in fines. The recommendation of mercy is a matter of discretion with the court.

It is tacitly understood that the remaining cases to a large extent rise or fall on the result of the first trial.

The chief aim of the prosecution is to reach the real offenders responsible for cheating by election boards, usually the ward and district leaders. Joseph H. Klein, judge of election, who was not on trial and turned state's evidence, declared that District Chairman Harry Pattison, and Edward Alston, a county employe, husband of Mrs. Alston, one of the defendants, took charge of the polls when closed and that Alston dictated the total returns, the tally sheets being made to conform to the totals.

Klein also testified that he accompanied Pattison, Gus Shindle, a county employe, and George Diehm, to Shindle's home at 1306 Franklin street and that numerous ballots were altered by erasures and additions, all being occupied until 6 o'clock the next morning.

ANOTHER TRIAL BEGUN

The election board of the Twentieth district of the Fifth ward, was placed on trial, following immediately upon the conviction of the board of the Fourteenth district of the Twenty-first ward.

It was the fourth election case of the week and the second trial in the wholesale prosecutions. The defendants are: Myer Angel, judge of election; John Miller, Negro, and Melvin Keist, inspectors, and John Jacobs and J. W. Jeffries, Negro, clerks. The trial was started and a jury chosen yesterday afternoon.

Election records were found missing when the ballot box was opened and 88 ballots, affecting judicial candidates, were found to be altered, Clunk told the jury of eight women and four men in opening the case. The board had control of the records and box, he declared, in asking for a verdict of guilty.

Clunk rested the state's case after Judge Ambrose B. Reid, who directed the return board's activities at the September primaries, had identified the packet containing the 88 ballots, and Arthur B. Holstein, a member of the return board, had testified to erasures.

Wives Sail to Join Flier Husbands

BREMEN, April 19.—(AP.)—Mrs. Hermann Koehl, wife of Capt. Koehl, sailed for New York today aboard the steamer Dresden to join her flier husband.

7 FIREMEN BURNED IN AUTO BLAST

Seven firemen were burned, including Chief Fred S. Beckett and Capt. George H. Muse, of Engine Company No. 8, in the explosion of a gasoline tank on an auto in the rear of 5734 Alder street this afternoon.

Others burned were George Sellers, James Blanchard and Nicholas Balina, of Engine Company No. 28, and Michael Cuhane and Charles Bollinger, of Engine Company No. 8. All were treated at Homeopathic Hospital.

Fire broke out in an automobile in the rear of the residence of Frank Beitler, 5734 Alder street. The canvas garage was burned and the porch of the Beitler home was damaged slightly.

PINEVILLE JUDGE SEEKS GUBERNATORIAL OFFICE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 18.—(AP.)—Judge R. D. Bailey of Pineville filed notice of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as governor, with the Secretary of State here yesterday. Another formal announcement of candidacy for office was filed by W. Sarce Ball of Morgantown who seeks the Republican nomination as state auditor.

Cafe Property Names to Be Kept Mum

The names of the 468 property owners whose holdings are occupied by saloons will not be made public unless those owners refuse to abate the "nuisances," Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington's office announced today. If refusal is made, injunction proceedings will be instituted, it was said. Pennington's decision to go after the property owners was revealed yesterday in a letter to the East End Ministerial Association.

ON TRIAL AGAIN, ABSENT

LILLIAN GISH

Lillian Gish, film actress, has gone on trial in Los Angeles Superior Court for breach of contract. The plaintiff is Charles H. Duell, her former business manager, who asks $5,000,000. Miss Gish maintains that all questions in the trial were adjudicated at Duell's unsuccessful suit on the same charges in New York—so she isn't bothering to appear.

southward bee-line course to Mitchel Field.

TO EXAMINE PARTS

"I am going to Murray Bay today to examine the replacement parts for the Bremen brought there by the Junkers people," Fitzmaurice said.

"Just as soon as propeller arrives from New York and benzol is brought up from Montreal, I will leave for Greenley island in a Trans-continental Airways plane.

"They tell me that both the benzol and propellers will get to Murray Bay sometime today or tomorrow at the latest."

Lake St. Agnes is the base of the Canadian Transcontinental Airways Company. It is about 10 miles from Murray Bay. Maj. Fitzmaurice spent the night there at the company's quarters.

"Please tell everyone for me," the Irish flier said, "that I have absolutely no intention of flying to New York or anywhere else without Capt. Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeld. They were in complete accord with my plan to fly here in "Duke" Schiller's plane to get repair parts and we never, at any time, had any disagreements.

"I expect to get back to Greenley Island Friday. The repairs on the Bremen should not take more than two days. We will probably leave the island Monday.

"We will fly down the Straits of Belle Isle to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Then we will follow the St. Lawrence River to Quebec. We will not stop at Quebec unless forced to do so. At the city we will turn straight south for Mitchel Field.

"After being received in the United States we expect to return to Ottawa and Quebec and thus show our gratification to the Canadian government for the wonderful assistance it has given us."

The distance from Lake St. Agnes to Greenley Island is about 500 miles. Whether or not Fitzmaurice will make the trip in one hop will depend upon weather conditions.

PROPELLER ARRIVES

MONTREAL, Quebec, April 19.—J. Adolph Scherer, engineer of the Junkers Company, arrived here this morning with a new propeller for the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen. He left immediately afterward for Murray Bay. If weather conditions permit, he may hop off for Greenley Island this afternoon.

RAILING MISSING

Twisted and with many sections missing, probably in the river, the steel railing separating vehicular and street car traffic on Smithfield Street Bridge is to be replaced if City Council appropriates the money. What is left of the railing shown above will be replaced with a wooden barrier.

DEBRIS STREWN

Empty steel drums, pieces of pipe and debris are strewn along the east side of the span from approach to approach. Here is one of the containers ready to topple over, possibly in the thoroughfare. City bridge engineers have asked Council for $59,500 to repair the span.

NEEDS REPAIRS

Another view of the dilapidated railing. Although the request for money has been discussed by the "city fathers," no appropriation has been forthcoming. Other extensive repairs to the bridge may also be made this summer. Engineers say the span is in dire need of immediate repairs.

BIRGER HANGED; DIES WAVING TO MOB

BENTON, Ill., April 19.—Charlie Birger, "scourge of Egypt," went to his death on the gallows here at 9:51 a. m. today for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, Ill.

Birger was led from his cell at 9:45. He walked the short distance to the gallows unassisted and once upon the wooden structure waved his hands to the vast throng that had gathered to see the "Scourge" in his last minutes on earth.

State's Attorney Roy Martin and Sheriff James Pritchard approached him and said a few words. Birger assumed an air of gaiety which the strain in his face belied.

Not once during the long night had Birger closed his eyes.

When dawn came he was asked if he wished anything to eat.

"Yeah," drawled the gangster general. "Yeah, gimme a couple ounces of carbolic acid."

When it came time to lead him to the gallows Birger, as if with a great effort, drew himself into a semblance of composure. He waived assistance in walking up the scaffold steps.

The noose was adjusted about his neck and the execution robe was fastened about his small, lean body.

The trap was sprung at 9:51 and he was pronounced dead at 9:58.

"I'VE BEEN A FOOL"

In his cell this morning Birger talked to newspaper reporters and other visitors.

"I've been a fool," Birger said. "I've been no good. I've played the game and lost, but I'll lose like a man.

"I've liked to live and spend money; maybe I made it in ways folks call crooked — gambling and bootlegging and that kind of business.

"I know now that I've done a lot of things that I shouldn't. I'm convicted of a crime I didn't commit, but I've committed a lot of crimes. So I guess things are even.

"We got too strong against the law and the law broke it all up"

Mrs. E. Aarons, first wife of Birger, was one of the last to visit him last night. She came from Portland, Ore., with her husband several days ago.

Nearly 500 spectators were crowded into the stockade when Birger died.

the proprietors of the Paese restaurant where considerable wine beer, gin, whisky and ale were reported to have been found.

At the Millvale roadhouse evidence of a hasty flight was found, according to the raiders. There was no liquor found and no arrests made. The federal agents, however, hold a warrant for Lacock, charging him with being the proprietor.

William Glassburner, a bartender, was said to have been found in charge of the Gordon place, which was visited only three weeks ago by prohibition enforcement agents. A bond of $1,000 was placed for Glassburner by Nettie Gordon.

Evidence was found in every place except the Oakleaf Gardens, the agents say. The prisoners will be arraigned before the United States Commissioner on Tuesday, May 1. T? tour patrons are charged with possession of liquor and the proprietors and waiters are charged with sale and possession. Bond was set at $1,000 each regardless of the single or double charge.

HURT AS DRIVER PASSES SIGNAL; ASKS $15,000

Failure of an automobile driver to observe a stop signal at Penn avenue and Seventh street was made the basis of a suit in Common Pleas Court when Charles A. Titterington sued Dwight B. FIRE LAID TO STILL RUINS HOMES

Damage estimated at $35,000 was caused by fire which destroyed one home and spread to two others in West View today.

West View Fire Chief P. J. Smith said he believed the flames started in the explosion of a still in the home of Andy Mikelones, 322 Carlisle street, which was destroyed.

The houses were occupied by three sisters, their mother and families. Mrs. Celia Mikelones, with her 4-year-old child in her arms, rushed from the house when she heard the blast.

A high wind carried sparks to the adjoining home of Robert Burke and across the street to the home of Mrs. Margaret Joseph and Mrs. Anna Wright, mother of the three other women.

Chief Smith, who said he had found coils and wires in the Mikelones home, promised an investigation.

COURT SNAPS PADLOCK ON MOERLEIN CAFE

The baseball season opens here today, but it doesn't mean anything to the Moerlein cafe, 3810 Fifth avenue.

Matt Trabert—Max in the official documents in Federal Building—genial host to the boys who stop in the Moerlein en route to and from the game, heard Judge R. M. Gibson order his first and second floors padlocked for one year.

Extensive changes have been made in the place and a plea for leniency brought forth a rebuke from Judge Gibson. "You had your chance and disobeyed the law." It was explained that there were living quarters on the second floor, but the judge said it, too, should be padlocked.

On four days last August prohibition agents purchased beer of greater alcoholic content than allowed. Then they raided the place and found beer, wine and whisky.

The place was padlocked January 23, 1926, for six months and modified later.

The first padlock injunction issued against a drug concern in this district was handed down today by Judge Gibson. The Young Drug Company, Ben L. Moses, proprietor, was enjoined from selling liquor until a final hearing June 18. The store is at Craig street and Center avenue in a building owned by Charles L. Young.

Federal agents testified they had made purchases on five occasions in March and raided it on April 7. Moses had no permit to sell liquor.

Jelly Can't Hide Bread, Butter, Magee Says

The attitude of the Mayor in this campaign was defined as one of "sugar coated insincerity," by James M. Magee, candidate for Congress in the Thirty-fifth district, speaking last night at a meeting in his headquarters, Plaza Building. Civil service, he said, should protect city employes from coercion, adding: "They are not employed by the Mayor but by the people." Discussing the Duquesne Garden meeting Tuesday, he said, "No matter how much jelly was served with it, anyone could taste the bread and butter."

AUTOS DAMAGED IN WHARF FIRE

Downtown firemen fought a spectacular blaze in the heart of the Monongahela wharf parking station this morning. A pile of old lumber and an abandoned frame pumping station owned by the Marine Manufacturing Company, 35 water street, became ignited from a bonfire and the flames reached several automobile before being subdued.

The top of a car owned by Leo Sernaki, 1918 Stafford avenue, was burned off. Windows in several cars were shattered in being moved out of reach of the blaze by employes of the Duquesne Light Company, working on poles along Water street. District Fire Chief Fred Beckett placed the loss at $200.

KOEHL "SCIENTIFIC" HERO

FLIER DARING, ESCAPED WAR PRISON

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Capt. Hermann Koehl, of the monoplane Bremen, was pictured today by a former fellow war aviator as a modest, retiring man with a cold, calculating, scientific mind that never permits him knowingly to take a chance.

Baron Michael von Korff, now an artist in New York, was a prisoner with Koehl in the French prison camp at Dunkerque for four months until Koehl made his escape.

The manner in which the Bremen's pilot effected his freedom bears out the baron's analysis of the aviator's character.

Koehl's escape from the prison camp followed months of planning during which he prepared maps and studied French. His escape was discovered shortly after his departure and, hiding in a woods, he watched the searching party. When the posse reached the spot where he had left the road, they abandoned their car and started a search of the woods. Koehl, watching his opportunity, ran to the car, leaped in and started for Paris.

On the way he changed his clothing for a suit he had made of pieces of cloth found about the prison camp. In this disguise he made his way to Paris, walking after his machine ran out of gas, and there purchased a ticket for Switzerland, where he won his liberty.

Koehl originally became a prisoner in March, 1918, when he and three companions were forced down behind the French lines when their plane developed engine trouble. Baron von Korff had been forced down behind the Belgian lines two weeks earlier.

POLICE PROBING MAN'S DEATH

Police today started an investigation to determine if David Gauss, 60, of 2526 Berthoud st., who died last night in West Penn Hospital, was a foul play victim.

Gauss, according to hospital attaches, was brought to the institution April 4, suffering a fractured skull.

The man who brought him to the hospital, authorities say, claimed he picked Gauss up in Bigelow boulevard, where he said he had apparently been struck by an auto.

Unable to speak coherently after the accident, Gauss could not clear up mystery surrounding his injuries.

Police believe he might have been victim of bandits.

Y. W. C. A. CAFES ESCAPE TAX

The Pittsburgh Y. W. C. A. cafeteria will pay no mercantile tax.

This was settled in an opinion handed down in Common Pleas Court yesterday by Judges James R. Macfarlane, Thomas J. Ford and Thomas D. Carnahan. Suit had been entered by the state and appealed by the Young Women's Christian Association.

The judges state that none of the acts of the Legislature exempt religious or charitable organizations, but say that nevertheless this is the first assessment made by the Board of Mercantile Appraisers and the first attempt of the board to impose a tax on a dining room run by a purely charitable institution.

"We are of the opinion," said the judges, "that the act does not impose a tax upon the defendant as to the revenue derived from its cafeteria."

BARON'S OWN FLIGHT STORY

SHEEP FIRST PERIL PASSED

By BARON GUNTHER VON HUENEFELD,

Commander-in-Chief of the German Junkers airplane Bremen on her Transatlantic flight.

(Copyright, 1928, in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, South America and Cuba, by the Sun-Telegraph and the New York American. Reproduction in whole or in part absolutely prohibited. Violation of copyright will be vigorously prosecuted.)

(By Airplane to Seven Islands, Quebec, and by Wireless and Land Wire to New York.)

GREENLEY ISLAND, Que., April 19.

THE story of our flight across the Atlantic from East to West and of our forced landing at Greenley Island near Labrador is a great combination of serious work and serious jest.

We believed we would get across.

But first let me speak of my comrades, Col. James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl. They are marvelous fellows. Never have I seen such men.

Koehl and I decided we would fly to America or heaven together and at Baldonnel in the Irish Free State we were joined by our comrade, Col. James Fitzmaurice. We tried and won the battle. Storm, fog and snow beset our course, but somehow we won through.

It was difficult, but thanks to Fitzmaurice and Koehl we were able to reach civilization again, if not as yet our objective.

The flight was somewhat perilous from the start. We were fortunate to get off from the Baldonnel airdrome in Ireland at 5:38 Thursday morning, April 12, as well as we did. Starting down the runway, we attained good speed, but before we could take off an obstruction was seen in our path.

Koehl and Fitzmaurice looked. The obstruction seemed to be a sheep that had wandered from its grazing field onto the runway. Somehow we managed to lift the Bremen off the ground far enough to escape that sheep and continue on our way.

A tree loomed straight ahead. Narrowly we averted the tree and zooming high in the air we were free of all obstructions. So we came to the Irish coast at Slyne Head and sped out over the broad Atlantic.

So far we had been fortunate. In the early part of the journey we encountered all sorts of weather. There were snow and rain and fog, but these were incidental. We came through them successfully.

Fitzmaurice and Koehl alternated at the controls, three hours on and three hours off.

I sat in the back of the plane sleeping when I could, sometimes writing poetry and sometimes wondering what would ultimately happen to us.

After a long time of this we came to the Grand Banks and to Newfoundland. So far the flight had been without incident other than those related above, except that sometimes we had such troubles as beset any plane in flight.

We arrived off Newfoundland about five o'clock (whether a. m. or p. m. not stated in the Baron's narrative) American time on Friday.

Lost in Fog

There was fog everywhere on the dreaded Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Added to the misery of the fog which blanketed everything, everywhere was the strong southeasterly gale. And the sun was going down, after guiding us well all day. Add to this and the darkness and the fact that the compass was almost discarded by virtue of its terrific variation and you can imagine our plight.

Koehl and Fitzmaurice kept going. They tried to climb above the fog, but were forced to come down and fly about 5 feet above the water.

But we could not fly there at night, and there was impenetrable fog above us. What could we do?

My comrades decided to go higher and sent the Bremen upwards until we were cruising along at the 6,000-feet level. There we drove through the night.

It was not a nice flight at all. I sat in the rear of the cockpit with my thoughts while Fitzmaurice and Koehl fored ahead in front, taking their turns at the controls. Marvelous fellows. How they did it, I do not know.

One has much opportunity for thought when one is riding alone in the rear cockpit of a trans-oceanic airplane at night, and I have my thoughts about these two.

Discover Land

It was Fitzmaurice who discovered land. He told Koehl, and flares were produced and sent off. Below we could see what appeared to be a wilderness, clothed in forest.

After a long time of this, we came to the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. That was where we were about 5 o'clock, American time, on Thursday.

It was still dark, but the flares told us what we wanted to know. There was land beneath us. We had been flying as best we could, but it was difficult because there is such a wide variation of the compass in the neighborhood of Newfoundland.

Fitzmaurice and Koehl, however, believed that this land must be the interior of Labrador and we cruised for several hours about the land where Nungesser and Coli are believed to have been lost.

We followed the course of an ice-covered river for a long time. We saw big lakes and huge mountain ranges, but not a sign of human habitation.

Believed End Near

Nothing was said, but the barometer of our spirits was falling again as each felt that the best hope for life, with our supply of benzol getting lower and lower, was none too good. We were coming nearer and nearer to the end of our rope.

Then we made for the coast again, but we did not see a single sign of human habitation or life until after 5 o'clock, Greenwich time, which is about 1 o'clock where we were, we saw what Koehl and Fitzmaurice believed to be a ship frozen into the ice off the coast.

We decided to come down and inspect it. Before this, all of us had been seeing many things that were not there. Plainly we could see villages on the coast, and all sorts of things, but these had all proved to be figments of our weary eyes and brains. Again we descended to investigate this new mirage.

Land on Lake

Four times we circled over what proved to be our landing ground, hard by the white lighthouse, then sent out a flare to determine the direction of the wind.

Once more we circled, this time into the correct landing position of our island haven.

A perfect landing was accomplished, but our wheels, crunching into the soft icy surface, bit in and we turned on our nose. Our propeller was damaged, and, as proven later, the under-carriage as well.

But no one was hurt and soon we were crawling out of our good ship and stepping on firm ground again. We were greeted by lighthouse keeper Letemplier and his family.

The husky dogs, which are the only means of transport in this lonely land were yelping in mad chorus, and, from the mainland, we could see people approaching, waving to us as they came across the ice.

Soon we were shaking hands with these new found friends who have proved so wonderfully hospitable to us and were on our way to the lighthouse which has been our home ever since.

Then food and sleep, the sleep of mentally and physically fatigued men.

Fitzmaurice and Koehl, strained to the limit of the endurance of their eyes by the horrors of that awful night in the fog, could scarcely see. But warm, soothing boric acid was soon prepared and eyes were bathed. Thence to bed.

Recover After Rest

The next day was a day of rest. We sent messages to friends, then

Why suffer with Rheumatism?

ARE you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

—purely vegetable

You know rheumatism can not be "rubbed" away

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

Child-birth

No longer dreaded by thousands of women

Doctor's Discovery Successful

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from much suffering during expectancy and at childbirth.

Dr. Holmes' discovery, "Mother's Friend," relieves the tension on muscles and tissues as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy!

Three generations of mothers have praised Mother's Friend. Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight—the sooner the better, and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores. Bradfield Regulator Co., Desk 22, Atlanta, Ga.

GOLDIE PANTELLA

When Mrs. Goldie Pantella, 20, 144 Lloyd street, Edgewood, decided to leave her groom, she didn't forget to prepare a meal for him, which she placed in a refrigerator, Missing Persons Bureau was informed when asked to search for her. She married Michael Pantella in Wellsburg, W. Va., seven months ago. Pantella said his wife appeared dejected when he refused to take her to a dance.

AMNESIA VICTIM IDENTIFIED

Clad only in his underwear, Samuel Houston, 80, of 112 North Diamond street, east, was found wandering in East Diamond street early this morning. Taken to Allegheny General Hospital by police, the man was unable to give his name. At daylight his daughter, Mrs. Mary McKelvey, discovered the absence of her father and, after locating him, took him home.

BARON'S OWN STORY

we inspected the wonderful ship which carried us so well and so far.

Another good rest Saturday night and we were all three well men, alert and given to the consideration of plans for removing ourselves to civilization the best way we could.

But the way in which that help came to us was unexpected.

Late on Sunday we thought we heard a plane whirring overhead. But we scarcely believed our eyes when we saw one come down and land gracefully across the ice at Long Point de Blanc Sablon, on the mainland.

A moment's halt, then the machine rose again, directed by the people of Blanc Sablon to us on the island.

Within five minutes we were shaking hands with Pilot Duke Schiller, Doctor Cuisinier and Engineer Thibault, those good friends who flew so far down the rocky coasts to reach us as soon as they heard of our plight. That was sunday evening.

Plans were talked over, and it was decided that we must make every effort to reach our destination with the Bremen if it were humanly possible to do so.

Arrange for Repairs

So, on Monday, Commandant Fitzmaurice left with Pilot Schiller to fly again up the length of the treacherous coast with its ice, snow and fog banks to reach Murray Bay, Schiller's home port, where arrangements will be made to fly our needs down to us.

Our under-carriage will be repaired and a new propeller installed and the necessary amount of benzol will be brought to us to enable us to reach New York.

Koehl and I remained here on our little Greenley Island with Dr. Cuisinnier and Thibault.

Everything is being made ready for the return of Fitzmaurice from Murray Bay and the arrival of our parts. Then we shall be off again this time to New York.

(Baron Von Huenefeld's vivid story of the epochal westbound trans-Atlantic flight will be continued tomorrow.)

Make It Yourself!

More and more women are discovering the pleasures and economies of home sewing in this age of simple styles, perfected patterns and electric machines. Here is an exceptionally smart street and afternoon ensemble which might readily be copied at home.

The Coat might be made of black kasha, at $5.00 a yard, and lined with a black-ground print, at $3.95. That would make the materials for a size 36 come to about $23.00 . . . . an exceptionally attractive price for so smart a coat. Unlined, it would be just about $12.00. Pictorial Review pattern, 4227.

The Dress: Vogue patterns, 9282 and 9283, which may be made in the print like the coat lining, or in plain black. Then the costume may be varied occasionally by wearing different blouses and skirts together. Vogue suggests the use of figured skirt and plain blouse as the newest combination. This frock may be duplicated for less than $15.00 in size 36.

RAILROADS GET READY FOR FAST TIME

New railroad schedules will go into effect on all roads entering Pittsburgh a week from Sunday, simultaneous with the change from Eastern standard to daylight saving time.

Schedules affecting more than 400 trains will be changed by the Pennsylvania Railroad alone. The Baltimore and Ohio likewise will change the time in most of its commuter trains. The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie has completed its new schedules.

The Pennsylvania, which Monday discontinued its New Castle-Ashtabula local, has applied for discontinuance of the Yukon, Hempfield and Youghiogheny branch. In every case of discontinuance lack of patronage due to parallel bus and street car lines was responsible.

On the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie between Pittsburgh and College Hill all schedules will be changed to approximately one hour earlier. The same is true between Pittsburgh and New Castle with the exception of trains No. 48 and No. 29, which will remain as at present. Pittsburgh-Youngstown and Pittsburgh-Connellsville trains will be scheduled an hour earlier. Three changes will be made in the schedule of through trains, two of them to leave earlier.

BENEFIT DANCE TO BE HELD FOR MINE RELIEF

A benefit dance for families of striking miners of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio will be held at Moose Temple, 628 Penn avenue, Saturday night, under auspices of the women's relief committee. Representatives of miners' organizations, urging patronage, point out there are 120,000 miners on strike, their children are poorly clad and in need of food. All proceeds of the dance will be turned over immediately to the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners' Relief Committee for distribution where most needed.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation, which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their oliver color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. Aching, Swollen Feet

Moone's Emerald Oil Must Do Away With All Soreness, Swelling and Distress Or Your Money Back.

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And best of all any offensive odor is gone for good—it's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

McCulloch's 10 Convenient Drug Stores and every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

Fit As A Fiddle At 70

It's The Little Daily Dose That Does It

It isn't so much the passing years that rob you of youth and vigor as it is the impurities that get into the blood from irregular, clogged up eliminating organs.

The poisons make the blood sluggish and your whole system becomes weak, rundown and old in turns.

There's only one way to get rid of these germs of decay and that's by keeping the kidneys, liver and bowels working smoothly, thoroughly and regularly.

And the way to do that is the simple way of dropping two tablets of Kruschen Salts every morning into your breakfast cup of coffee—you can't taste it.

Not only does it cleanse the body of waste matter; not only does it reduce acidity and purify and refresh the blood but it also has a remarkable tonic influence filling you with that "fit as a fiddle" feeling of energy and cheerfulness known all over the world as "that Kruschen Feeling."

Get Kruschen Salts at McCulloch Drug Stores or any good druggist's—only 60c for 60 tablets (30 days treatment). Don't miss Kruschen one morning—its regular use puts into your system the six vital salts so necessary to perfect health. It's great for old people.

HISPANO-SUIZA WINS $25,000 RACE FROM STUTZ

AMERICAN CAR 600 MILES IN REAR

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 19.—(AP.)—The race between a privately owned Hispano-Suiza and a Stutz Blackhawk was called off at 8:21 a. m., today, after 17 hours and 21 minutes of the proposed 24-hour grind had elapsed. A broken connecting rod caused withdrawal of the Stutz entry. When the Stutz withdrew the Hispano-Suiza had traveled 1,357½ miles and had maintained an average speed of 78.11 miles an hour. The Stutz was more than 600 miles in the rear, having been forced to spend much time in the pits because of mechanical trouble.

The race was called off by Eddie Edenburn, official of the American Automobile Association, after he had ascertained that the owner of the French car did not care to continue racing alone merely for the purpose of possibly establishing a track record.

Charles Weymann, owner of the Hispano-Suiza, said his only interest was to win the $25,000 wager which he had with F. E. Moskovics, owner of the Blackhawk.

WILL EXCLUDES SON-IN-LAW

Mrs. Mary Markman, of Wilkinsburg, in her will filed today, was very specific that her son-in-law, J. Edward Myers, should derive no benefit from her estate, consisting principally of a $9,000 residence. She created a trust, stipulating that the property be sold and the interest paid to her daughter, Mrs. Antonette Myers, for her sole personal use.

John Seiferth, Carrick, leaves his $20,000 brick residence to his daughter, Mrs. Josephine Schmidt, and $2,000 personal estate to be divided equally between his sons, Herbert J. and Leonard J., and his daughter, Mrs. Emma Leske.

WIFE BROKE HIS TEETH, BEAVER MAN TESTIFIES

BEAVER, Pa., April 19.—His wife broke his teeth with a brick, served him spoiled food and spent household money for her own use, Louis Pychleiter, White township farmer, charges in a divorce suit against Julia Pychleiter. They reside in the same house now, but he cooks his own meals.

German Fairest

HELLA HOFFMAN

Hella Hoffmann, blonde, is Germany's fairest. If she isn't, then it isn't right that she should be selected to represent her nation at the international beauty contest in May at Galveston, Tex. She's five feet nine; 25 inches around the bust, 22½ at the waist, and 37 around the hips.

SCOUT EXPO EXPLAINED

Explaining the Boy Scout merit badge exposition to be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Duquesne Garden, speakers appeared at a number of service clubs at noon today. Frank F. Schauer, scout commissioner for Allegheny county, spoke before the Co-operative Club in the Fort Pitt Hotel and will speak Monday to the Electric League of Pittsburgh.

Renwick McWilliams, scoutmaster of the troop in charge of the aviation booth, spoke to the Aero Club, and William C. Ziegler, president of the Kiwanis Club, spoke at a meeting of his organization in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Frank A. Willison addressed members of the Lions' Club and John K. Taylor spoke to the Optimists' Club.

Predicts Planes By Million in 10 Years

DETROIT, April 19.—(AP.)—A prediction that commercial aircraft production in the United States 10 years hence would total more than 3,500,000 units annually, or on a scale comparable with the motor car industry, was made yesterday by Grover Loening of New York, noted aeronautical engineer and airplane builder who is here for the All-American aircraft show.

KIWANIANS WILL MEET WITH FARMERS

The Pennsylvania State Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. C. G. Jordan, on Monday evening speaks at a joint meeting of farmers and Kiwanis Club members in the high school building, Sewickley.

BOY, 6, KILLED MYSTERIOUSLY

ALLIANCE, O., April 19.—Jack Bennington, 6, was shot through the heart and almost instantly killed in his home at Sebring last midnight. With his brother, Gordon, 9, he had been put to bed by his parents. A few minutes later a shot was heard. A rifle was found on the floor beside the bed. The parents did not know that there was a rifle in the house.

AWAKES, FINDS CLOTHES FLAMING; MAY NOT LIVE

Sleeping in front of a fire he had started in an unoccupied house on the South Side, late last night, George Hawley, 45, a homeless Negro, was burned seriously. His clothes igniting, Hawley beat out the flames and made his way to the Allegheny General Hospital. He was reported in a critical condition. South Side police have placed a suspicious person charge against the man while they investigate his story.

MRS. PINCHOT IGNORES LIQUOR CHARGE REVIVAL

FOUND AT WRECK, DENIES DRIVING

Arrested on a reckless driving charge when found near his wrecked automobile in the Becks Run road last night, L. S. Kopydlowski, an undertaker of 174 South Seventeenth street, denied he had been driving the machine and said that it had been stolen. He also said he knew nothing about two injured women, who, witnesses told police, had been taken from the machine and driven away in another car. When found by police, Kopydlowski had a deep laceration on the head. He was treated at South Side Hospital.

'RANGE OF VISION' RULE URGED ON MOTORISTS

Marcus A. Dow, past president of the National Safety Council and former manager of the New York city bureau of safety, was the speaker last night at the final meeting of the Safe Drivers Club in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. His topic was "The Human Element in Safe Driving".

The speaker called upon those present to observe the same rule as railroad engineers, the "range of vision" rule.

Capt. W. C. Price of the state highway patrol warned drivers to keep their machines in good mechanical condition.

"JUSTICE" FLITS FROM BEAVER COURTHOUSE

BEAVER, Pa., April 19.—Justice has been removed from the Beaver county courthouse. Two goddesses, slightly out of style and damaged, have been taken down. "The dove of peace" was shattered in a storm in 1924. One of the goddesses lost a wing in the storm. They swayed in the wind and the commissioners feared they would tumble from their lofty perches.

WILKINSBURGER HELD IN N. CASTLE IN FRAUD

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 19.—Frank Amari, of Wilkinsburg, attempted to open an account at a local bank by depositing a bogus check, it is alleged in an information charging forgery and false pretense. Alderman O. H. P. Greene committed him to jail for a hearing.

FAILS TO HEED RUM HAULING ACCUSATION

MONTROSE, Pa., April 19.—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former Governor of Pennsylvania, today ignored a revival of charges made by her political opponents concerning her alleged use of liquor.

Arriving here for a meeting in the interests of her candidacy for the Republican nomination as Representative in Congress from the Fifteenth District, Mrs. Pinchot found circulars containing copies of a speech by Senator Horace Schantz, of Allentown, had been sent to dry leaders here.

The Schantz speech, which was delivered on February 8, 1926, charged that the private secretary of the then Gov. Pinchot had "hauled around in Philadelphia taxicabs 12 cases of liquor at the request of the First Lady of the Commonwealth (Mrs. Pinchot)."

Mrs. Pinchot is being opposed by Louis McFadden, incumbent and one of the veterans of the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress.

At a recent meeting in Canton, Pa., McFadden in the course of heckling Mrs. Pinchot during her address asked her if it was not true that she smoked and used liquor. The former Governor's wife denied the charge.

CHARGES COERCION

TOWANDA, Pa., April 19.—(AP.)—Charges that state employes were being "coerced to vote for" her opponent in the congressional contest in the Fifteenth District, Louis T. McFadden, are contained in a telegram sent by Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of former Gov. Pinchot, to Gov. Fisher today.

The message says A. Nevin Detrich, state personnel director, and an official of the Fish Commission are campaigning for McFadden "on state time," and asks the Governor to stop further action along this line.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE REPORTS ON WORK

More than 1,000 cases involving upwards of 2,500 children are in the process of investigation, diagnosis and treatment, David J. Terry, of the Children's Service Bureau, reported to the board of trustees today. During March 100 children were placed in 73 homes. The juvenile protective department had 59 prosecutions and convictions for offenses against children.

Wanted—By Police

OFF TO EUROPE!

Douglass Fairbanks is wanted by Los Angeles police and he has just started across the continent to New York to embark with Mary Pickford, his wife, on a tour of Europe. A warrant has been issued for his arrest on charges of speeding in a restricted zone, but, police say, he can't be extradited on the charge and it will wait until he returns.

DESERTION, CRUELTY CHARGED IN LIBELS

Jack Eckert, of 512 Margaretta street, Braddock, charged desertion in the divorce action he filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday against Grace Eckert. Clara Ann Lorey, 2349 Sidney street, sued George Dewey Lorey, of Becks Run road, on the grounds of cruelty.

She made me FEEL Old.

Joking and laughing with my husband. I hadn't been able to make Dan laugh that way for years.

Then, what do you think I learned? She was my age! Imagine it. Yet she seemed so young . . .

Every woman knows how her physical condition makes her draggy and dull. Yet so often she hesitates about using ordinary laxatives . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

It is just like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it—you chew it!

Its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It actually becomes part of the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. It works with the body—not against it!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Begin today to correct constipation this modern scientific way.

RUBBER APRON SAVES WOMAN IN EXPLOSION

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 19.—Mrs. Bowman Roth, 35, was burned seriously at her home here yesterday when a can of gasoline exploded, spraying her clothing with blazing liquid. Physicians said the woman would have been burned to death had it not been for a rubber apron worn by Mrs. Roth.

CONNELLSVILLE TO JAIL YOUTHS WITHOUT FARES

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 19.—Scottdale youths who come here without the price of car fare back home will be incarcerated in the "jug," according to an edict by Chief of Police George L. Grubb. When autoists refuse to give a lift to the youths begging rides they hurl epithets, to the annoyance of motorists, the chief says.

Get Flesh On Your 'Skinny' Body

New, Tasteless Yeast and Iron Builds Up Weight in 3 Weeks—or Pay Nothing

"Skin as Smooth as Satin"

"I have always been troubled with pimples and blemishes on my back and shoulders which were noticeable in the spotlight. After taking only two treatments of IRONIZED YEAST, my skin is smooth as satin and I haven't a pimple or blemish of any kind. I am overjoyed."—Miss T. B., Fort Worth, Tex.

Don't Envy the Graceul, Well-Rounded Form
Learn How to Have One

Women and men are amazed at the magic benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Thin, weak bodies are brought up in weight and strength. Flesh is made round and firm. Hollows filled out. Skin made satiny smooth with the glow of girlhood. How is this done?

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. So it is natural that after taking IRONIZED YEAST in a single course treatment you will notice an amazing improvement in your health, appearance and spirits. The skin loses its sallow, pimply, blotchy look, pounds of good flesh are taken on.

So don't have a skinny, weak body that looks as though it had never been fed enough. Don't go around with an ugly skin. Go to your druggist today, and get a generous test treatment of IRONIZED YEAST—pleasant, tasty tablets in a handy bottle. They do not cause gas or bloating and are safe for everybody—contain no harmful drugs.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If, after this generous trial, you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 direct to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 319-C.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—I. THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Winners Known Tonight in Amateur Players' Contest For Drama League Trophy

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

THERE'S a contest going on in the auditorium of the East Liberty Carnegie Library which isn't stirring up as much excitement as a world series, nor making as much noise, but is just as interesting to the contestants and to a large circle of people who are lovers of drama. The amateur actors of this section, some coming all the way from Morgantown and Reading, are contesting for the trophy offered by the Drama League and five prizes of which the first is $100. The contest closes tonight, and the six judges will have to decide which of the 11 competing dramatic organizations has done the best work in staging their playlet and acting their parts.

GEORGE SEIBEL

The young people take this very seriously—and there is no reason why they should not. The play instinct is implanted in every human being, and is the source of all the beauty in the world. In its highest manifestation it has given us the drama, the noblest form of literature, being the epic in action—and its educational value cannot be measured in words. The Drama League, with Elmer Kenyon to guide its activities here, is doing a splendid work by fostering the study of dramatic art and encouraging attendance at the best plays.

But the average theatergoer would be surprised at the hard work these young players have put into their productions and the very considerable intelligence they show in their efforts as "actors." They take the matter so seriously that the chief fault of most of them is that they overact. That actor is the best actor who lets you forget that he is an actor, is an axiom they lose sight of in their zeal.

Tonight the contest closes with four one-act plays by four of these groups. The Reading Community Players present "In the Morgue," the Seton Players of Greensburg, "Wrong Numbers," the Hillsdale Avenue School of Dormont, "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil," the Gargoyle Club of Shady Side Academy, "Outclassed." After that the judges in solemn session will decide who was "outclassed." But even the losers will have the satisfaction of having been engaged in a worthwhile effort and doing their best in an intellectual contest.

NEWS REEL SHOWS SUFFERING IN CHINA

The almost unbelievable conditions that exist in famine-ridden China at the present time are pictured exclusively in the current issue of M-G-M News, now being shown. Ariel L. Varges, M-G-M News cameraman in China, has just finished a trip through the Tsianfu region, the most seriously affected by the famine. Literally millions are on the verge of starvation, brought about by successive droughts, locust migration, warring armies and roving bandits.

"HAMLET" IN NEW BILLS

Walter Hampden comes to the Alvin for the week beginning next Monday evening in three of his greatest characterizations. Opening with "Hamlet," he also will be seen in "Caponsacchi," based on a poem by Robert Browning, and "An Enemy of the People," by Ibsen.

"Young Blood" is announced for presentation by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week. Ralph Morgan, Gus Forbes and Anne Forrest will be seen in the roles originated by Eric Dresser, Norman Trevor and Helen Hayes.

Seats are on sale for the third week of the film spectacle of wartime aviation, "Wings," now playing in the Nixon. Charles Rogers, Richard Arlen and Clara Bow are featured.

Lenore Ulric comes to the Davis next week as headline act in the Keith-Albee vaudeville bill. She will offer a playlet, "A Legend of London." On the screen will be "On to Reno."

"Chicago," a De Mille screen version of Maurine Watkins' successful stage play, will be shown in the Penn next week. Phyllis Haver and Victor Varconi are featured in the principal roles. "Rio Romance" will be the stage feature.

The photplay feature in the Stanley next week will be headed by Richard Dix in his latest picture, "Sporting Goods." The stage program will offer "Around the Clock."

"The Sporting Age," starring Belle Bennett, is next week's feature picture in Loew's Aldine. On the stage will be "A Night at Coney Island."

Rose's 25 Royal Midgets are coming to the Harris next week in what is said to be the highest priced act ever booked for the Diamond street house. The 12 scenes require three carloads of scenery. The screen feature is to be "Beyond London's Lights."

Anna Propp, one of the smallest soubrets, comes to the Academy next week in "Band Box Revue." Her dancing specialties are one of the features of the show.

"Old Ironsides," historical photoplay, is booked for the Grand next week. This will be the first showing of the picture at popular prices.

In "The Whip Woman," which comes to the Olympic next week, Estelle Taylor plays a Hungarian peasant girl, while Antonio Moreno is a nobleman.

Vaudeville in the Sheridan Square next week will include Charles T. Aldrich in "Protian Surprises."

ASK FIRE HOUSE IN BOND ISSUE

North Side residents will voice their demands for a combination fire house and police station, to be erected in Federal street at a mass meeting tomorrow night in Carnegie Hall, Federal and Ohio streets. Representatives of civic, fraternal and military organizations will be in attendance as well as city officials who have accepted invitations extended to them by those who called the meeting.

It is the desire of the North Side citizens to have the proposed improvement paid for from the bond issue authorized in 1926. The combination station would be erected on the site of old city hall, Federal and Ohio streets.

Council President James F. Malone, and four other members of that body, have signified their intention of being present to speak for the peoples bond issue of 1928.

M'KERNON GOES TO HEARST PAPER

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Edward McKernon, superintendent of the eastern division of the Associated Press for the past seven years, has resigned from the news organization to become the publisher of the Rochester (N. Y.) Evening Journal and Post Express. He thus becomes associated with Col. Frank Knox, who recently was made general manager of the Hearst daily publications.

Mr. McKernon began his newspaper career as a reporter on the Springfield (Mass.) Union. Later, leaving editorial work temporarily with the purpose of obtaining an all-around experience, he engaged successively for brief periods in advertising writing and the placing of advertising, then becoming advertising manager and publisher. He has been with the Associated Press for 25 years, being for some time the head of the bureau in Boston. In the New York headquarters he was at different times city editor, day editor, night editor, early morning editor, domestic news editor, day foreign editor and executive assistant to former General Manager Melville E. Stone. He was made superintendent in April, 1921.

Aside from his newspaper work, Mr. McKernon has been well known as a writer and public speaker, his articles and addresses on the work of the Associated Press and journalism having been widely quoted both in the American and foreign press.

DEATH ROLL

Rev. Frederick A. Richards

The Rev. Frederick Augustus Richards, field secretary of the board of stewards, Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died last night at his home, Fifth avenue, East McKeesport. He had been ill six weeks. Mr. Richards was born in Cornwall, Eng., and came to the United States in 1893. He was ordained in 1897 and served in many local churches. In 1923, while at Charleroi, he became secretary of the board of stewards. He had lived in East McKeesport five years. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Bessie Blaney Richards; two sons, S. Goodsell Richards of Midland; and Egbert Richards at home; a daughter, Mrs. E. R. Haden of Scottdale; and a sister, Miss Laura Richards of East McKeesport.

Funeral of Mrs. R. Edwards

Funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca Saunders Edwards, 68, who died Tuesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon from her home at 35 Frazier street, McKees Rocks. Burial will take place in Mt. Calvary Cemetery. Mrs. Edwards was a life long resident of McKees Rocks and a member of the First Presbyterian Church there. She leaves five sons; five daughters; a brother and 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. Isabella Gilmore

Mrs. Isabella Logan Gilmore, 83, widow of Capt. James Gilmore, died yesterday at her home, 5621 Jackson street. Mrs. Gilmore was the oldest member of the First United Presbyterian Church, Oakland. She leaves two sons, W. J. and John Gilmore; three daughters, Anna and Stella Gilmore and Mrs. Susanna G. Campbell; a brother, Andrew Logan of Ridgway, Pa., and seven grandchildren.

John Clark.

John Clark, 80, died yesterday at his home, 824 Lilac street. Mr. Clark was born in Scotland, but lived for the past 59 years in Pittsburgh. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Annabelle Baxter, at home; two sons, David A., of Indianapolis, and John Clark, of Philadelphia; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

ALDERDICE FOR BOND ISSUE

The proposed $7,268,000 bond issue, to be voted upon Tuesday, "means that Pittsburgh is going to progress in its residential districts," said Councilman R. J. Alderdice in a statement today.

"We have our Liberty Bridge, the tunnels and many other major improvements so vital to the welfare of the city and county at large," he said. "Now we want to look after the needs of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen, to pave the mud streets in front of their homes. That is what this bond issue means."

IT HELPED HIM BACK TO HEALTH

Pittsburgh Aged Man Uses Ten Herbs With Remarkable Results.

"I am a man of 76 years, and when a medicine can benefit a man of my age like Ten Herbs did, it must have merit," was the statement of Mr. Charles Dowling, 203 Ellis St. East End, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people. "I want to tell you my experience, after taking three bottles of Ten Herbs," continued Mr. Dowling, who is employed at the Duquesne Laundry.

"For years, my stomach caused me to feel miserable. I lost my appetite, and what little I ate would cause gas, bloating and pains. These pains were continuous the last two years, and I had not known a good night's rest during that time. My bowels were so constipated that I used salts regularly. My liver was sluggish, and I would get such dizzy spells that I would have to hold to something to keep from falling. My kidneys seemed to cause the severe pains across my back, and I was compelled to arise half a dozen times during the night. I had neuritis in my hands, and my circulation was so poor that my hands and feet were always cold and numb.

"I gained relief soon after starting to use Ten Herbs, and now all my old troubles have disappeared. I sleep so soundly that it does not seem possible after all these years of suffering. The pain in my left side, from which I suffered for two long years, has entirely left me. The dizzy spells and pains across my back are gone, and most nights I do not have to arise at all. Neuritis in my hands has been relieved, and my circulation has been wonderfully improved. I have gotten the same satisfactory results that everybody who uses Ten Herbs tells about. I am in good health now and it shows in my appearance. I am glad to speak a good word for a medicine that has such splendid qualities as Ten Herbs."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

No one is safe!

Parlor maid or street cleaner, man of affairs or house-wife—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly.

Don't be deceived about body odor

Keep safe—use this purifying toilet soap

IT'S a mistake to think we're safe from body odor—just because we aren't conscious of offending.

For no one is safe from body odor. The offender may not notice it but everyone else does. We may be guilty—and not know it!

To live, we must perspire. Even on cool days, our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Easy to end body odor

This body moisture, whether visible or invisible, is odorous. And there's no escaping it! Failing to take precautions, every one of us—from maid to society leader—may offend.

But why risk embarrassment when it's now so easy to keep safe? Just wash and bathe often with the delightful toilet soap that millions enjoy—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same bland and abundant antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores.

Complexions, too, keep fresh and clear with Lifebuoy. Millions enjoy it for all toilet purposes.

Note its clean scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

SAYS OPERATORS HURT CAUSE IN ROADS APPEAL

WHITER SEES RATE ORDER UPHELD

The Western Pennsylvania coal operators are jeopardizing their own case before the Interstate Commerce Commission by appealing to executives of the trunk line railroads for a further reduction of lake coal rates, is the opinion expressed today by E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad here.

EXPECTS CONFIRMATION

It is Mr. Whiter's belief that the United States Supreme Court will confirm the Interstate Commerce Commission's original order and the injunction obtained by southern operators in Federal District Courts will be dismissed.

"The course adopted by the operators in appealing to the presidents of the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central railroads for a reduction of lake cargo rates to $1.26 a ton, seems a mistake," said Mr. Whiter. "In the natural course of events, they are likely to win through the action of the Supreme Court in sustaining the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling. Asking for a voluntary reduction of rates by our lines involves the case and takes away from the operators the means of redress the government now offers."

APPEAL TO ROADS

Last night the operators sent telegrams to Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania; P. E. Crowley, of the New York Central, and Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio, asking for a reduction of lake cargo rates to $1.26 to enable them to compete with southern shippers who again enjoy a 25-cent differential as a result of injunction against the Interstate Commerce Commission on the enforcement of its order disallowing further reduction of rates by southern carriers.

It was pointed out that on the request to the northern railroads hinges the retention or loss of millions of dollars of lake cargo coal business for 1928. Many other lines of business will be affected and thousands of wage earners will suffer, it was stated.

CUTICURA HEALS ITCHY PIMPLES

Scattered All Over Face. Caused Disfigurement.

"My face suddenly broke out with pimples. They were hard and rather large, and were scattered all over my face. Sometimes the pimples itched and bothered me. They caused disfigurement for awhile. The trouble lasted about six months.

"I tried other remedies without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I immediately began using it and in a short time could see an improvement. I purchased more and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Harold I. Pearlman, 1424-49th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., June 7, 1927.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from May Drug Co. or any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

TRADER HORN

·The Greatest Adventure Story of Modern Times·

Horn Promised Membership in Cannibals' Society

Josh House Habitat of Sacred Human Being Who Was Supposed Never to Die

What Has Gone Before

Sent to make a survey of the Ogowe River for the trading company he represented in West Africa in the early seventies, Alfred Aloysius Horn, an English boy, 18 years old, has many unique experiences while learning how to trade ivory and rubber. He is sent to the most dangerous spot on the West Coast. The following is a continuation of Trader Horn's narrative of those days as written by himself at the age of 73.

Amazing Cures of Witch Doctors

By ALFRED ALOYSIUS HORN.
Edited by ETHELREDA LEWIS.
CHAPTER V.

I WAS pleased to have Adonimango, as I was completely my own master. Following the main channel of the Ogowe River was a huge picnic, I had charge of the river trade and visited most of the up and across traders, taking stock of the amount of rubber, ivory, etc. I likewise bought many large canoes big enough for river trade.

I selected a large well-built canoe and took 20 of the best boys, six of whom were old experienced hunters, as my crew. I was well filled with rifles and ammunition, food and trading goods to pay current expenses with, as money was practically unknown on the river trade, I was well supplied on my first trip which turned out most successfully both for myself and the firm I represented.

I chose early morning for a start and the sun was not yet visible when I met Herr Shiff, the representative of Carl Woerman & Co., and discussed matters with him for a short space of time. The old man gave me the best of advice; as he had been a long time with his firm he knew what he was talking about, and I found his fatherly advice did me a great deal of good, so bidding a most fond adieu I was soon far away traveling very swiftly along the river channel.

The Ogowe was full of strange life and sounds at early dawn, in fact was a veritable zoo let loose. Hippos would scurry from the papyrus swamps into deep water, crocodiles would slide from the banks and clouds of white-winged seabirds would rise from the banks on which they laid their eggs and raised their young, having come from the ocean for this purpose.

Most Beautiful Lake

By noon we had entered a small creek which led to Lake Azingo and before sunset I was having a good hearty supper on the shore of the most beautiful lake in the world. No wonder the Canoe boys sang Imbaric N'gange (Spirits of the lake, listen to my song.) The creek leading to the lake is arched over by vines from which hang all kinds of vegetation which was simply crowded with flowers of all shapes and hues.

As the trees on both banks were high there was lots of space between this natural archway and the water and terra firma which was one mat of varied colored vegetation. Birds of all descriptions flitted to and fro. Now the beautiful crested crane would rise and fly away and kingfishes of all kinds disturbed would follow them. The most beautiful bird in the world, the pippio, which is one mass of green and gold, finds a home here. This bird is highly valued in London and Paris. Butterflies all colors and shapes are also to be found in great numbers.

Sitting perched on the outstretched branch of a large tree were several large owls; they were very tall and looked just in place as they sat motionless with their large yellow round eyes fully opened looking vacantly at nowhere. These owls are perfectly blind in daylight. Last but not least I must mention the monkeys, which quite enjoyed our visit and cut up all sorts of antics for our entertainment.

Before entering Lake Azingo we came on two native canoes, the occupants of which were engaged in spearing manga, a species of seal which is found only in the lakes of the Ogowe district. The forest surrounding Lake Azingo furnishes ebony second to none. Here also is the cross-country path to Gaboon city. As I carried the mail I dispatched a runner as soon as I arrived.

Gorilla Tricks

The native villages are inhabited by the Bimvool tribe of Mpangwes who make quite a good revenue from ebony cutting. The trade of this district was entirely in the hands of Hatton and Cookson and many tons of Ebony are shipped yearly. This is also a great rendezvous for gorillas and elephants besides many other species of wild animals and birds.

A very large species of water lily not unlike the Victoria Regia is to be found amongst the aquatic vegetation. This lilly is sencative. Leaving Azingo just before sunrise we were soon well away towards the main river. I have seen many lakes in many countries, but should anyone ask which is the most beautiful I should answer Azingo.

As we neared the mouth of this enchanted waterway my boy pointed out towards a clearing on the right bank. On looking where he pointed I saw three gorillas, one big fellow and two smaller ones. I grabbed my rifle and could easily have got the big fellow, possibly all three. The canoe, which was traveling at a big rate of speed, spoiled my shot by passing some large trees, and when I next saw these man apes they were too far away, they were just entering the thick bush on the other side of the clearing.

They traveled at a speed that surprised me, they are very quick-sighted and have a knack of turning corners which is surprising and will put every rock or tree possible between the hunter and themselves.

As they bounce along the feet hit the ground at the same time or shortly before the hands, the knuckles, which are covered with thick calous black skin, are used instead of hoofs, the large males make a kind of side motion. They can bound at any angle, and I have often seen them make a complete turn in the air in order to get a look at the hunter.

The Josh House

By sundown we arrived at a large Galwa village, situated on the north bank of the river. Here was a skull house or large Native Josh House, supposed to contain an Isoga, a sacred human being who never died. This Josh House was situated some distance from the village, and as the sacred rites were being held at the time no one was allowed near it, especially the stranger or the uninitiated.

Some of the boys were quite eager to join this Josh so I gave them full permission to do as they wished, in fact I was curious to know all about this Josh or God-man and mentioned this fact to their chief. He said I will see what can be done, and on his return told me that if I waited till the following evening I could gingina or be received as one of them.

A special ceremony would be necessary for a white man, and I would be told what to do, on entering the Josh House. To this I agreed and had the pleasure of being initiated. I needed a rest and occupied myself drawing the river chart till the evening, the time for my initiation.

What I saw in that Josh House was such a surprise to me that I shall never forget what took place. These ceremonies always take place in the evenings. I was told that the power of Isoga for good or evil was supreme, and would always help me to get what I wished. Further I could Ranga Yasi (swear by saying Yasi), which meant calling Yasi

PITT TO CLOSE FOR M'CORMICK RITES

All classes will be suspended tomorrow afternoon at the University of Pittsburgh, in the Oakland and downtown divisions and in the evening schools, as a tribute to the Rev. Dr. Samuel Black McCormick, chancellor emeritus, who died yesterday in his home in Coraopolis Heights. Ten thousand students and members of the faculty will be affected.

Although final arrangements have not yet been completed, the funeral services will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church. Dr. W. J. Holland, Dr. McCormick's predecessor as chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, will conduct the services, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor. Dr. McCormick will be buried at Washington, Pa.

The honorary pallbearers will be headed by deans of four schools who served under Dr. McCormick on the university staff. They are Dr. J. A. Koch of the school of pharmacy; Dr. R. R. Huggins of the school of medicine; Dr. H. E. Friesell of the school of dentistry, and Dr. A. M. Thompson of the school of law. H. S. Scribner, a member of the old Western University of Pennsylvania faculty, also will be an honorary pallbearer.

The following directors of the present university also will be honorary pallbearers: County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, Dr. John G. Bowman, present chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh; A. E. Braun, R. D. Campbell, George H. Clapp, W. L. Clause, Dr. O. M. Edwards, Jr., Dr. Louis Emanuel, Gov. John S. Fisher, B. G. Follansbee, Isaac W. Frank, Howard Heinz, A. L. Humphrey, W. H. Will Enthusiastic Over Private Aviation HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 19.—To give you an idea of what private aviation is advancing to, I left New York yesterday morning at 8 o'clock against a head wind, in Fred Stone's new plane with his private pilot Campion. Fred is over 50, yet he has learned to fly his own plane. Say, have you been reading about that Claremore, Okla., boy, Payne. In that walk, trot and single-foot derby from Hollywood to Hoboken, he led them into Claremore Tuesday, which, by the way, was half way. When they all saw the town they didn't want to leave. Yours for home talent.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

A CHEAP pawn shop in the region of what was once Pittsburgh's tenderloin section displays in its window a strange assortment of articles, which, finding a common home, nevertheless had little in common when they served original masters. For instance, a pearl-handled revolver is found quite handy to a gay mandolin. (The number of revolvers and mandolins sent to the hock shops must reach a tremendous total in any given year, judging from the window displays.) A romantic-looking guitar is found adjacent to a bloodthirsty-looking knife. The guitar, ghost of what once might have been a gay fete among the foreign-born, lies mute beside a diamond ring, relic, perhaps, of a broken engagement, or an unhappy wedding. A wrist-watch that once may have decorated the frail arm of a maid of easy virtue has found its way into the window, perhaps after the maid in question had lost her grip. Such is the romance, adventure and sadness of life portrayed in the window of a pawnshop.

AND, incidentally, while the conventional portrait of a keeper of a hock shop of the lower grade always includes a skull cap atop the pate of the proprietor, research does not reproduce this portrait in real life. There possibly was a time when Uncle, the proprietor, heightened his Shylockerian appearance with the aid of a skull cap, but, of late, the old boys have either taken to wigs or are content to face the world with a bald head.

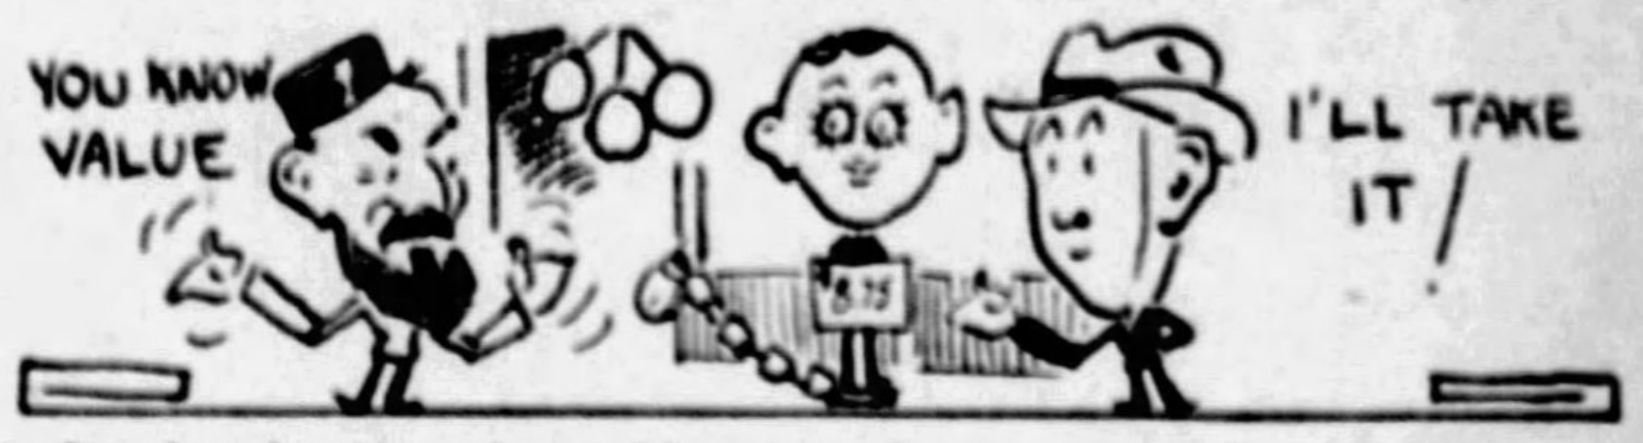
IN THE vicinity of the humbler hock shops, the cheap clothes stores also abound. Almost extinct is the dummy which used to stand outside the door, carrying the caption: "Take me home for $8.75." It is readily understood why these dummies should disappear from the streets of Los Angeles, where so many movie actors made merry with them to escape the ever-chasing cop, but why have they disappeared in Pittsburgh where they seldom have been annoyed by the Lloyds and Chaplins is a mystery.



Little wonder that Los Angeles continues growing. Here is a greeting card from Frank Fisher, former Mt. Oliver boy, and one of the best baritones that any street corner quartet has ever boasted. The card tells of Los Angeles' population, manufacturing statistics, prospects, school enrollment, etc. In no city do adopted sons seem to run such a high fever of civic spirit as in L. A.

RECENTLY was mentioned here idle curiosity as to why a cab driver took us to task in a wordless but nevertheless eloquent way. The issue was not important as everyone who read it will agree. Now comes a brother cabman of the protesting one with a letter, part of which follows:

* * *

"Are you sure the cabby instead of being angry was not trying to flirt with you?"

* * *

We hardly think so. He didn't look like the fresh type, anyway.

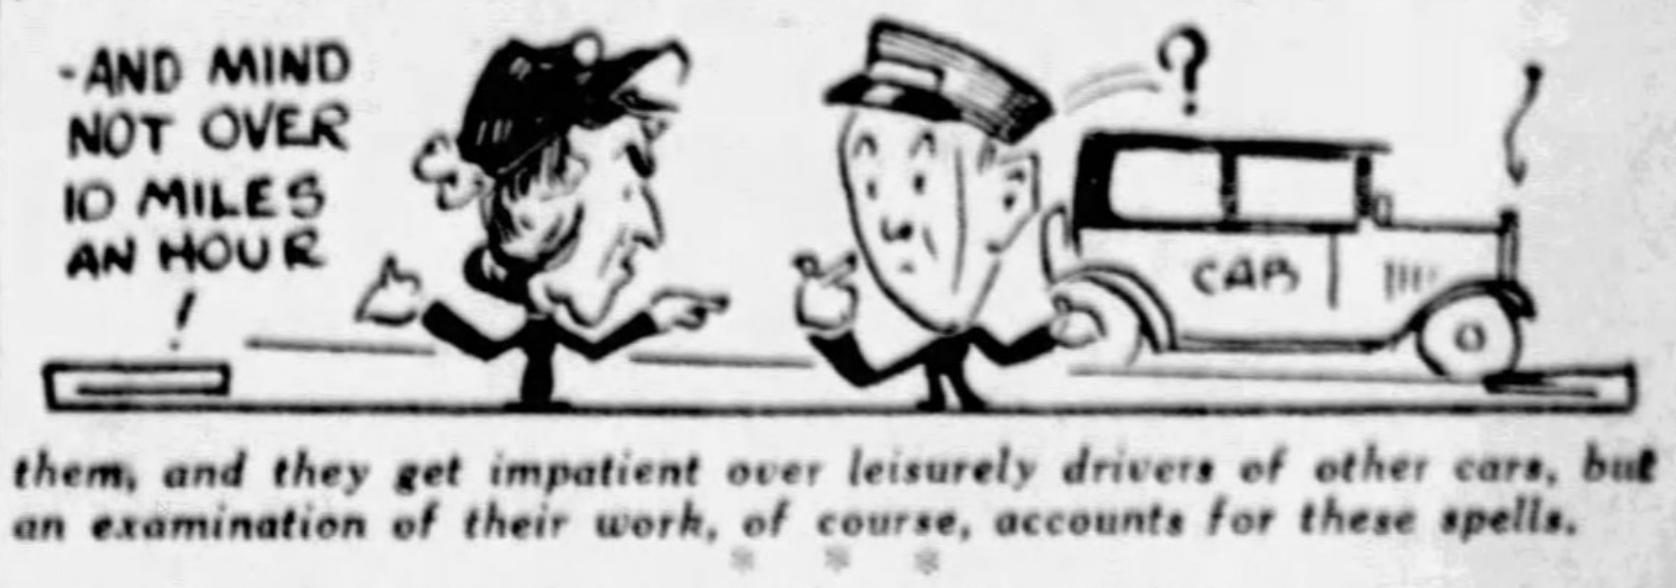
HE THEN says: "How about a boost?" Well, why not? As a class we have found the cab drivers courteous, pleasant and conscientious. Sometimes their nerves, under the constant strain of semaphores, traffic whistles, and old ladies from Dubuque, get the best of them, and they get impatient over leisurely drivers of other cars, but an examination of their work, of course, accounts for these spells.



-AND MIND NOT OVER 10 MILES AN HOUR !
CAB

AND among the classes which are tipped, it seems here that the cabbies are more appreciative than all others.

JERRY

The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait

By ELENORE MEHERIN

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. She decides to give Saxon up. She discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had been ignorant. Mary Eunice is to back Saxon to win in a contest, Jerry is jealous. Saxon tells Jerry he is paying his own way and once more she believes in him. Stephanie's operation is a success and the doctor is sure that she will walk. Stephanie falls in love with Heinie.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

MARY EUNICE was holding forth in husky, earnest tones on the immortality of the soul. It was one of her qualities to talk authoritatively on any profound subject.

She leaned forward, apparently unconscious of herself, but luring the two men with her warm eyes and sensuous voice. In her fervor she clasped one hand to her heart. And kept it there. This gesture was appealing, especially with those parted lips and soul-awakened eyes. But it embarrassed Jerry. She knew Mary Eunice was perfectly self-aware—a woman always is—and she felt like snapping: "Oh, put your hands in your lap. He's not likely to forget you're a woman and have curves! Besides, you've no more nor less than any barmaid! Why make a point of it!"

The amazing thing was that both Saxon and Hugh were tricked.

"No," said Mary Eunice with cute cynicism. "I see no reason why the hereafter should be crowded with millions of defunct humans any more than it should be crowded with defunct cows or pigs.

"But I do think Spinoza is right in claiming an immortality for the universe. We share in this.

"Our bodies are cells in the body [illegible] our race is an incident [illegible] of life; our minds [illegible] ashes of an eternal [illegible]

"[illegible]," said Hugh, "you've phrased that beautifully!"

Mary gave him a flushed smile and accepted the tribute. Saxon's eyes meeting Jerry's lit with triumph as though he said: "Now you see for yourself she's brilliant!"

They rose, following Phil's wife to the card tables.

Jerry and Hugh and three or four others were not playing.

"I had no idea Miss Pennings was such a thinker," said Hugh. "I've not heard so neat a phrasing in a long time."

Jerry gave him an angry look but said nothing. She didn't care what Hugh thought of Mary Pennings.

Yvonne brought high-balls to the card tables. They were playing a cent point. Very silent and intent. Playing bridge as men plot the fate of nations; sipping high-balls; keeping scores.

At midnight they were still playing; and at one o'clock.

"You don't mind if we stay another rubber, do you?" said Mary Eunice.

Saxon looking haggard and slightly flushed drained his glass. "No—stick it out if you wish."

"They'll play till morning," said Yvonne, bidding Jerry good-by. "You can't pry Mary Eunice loose from a bridge game. She'd think you impudent if you interrupted her to take a hot coal off your foot."

"Well—that's all right for those who breakfast in bed at 11:30," said Jerry. "Men and working ladies should know better."

She thouht with fury and bitterness: "He must be sunk in her hopelessly if he lets her cheat him from a day's work. How can he be fresh tomorrow! He lets her cheat him of that!"

Two days later Saxon dropped in for a brief late afternoon visit.

CHAPTER LV.

JERRY was very busy doing panels for a fall fashion show. For the space of two minutes after Saxon's entrance she kept on with her sketching. Then she asked abruptly, "How are the Melhurst plans getting along?"

"Not too quickly. I've been crowded with other work."

"You'll surely finish them in time, won't you?"

"Of course." He was reluctant to talk of this.

She sensed his impatience and thought craftily: "You've come in to talk of HER, havn't you? To tell me how fine and how fair she is! Go to it!"

"Jerry—you looked beautiful the other night."

"I wished you to think so, ole dear. Sweet for remembrance."

Quickly and with resentment: "I don't understand how you can be so flippant about it! As though you never cared. As though I don't mean a thing to you."

She smiled absently: "After all," she now turned about and, resting her elbows on the table behind her, smoked lazily: "After all, Saxon, why should I exult in the beauty I may have? It's not a personal achievement. It's a mere matter of luck and chromosomes. One cell different and I might have had squint eyes or a fish mouth.

"I wonder why women get conceited over their looks, as though they carved the phiz themselves.

"And I wonder why they play on their sex. Why they behave as though they had some unique possession in warm eyes, soft lips and the rest of the female paraphernalia. When seventeen million other women are formed in exactly the same pattern, is there any reason to get excited over my particular pair of arms and legs?"

"Eliminate beauty and sex, Jerry, and what have you left of color and joy on the earth? Every worthwhile thought and feeling we have is inspired by the one and tinged by the other. You'd reduce the world to a chill, colorless waste."

"No. I'd give you a world with a deeper beauty than the desire of the eyes. The optic nerve gets weary even gazing at loveliness. Paris got fed up on Helen's face.

"And as for sex, I'm not objecting to the honest passion one being who loves feels for the other.

"I mean all the hotsy-totsy that fills the magazines and novels today—the trumped-up stuff—the stuff that makes a woman ogle and say cute things, and lean her weight on a man when she dances with him. All that hokum. All this cultivated S. A. that every kid from 14 upward is acquiring. It's so damn silly and such an insult to the intelligence of men.

"Of course, the men like it and fall for it. But the next generation won't. When the flashy little flapper of today is 40, the flappers of 1950 will sneer: 'Oh, be yourself and cut the sexy silliness! We've all got flesh!' And they'll pity her and her intriguing lures and her pockets full of pash as we pity the woman who creeps and goes about declaring she sacrificed herself for her children.

"They'll be honester and cleaner and won't understand why we've made all this to-do and commotion about the appeasing of a common-place human hunger."

He regarded her—fascinated and amused. "Thus with a wave of your hand, Jerry, you banish the great and subtle game of the sexes. Aren't you a little unkind to the lads and ladies of 1950?"

She thought excitedly: "Why am I saying all this? Why is my throat so dry? He doesn't guess that I'm insane with jealousy! Doesn't guess that I'm slamming her—exposing her."

She answered in low, even tones: "In 1950 they'll have other pastimes. They'll be on the road to a deeper and more enduring relation of the sexes—a companionship in sport or work or something. The kind of palship two fellows who lay in the same shell-shot trench have for each other.

"Or the kind of mutual delight two people would have who rushed together into a burning building and rescued 19 orphans from death.

"We're overdoing S. A. so heavily that it's fast becoming a drug on the market. Everybody's got 'IT' or a counterfeit. And there's no longer the slightest mystery as to the where and how of a woman's lure. If everyone took to writing Hamlets, how long would Shakespeare last?

"Well, everyone is taking to sexation. Our children, to escape the utter boredom of it, will be forced to invent new sins."

"You're a frightfully restless and critical person, Jerry."

"No—just plain greedy. I want joys deeper than bootleg scotch can furnish; thrills wilder than sofa-sheik stuff can produce.

"I want more than life gives, it seems. As Shaemus O'Sheel puts it:

"'This is the doom of those whose desire is unbounded,
'To feel in the dark
'The wall insurmountable,
'To hear beyond hearing the song that shall never be heard;
'To see beyond seeing the picture that shall not be painted;
'To sense forever
'In wind and water,
'In wood and meadow,
'In city and solitude,
'More than the heart can hold or the mind encompass.
'This is our doom, we weavers of Time's pale garlands.
'To seek forever and find not the Rood and the Rose.
'The Lips and the Grail that beckon us in our dreams.' A bitter doom, ole dear! But the dream is worth the seeking even though we know it shall never be found."

She seemed wooing that dream with her flame-lit eyes and lips redolent of songs.

And he, watching her, felt a stirring, an uneasiness, a wanting. As when one watches a star shooting in lonely splendor from sight.

He said a little flatly, "Even today there are girls who are wearied of surface pleasures . . . girls seeking a deeper meaning to life."

She closed her eyes and nodded, smiling—"One or two!"

She thought hotly, pityingly: "You think Mary Eunice is one of them! Ah, yes—interested in immortality, isn't she?"

He was now standing at her side, looking at her sketch. "How are you getting along with Briers?"

"Finished it yesterday. Looks darby."

"Hesitantly, feeling his way and stealthily regarding her profile: "You're almost finished with Mary's place?" She's immensely pleased."

"It would have been finished ages ago buts he keeps changing her mind. She finally decided she wanted handtufts from Spain. They take months. When will the Monterey manor house be ready?"

"It's not started yet. She's changed plans on that, too. She doesn't know much of architecture or art, though she's so cultured in other lines. It makes her uncertain of her taste and quite fickle. But she's very pleasant to work with. Don't you find her so?"

"Yes—she's not interfered with me. And that's always a comfort."

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Love for Dicky Not Entirely Extinguished

ONE advantage or disadvantage of marriage, judging from the point of view, is the vulnerability to attack which each opponent—I use the word advisedly—discovers in the other. And the longer the marital tie in point of years, the greater assortment of deadly poisoned darts possessed by each.

Thus Dicky knows well that nothing so stirs my anger as his time-worn sneer concerning my martyr's crown. I knew from his use of it that he was in the unpleasant mood where he felt like lashing out at anything within his reach.

"I think it's adjusted at just the right angle to my head," I told him, "and now if you are sure you have everything you need, I will ask you to excuse me. Katie will bring you in some waffles by the time you have finished the rest of your breakfast, and I really have a great deal to do."

He turned and bowed low, with more than a touch of mockery in the gesture.

"Oh! I fully realize how crushing is the weight of duties upon your shoulders," he said.

"Yes, they are almost as arduous as those burdening you," I retorted, flashing a laugh at him. "I trust your horse behaves well this morning. Miss Lincoln is an exacting judge, I understand."

Some way I got myself from the veranda into the house on that note of laughter. But I could keep up the farce no longer. With the laugh strangling into a sob in my throat, I fled up the stairs to the sanctuary of my own room, locked my door and flung myself upon my bed, burying my face in the pillow that no sound should betray my paroxysm of sobbing.

I could not understand my tears nor the emotion which caused them. I had believed that after the terrible episode of the poisoned fruit cup which had sent Dicky and me into bitter estrangement, I never could feel either affection, jealousy or anger toward him again. Indeed, I had told myself in all sincerity, my heart was like a frozen thing, and—I had not wanted it thawed. After the first shock of Dicky's awful doubt of me had worn away, I had been curiously at peace, as women often are when they have passed through some crisis which has drained them of all emotion.

For months I had been genuinely indifferent to Dicky's actions or his opinions of me—or I had thought I was. The result, as far as my emotional reaction was concerned, was the same. But now, at the knowledge that he was to spend the morning riding with my beautiful, mysterious young neighbor, and then give other hours to sketching her, I felt the old feeling of jealous rage clutching at my throat.

Mercilessly I plunged the scalpel of self-analysis into my feeling and dragged out the wounded vanity which far more than love is at the bottom of feminine jealousy.

Eleanor Lincoln was younger than I. Her brunette beauty, with her great lustrous dark pansy eyes and her black hair was directly opposite in type to my own coloring and eyes and hair.

I knew Dicky's love of beauty and his fastidious standards, and knew that this girl measured up to them. Then, too, and even in the face of my anguish, I jeered at my own absurdity, the young mistress of The Larches was an accomplished horsewoman, while I rode so indifferently that I knew it bored Dicky to have me accompany him.

Altogether it was a very uncomfortable inferiority complex which possessed me, no lightened by the knowledge that it was not all vanity at the roots of my jealous rage—that altogether outside of my own volition the embers of my love for my husband were struggling into flame again.

A nurse's beauty secret

Why your skin needs a healing toilet cream

...to bring out its real loveliness

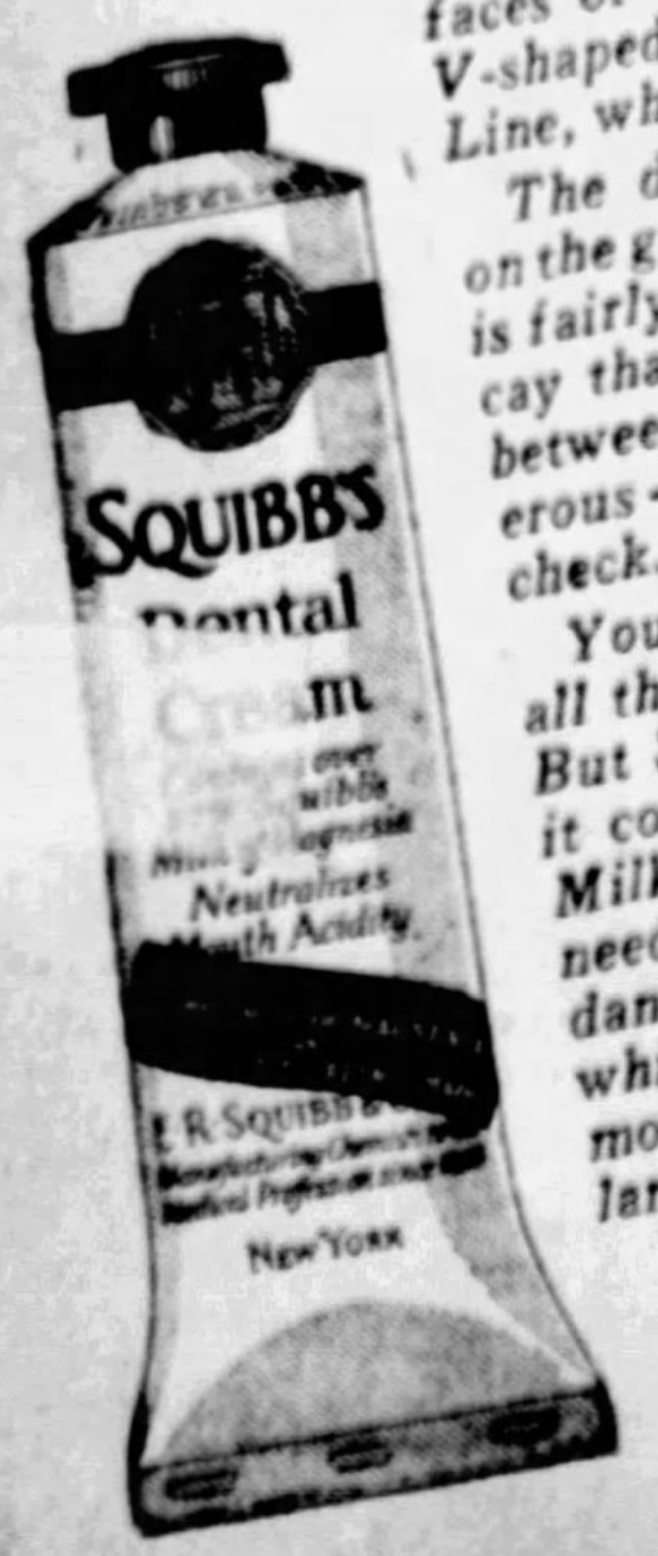
SUN, wind, dust and germs—all day long your skin is exposed to them. Impurities lodge in the pores—coarsen and roughen skin texture, hiding the real beauty of your complexion.

But nurses have found a way to keep their skin clear and satin-smooth in spite of these adverse conditions. And their secret is—a gently medicated toilet cream that protects, soothes, heals and beautifies.

Your skin can be smoother, finer, lovelier if you take this same precaution and apply Noxzema Cream as a powder base or massage it into your skin at night before retiring.

Noxzema sinks deep down in the pores—heals away every tiny blemish—and stimulates the skin to new glowing beauty. It acts as an astringent, closing the pores, refining the skin—leaving it velvety-soft, clear and beautiful.

See for yourself why over two million women today are using Noxzema Cream. Get a small trial jar today—costs but a few cents at any drug or department store.



The most treacherous decay begins at

The Danger Line

It is acids that cause decay. They form in the pits on the grinding surfaces of your teeth and in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line, where teeth and gums meet.

The decay caused by these acids on the grinding surfaces of your teeth is fairly easy to control. It is the decay that occurs at The Danger Line between your teeth that is so treacherous—so difficult to reach and check.

Your tooth-brush cannot reach into all the crevices at The Danger Line. But Squibb's Dental Cream, because it contains more than 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, can give you needed protection. It neutralizes the dangerous acids, makes your teeth white and lustrous and keeps your mouth healthy. Try it today. 40c a large tube.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Leaders Here Interested in Social Activities of Former Pittsburgh Girl at Aiken, S. C.

IT IS an impossible feat, of course, to keep track of all our local girls who marry out-of-town men and move in the social circles of other cities, but every once in a while one hears a bit of news about them. It may be trivial—just a travel note, perhaps—but I think their old friends here who may be out of touch with them would be glad to know something of what they are doing. One such girl is the former Martha Lyon, who is now Mrs. Nelson Slater and lives in New York, as, no doubt, you know. She is the daughter of the J. Denniston Lyons, who, while they still maintain their Sewickley Heights home, spend most of their time in New York, and she was one of the most popular debutantes of her season.

Mrs. Slater, I understand, is now at Aiken, S. C., where she has been spending some time. She has been entertaining a little there and gave a quite small luncheon one day this week at the Prickley Pear Cottage.

A beautiful church wedding of this morning was that of Mary Beatrice O'Bryan, daughter of the E. Garrick O'Bryans, of Bartlett street, and Frank J. Nugent, son of Mrs. Mary V. Nugent, of Bartlett street. It took place at 10:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Cathedral, and the officiant was the Rev. A. A. Burns. Only white flowers, tall Easter lilies and lilacs, were used in decorating the altar, combined, of course, with the usual greens.

The bride was given away by her father, and she wore a distinctive gown of white taffeta, made in basque effect with a skirt banded with tulle, quite long in back and short at the side. Her veil was of Venetian lace arranged in cap effect and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a white ivory prayer book showered with orchids and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Henrietta, was the maid of honor, and her frock was of yellow flowered chiffon with a yoke of Chantilly lace and a long, three-tiered skirt. She wore a leghorn hat trimmed with yellow satin. The other girls in the bridal party wore similarly made gowns in green flowered chiffon, and their leghorn hats were, of course, trimmed with green satin. They were Mrs. William Henry, Mrs. Earl Dauer, Dorothy Weinberg and Rosemary O'Bryan. All carried bouquets of spring flowers.

Rudolph O. Barnard, of Cliffwood-on-the-Hudson, N. J., was Mr. Nugent's best man, and the ushers were Arnold Hooper, of Albany; E. Garrick O'Bryan, Jr., and Claude and Earl Dauer.

After the ceremony there was a breakfast and reception in the O'Bryan home. Twenty-two guests were seated at the bride's table, which was decorated with masses of spring flowers.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Nugent are leaving today to take a trip through the East. They expect to be back about May 15 and at home in Bartlett street.

The number of Pittsburgh folks in New York was augmented by two today when Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hill, of Pembroke place, arrived to spend a short time there. They are going to stop at the Berkshire, I understand.

Miss Jane Keiser, daughter of Mrs. John Keiser, of Aylesboro avenue, whose marriage to William Galbraith Stewart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stewart, of Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, will be solemnized next Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg, will have her sister, Mrs. Andrew R. Neilson, as her matron of honor. Another sister, Miss Frances Keiser, will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Josephine H. Stewart, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. D. Robert Ferguson, Jr., of New Cumberland, W. Va. Andrew H. Stewart is to be his brother's best man and the ushers will include Thomas Stewart, another brother; William D. Wylie, Andrew R. Neilson, Maurice Robinson, D. Robert Ferguson, Jr., and Oliver N. Smith, of New York. Mrs. Neilson will entertain the bridal party with a buffet supper Monday night in her home in the Penn dwellings, and the rehearsal dinner will be given Tuesday night by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stewart.

A card party will be given tonight in the school hall of St. Canice's Church, Knoxville, for the benefit of Our Lady of Lourdes parish at Burgettstown. John Donley is in charge. Bridge, "500," euchre and old maid will be played.

* * *

Epsilon Chapter of the Phi Chi Theta fraternity, University of Pittsburgh, will hold its third annual bridge party Saturday in McCreery's. Mrs. Augusta A. Moore is general chairman, and Miss Edna Hazlett is representing the alumnae association, which is uniting with the active chapter in giving the party. The proceeds will be used for educational purposes.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Deutenberg, of Los Angeles, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Deutenberg, of Jacob street, Mt. Oliver. They will return to their home in about three weeks.

* * *

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Ascalon Commandery No. 59, Knights Templar, will hold a card party tomorrow afternoon in Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium. Mrs. E. C. Heckels is chairman.

* * *

Miss Gertrude Engstrom will be in charge of arrangements for the bridge tea to be given Saturday by the Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha in the fraternity house in Craig street. She is aided by Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, Miss Grace McMillan, Miss Helen Best, Miss Anna Belle Burdick and Miss Helena Schwall.

MISS MARGARET E. WRIGHT

CURRENT EVENTS CLASS INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

The Wednesday Current Events Class brought its season to a close yesterday with a very delightful luncheon and program in the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Charles A. Orr wrote finis to her two-year term as president, and introduced her successor, Mrs. J. H. Harrison, who made a charming address and announced her committees. The other new officers, Mrs. William Penn Baum, vice president; Mrs. John L. Gerber, secretary, and Mrs. F. B. Morris, treasurer, were also presented, and at the end of the program the new members who were present were given an informal reception.

Miss Helen Grimes, a past president of the organization, who was to have addressed the gathering, was unable to attend. The program, therefore, consisted of readings by Mrs. Mary Jones Sherril, and contralto solos by Miss Margaret Alice Fingel, with Miss Ruth Simon at the piano. Mrs. Sherrill began with Essex Dane's tense little drama of Russian life, "When the Whirlwind Blows," and followed it with others of a varied selection, giving each with characteristic artistry. Miss Fingel delighted her audience with the warmth and sweetness of her voice and Miss Simon's accompaniments added to the enjoyment.

Cover were laid for 110. The invocation was by Mrs. A. D. Robb, president of the Crafton Woman's Club.

Mrs. John A. Frick, president of the State Federation, has been in Pittsburgh for the last two days, the guest of Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston and Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl. Mrs. Frick came on from her home in Allentown to be the honor guest and speaker at the Washington County Federation meeting in Charleroi yesterday and at the Beaver County Federation in Rochester today. The Rochester Twentieth Century Club is the hostess organization today and the Gothic Literary and Woman's Clubs were hostesses yesterday.

All delegates to the biennal of the General Federation have been invited to attend a parliamentary law institute on the revised laws of the G. F. W. C., which Mrs. Flora B. Bowden will conduct tomorrow as part of the San Antonio Club's business. Mrs. Harry G. Samson and Dr. Lewis H. Carris will speak during the afternoon. Mrs. Samson, who is head of the woman's department, Pittsburgh Council of Churches, will speak on the need of policewomen in the city and Dr. Carris, on the prevention of blindness.

Mrs. Frank Vittor shared honors with her husband, the Pittsburgh sculptor, at the reception which the Forum gave in the Congress of Clubs last night. Mr. Vittor has just returned from Washington, where he made a bust of President Coolidge, and at present he is working on a Lindbergh memorial which is to be presented to France by the school children of America. Mr. Vittor gave an informal talk on art at last night's reception.

* * *

Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, will speak on "Science and Its Human Relationship" at a dinner to be given at the Congress of Clubs by the Nature Study Club and the other science clubs of the city tomorrow night. After the meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Educational Association on Saturday, Miss Myrtle Reed, of the Nature Club, will have charge of an Arbor Day program to be held on the Bellefield School grounds. The Nature Club will join with the Audubon Society for field trips at Deer Creek April 22 and Plum Creek April 28. Miss Marie Knauz, chairman of the house committee, is making arrangements for the next club party to be held at Na-wak-wa Lodge, the club's mountain home in Forbes Forest, May 12-13.

The Sheraden Parent-Teacher Association will give a tea in the American Avenue School, tomorrow afternoon. Miss Grace Swan, director of primary education in the Pittsburgh schools, will be the speaker and her subject, "The Connecting Link Between the Kindergarten and the Elementary School." The musical program under the direction of Mrs. James Nesbitt will consist of piano solos by Miss Jane Colwell and vocal solos by Miss Mabel Bird Ensinger, contralto. This tea is being given in place of the regular monthly meeting. The evening meetings of the association will be resumed in May at which time the Rev. Dr. Percy G. Kammerer will speak.

The Woman's Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon elected new officers yesterday as follows: President, Mrs. Paul J. Bolger; vice presidents, Mrs. H. M. Patton and Mrs. F. C. Cassell; secretary, Mrs. J. W. McKelvie; treasurer, Mrs. Paul Minton. "The Home as a Unit of Government" was discussed in various papers at the meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. F. W. Cook, Arlington Station, Mrs. C. W. Kenney speaking on "Qualifications of the Intelligent Voter," Mrs. R. H. Hood on "Government Service at the Home," Mrs. I. G. Amsler on the state bond issue and Mrs. S. A. Stright reading Mrs. Frank Garrentt's paper on "The Personnel and Activities of the League of Nations."

A bake sale will be held in conjunction with the card party which the Housekeepers' Club will have tomorrow afternoon in the Congress clubhouse. Mrs. George Wise is bake sale chairman and Mrs. B. D. Scott, as chairman of the social committee, will be in charge of cards.

The Ladies' Advisory Board of the Suburban General Hospital will hold a tea Monday afternoon in the directors' room at the hospital. Dr. Walter Donaldson will speak, using for his topic "Health Legislation and Education."

The Bible Class of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church will present "Brown Eyed Betty," a comedy drama in three acts, at the church on Monday evening.

If Women knew the discovery of a great motion picture director, their beauty would be instantly enhanced

I HAVE discovered that color can make or mar feminine beauty," says Mr. Dwan. "Its effect is instantly seen on the features. One shade of a color of face powder will soften, beautify, heighten a light or deepen a shadow, and so bring out to the full and enhance all the gifts of nature; while another make in the same color fails utterly of its purpose."

Having studied the subject, Mr. Dwan recommends as a result Houbigant Face Powder, and his commendation is made, as he says, "because the appropriate Houbigant shades seem to me to have a property of combining with the natural skin tones and immeasurably increasing their beauty. This property is not possessed, to my knowledge, in the same degree in any other make of powder."

Not only are the Houbigant shades superior, but the powder itself is of course of superb quality, fragranced with the incomparable Houbigant odeurs, at $1.50 and 75c the box. For purse use it comes in the smart hexagonal double compact for $2.50. Choose, too, as your powder base, the one perfect product for the purpose—Quelques Fleurs Skin Lotion—4 oz., $1.

BOMBINGS WARN MINERS

STRIKERS TRY TO STOP WORKERS

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—Bombs were exploded on a hill overlooking the White Valley mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company last night in an endeavor to intimidate miners at work there. This morning 40 pickets patroled the road, but failed to draw out any more men. It is said that only a few men remain at the mine.

A mass meeting was scheduled for Slickville today to urge Bethlehem Steel Company miners to quit work.

W. J. White, secretary of the International Labor Defense League, conferred with the 57 pickets arrested yesterday at Wyano. They are still in jail, without a charge against them. The sheriff and state police conferred today to decide on the nature of the charge to be made.

to witness what I said, and I would be believed by all members of the fraternity. I was the first white man to become a member.

(Descriptions of Nina the Isoga, Abome Bushmen, native dances and comedians stand on a banana leaf, etc.; slave trade, leopard hunting, etc., etc., etc., in future chapters.—A. A. H.)

(Trader Horn here observes to Mrs. Lewis that he's getting to an interesting part of his narrative and explains why he was unable to write more the preceding night.)

A Lover of Nature

"Aye, we're getting to the pith of it now. I'd 'a' been able and willing to write more if they hadn't stuck still another feller into my room. Came in drunk at 2 o'clock in the morning and said he was Col. M——. I didn't mind that if only he'd a gone out when the other fellers did next day. But he stuck close. One of those staring fellers. 'Twas cold and he hadn't a coat.

"I have to wear the coat you gave me night and day to save it from being collared by some poor chap hasn't got one. 'Tis a poor sort of place. Aye. One good word I can give it—there's no lice. Whatever one's walk of life, there's still something to be counted as a blessing. The rich are happy when there are no mosquitoes. For the poor there are greater mercies.

"I thought you'd sure like the portion on Lake Azingo. I can see you're fond of Nature, excuse me. Kingfishers, Ma'am. Kingfishers. . . . Aye, when I go to one of these so-called cinemas I stand a bit of it and then I come out. Rivers I've seen where no white man had been. It'll take a world of cinemas to wash that out. Like a snake with green sides. The middle stream its silvery belly. The crystals of the dew wetting the fine air at dusk when you're watching the transfiguration of the mountains. And kingfishers, with their toppings of bright gold. . . .

"I was a very curious lad, always wanting to know things, you understand. Nothing to read, and having only a Scotchman to talk to, it seemed, you may say, natural to turn to Nature.

Saved by Witch Doctor

"Peter Nolan, our engineer on the Hiawatha, he died. Something in the throat. I should 'a' died, too, if it hadn't been for Egbo. Nice feller, Peter Nolan. Aye, if it hadn't been for Egbo and the wild witch-doctors of the neighborhood. . . . If the white juice of the cricket is apt to cure a wound.

"I'm not breaking my heart for Harley Street. And come to a fever, there's none knows better. Make a fomentation of the cotton that's under the bark of the cotton tree and wrap you up in skins and it'll sweat any megrims out of you.

"The witch-doctors are quite handy with the throat. They use the wild pepper for that. They'll fold it up like snuff in a sort of little pipe the shape of a cigaret and blow it down the throat.

"Aye, if that poor feller had given himself like a child to the science provided by Nature, suitable to the occasion, he'd 'a' been living now, as I am. I'm one of the lucky ones. Here I am still and even philanthropy can't rob me of my memories and my pride in navigating a river or two. Charting 'em, too. Ha! I could tell the Admiralty a thing or two about their little mistakes at the mouths of some of my rivers. . . ."

Leaves Hair Twice as Beautiful

In a few minutes time, your hair is soft, silky and radiant with life, gloss and lustre.

To have beautiful, fresh looking hair is simply a matter of proper shampooing.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

It's Easier to Do It Yourself

BY the time you are through with re-decorating, you have done more work, worry and bother than if you had set to one morning and with a little help cleaned the walls and ceilings yourself.

The expense of re-decorating is always considerable—and four times out of five it isn't necessary. But cleaning is necessary if your home is to be as sanitary as it should be.

Climax Cleaner restores the freshness and beauty of wall paper, flat tone, textured or antique plaster walls and ceilings. It also cleans sanitas walls, tapestry, cretonnes, window shades—easily and quickly—and saves money.

All the year 'round—but especially for Spring housecleaning—Climax is a household help and every can will save many a dollar.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

SPRING MUSINGS

IN THIS age of distorted beauty, if a girl's legs and feet are works of art, most men don't seem to care much if the face at the other end is a hand-painted cartoon.

* * *

At this magic season, if the sound of a grind organ starts a man humming "Souvenir" or "Kiss Me," he's a bachelor; but if the same sound merely reminds him that he must "fix the squeak in the old car," he's "somebody's husband."

HELEN ROWLAND

A man may love "March moods" and "April caprices" in a sweetheart, but in a wife he demands the serenity of a May morning and the placid, unfaltering sweetness of a June moon.

The younger generation are continually using "love" and "sex" synonymously. But "love" and "sex" are no more synonymous than June and roses or April and rain or Thanksgiving and snow. Love is not always at sex o'clock.

An old man woos women with gold—a young man wins them with brass.

A feminine cynic is a woman who has no faith in anything on earth—except the synthetic beauty advertisements.

A man who has never had an unhappy love affair is merely a body of protoplasm entirely surrounded by self-complacency. A man's heart, like his teeth, has to be made to ache before he is aware of its existence.

* * *

A woman is like a prisoner at the bar. A man always believes her guilty of being in love with him until she proves herself innocent.

Oh, yes, a man's wife is always "the last one to know"—and the first one to suspect!

* * *

This is the season when the moths get into the closet—and the love germ creeps into even the hermetically sealed heart of a woman-dodger.

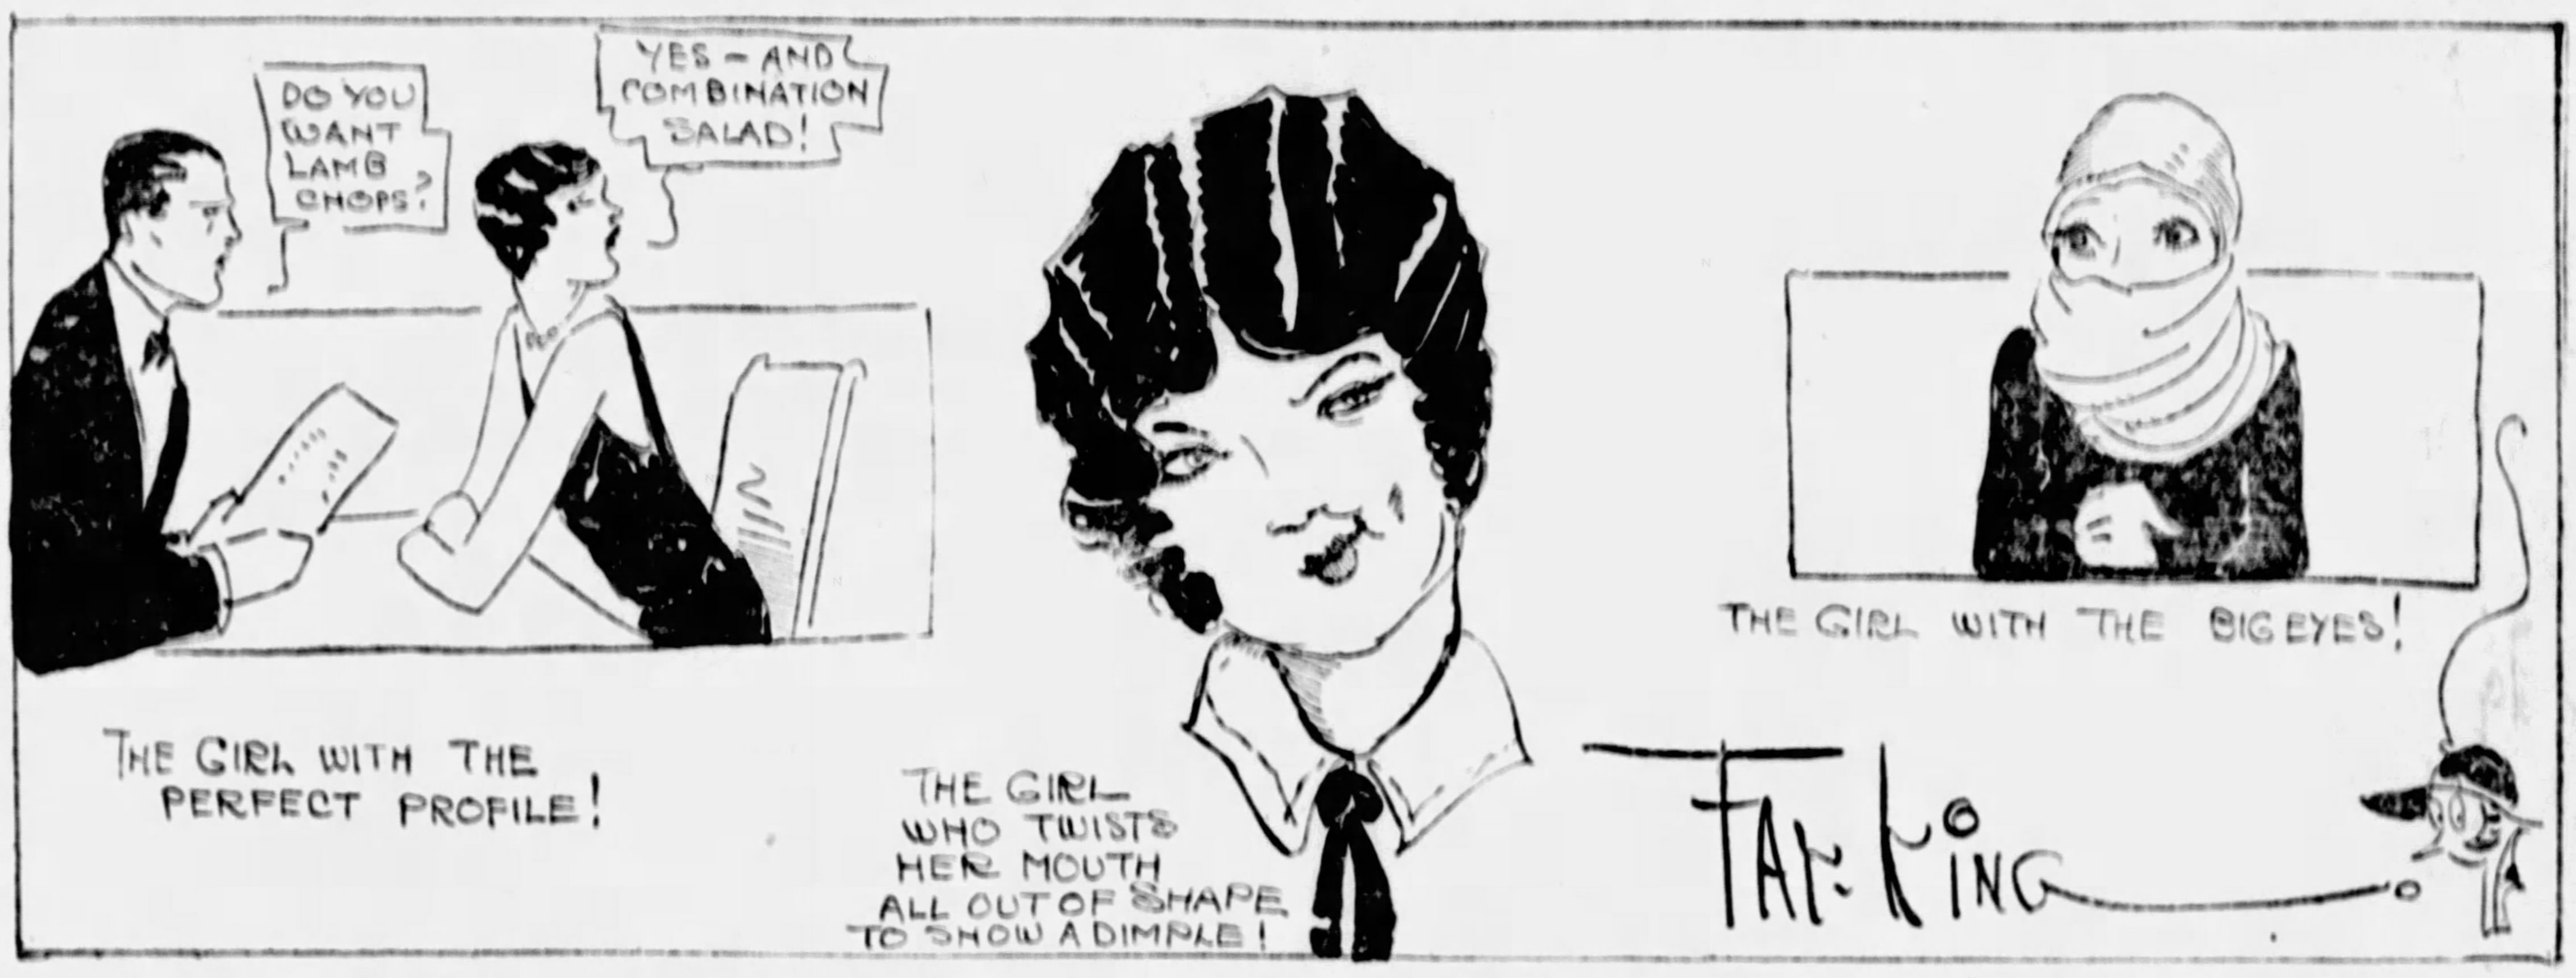
Fay King Warns Girls Against Extreme Posing



DO YOU WANT LAMB CHOPS?
YES—AND COMBINATION SALAD!
THE GIRL WITH THE PERFECT PROFILE!
THE GIRL WHO TWISTS HER MOUTH ALL OUT OF SHAPE TO SHOW A DIMPLE!
THE GIRL WITH THE BIG EYES!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WHEN a woman makes the most of her good points she is attractive. But when she makes too much of them she is tragic.

To bring out one's best feature is fine. But to overwork that good feature is fatal.

Nothing is more fascinating and fetching than a dimple. But it should be allowed to dance in the cheek as it will when smiles or certain syllables bring it into action.

There is nothing more terrible than to see a girl twist her mouth in all sorts of unbecoming shapes in order to show that she has a dimple!

She does not seem to notice that she is burying the dimple in a dozen dreadful wrinkles.

Have you noticed a pretty girl with an attractive man acting as if she was mad at him? She never looked at him! Sort of sat with her nose tilted in the air, looking away and awfully bored.

The poor dear is suffering from too much interest in her perfect profile!

She no longer looks any one in the face.

Large eyes can be a very attractive feature. But they can become a bad fault! Eyes need to be restful and changeful to be interesting. I have seen girls with lovely eyes, that in playing them up keep them at a steady, glassy stare! They never blink them. They never look down! Some have discovered a questioning expression they think is attractive. They have wrinkles in their foreheads as thick and deep as a washboard, working their eyes this way!

Don't be too fond of your best feature! You may overlook the havoc it wreaks on the rest of your face!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator From New York

Form Good Habits of Eating Early for Healthy Old Age

IN chewing the food, a child should use both sides of the mouth. Otherwise one side of the face is likely to be more developed than the other. Certainly you don't want your child to be so afflicted.

DR COPELAND

It takes a lot of patience and good sense to bring up a child the way he should go. He must be watched carefully to determine what his habits really are. When a real fault is discovered you should carefully explain why the thing in question is a fault. The child will have an intelligent reason for mending his ways, without thinking his parent is "cranky."

Did you ever observe the teeth of a healthy dog? They are white and clean and shining. They are made so because the dog chews rough and hard food. This food cleans his teeth and polishes them. The food acts like a buffer, giving smoothness and luster to the teeth.

If you do not use your teeth for chewing hard food, no matter how much you use your toothbrush, there may be collections of tartar on the insides or at the roots of the teeth. To prevent this accumulation, both sides of the mouth and all the teeth should be used for chewing.

If this rule is adhered to, there will be little tartar. If not, there will be gradual deposits at the neck of the teeth. The tartar may even creep down between the teeth and the gums. The gum being pushed from the teeth, there is formed a pocket in which the germs can grow and thrive.

We certainly take into the mouth with our food, and in other ways, innumerable germs. Fortunately most of them are harmless and even friendly. But some of these germs are of the pus-producing varieties. If some of this kind are planted in the gum pockets, they get to work on the tissues of the mouth. Pretty soon you may have pyorrhea—Rigg's disease.

Most chronic diseases of importance date back to early life. Proper habits formed then will prevent misery in adult life and old age. No greater blessing is to be had than the possession of good teeth which remain good throughout a long lifetime.

As a matter of fact, long life depends to a considerable degree upon good teeth. For the sake of long life and comfort during it, you should watch your teeth and keep them in perfect condition. To help to accomplish this end, you should chew your food on both sides of the mouth and teach the children to follow this rule.

It will be easy to get the little girls to do this, because they don't want to have one-sided faces. It is harder to get the boys to practice it, especially if there happens to be a toothache or, for any other reason, tenderness on one side. But it is a thing that must be done for the good of the teeth, as well as the looks.

Calm, Cool and Collected

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are three young girls in our teens. Number 1 goes to school and finds that she has to study too hard and doesn't have time for dates. What to do? Number 2's mother watches over her carefully and she finds that she has to meet boys on the street corner. What to do? Number 3's trouble is that she always likes men who don't care so much for her, and after she makes them like her, she drops them flat. Now, Miss Gale, don't you think that terrible? Please express your opinions frankly, for she really needs advice. What to do? Thanking you for your advice, we are,

CALM, COOL AND COLLECTED.

If I may be permitted a bit of sarcasm, don't let a small thing like education interfere with your dates. How absurd, my dear. Your school is more important than all the boys in the world. As for meeting boys in the sly, it is rather cheapening. Your mother is quite right in her attitude. The third girl's problem is merely one of youth. She wants only the unattainable. She will outgrow it.

I Thank You

DEAR MISS GALE:

How long should a young man go with a girl before making known his intentions? After two years, don't you think he should know his feeling regarding her?

I THANK YOU.

One year is plenty long enough.

Fan

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your letters for quite a while. I am 14 years and like a fellow who is two years older than me. I don't know if he cares for me or not. He doesn't live in the same place, but comes over occasionally. When he comes over he doesn't take much interest in me. He goes with other girls while I'm not around. Now, don't think I'm jealous or anything like that, because I'm not. He told me he cared for me but I doubt it. I like someone else better, but don't like to hurt his feelings. I am considered good looking and get along with almost every one who knows me. I agree with you on everything, but don't think there is any harm in kissing. I don't go to shows and dances. I go to church steady. The boys I have been telling you about don't go to church and the one I like does. He always says he likes me, but when he gets with a crowd he flirts with other girls. The other fellow doesn't and I like him better. I don't keep steady company with either of them. Which one do you think cares for me? When this boy is home we correspond with each other. Should I keep company with him or forget him?

FAN.

Forget both of them, my dear, until you are old enough to be thinking about boys.

Powder Means Much to Me

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The average woman considers the actress hopelessly ahead of her in the art of enhancing natural beauty.

The reason for this advantage is that the actress makes a business of attracting and she must "know how." It is her bread and butter.

In the matter of powder, for instance, my forty-odd years on the stage have made me almost unbelievably exacting. I never considered the cost of my powder, so long as it pleased me.

After years of searching I found in France the powder that now adds the last touch to my careful toilette. It satisfies me because it has the one quality I have found in no other powder. That is, it blends so smoothly with the texture of my skin that my face never looks "made up" when I am offstage.

Because it lends such natural bloom I call it my Youth Powder. In the immense quantities now produced I am able to offer it to women at a low price.

If your skin requires a clinging powder I advise using my Youth Powder in the Heavy Type. It also can be had in the Light Type. Both have the same delicate elusive fragrance.

Get either type in Flesh, Brunette or White at any toilet counter.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Friday, April 20

The love you liberate in your work is the only love you keep.—ELBERT HUBBARD.

A DAY memorable and pleasant in many respects is forecast by the very lively conditions incited by major planets. Purely personal affairs as well as employment and large enterprises are under excellent auguries for success. New projects are encouraged, although they may involve change and travel. Small disappointments should not discourage and beware small deceptions.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent promise of a year of success and personal satisfaction. New projects will flourish, although change may be involved and journeys. Be on guard against small deceits and overlook slight worries and delays.

A child born on this day will be many-sided and versatile and will have a life of notable success and achievement, as well as be personally favored and popular.

Modess

A Revelation of Comfort and Safety

THE new softness and protection of Modess, the absence of chafing and clumsiness are specially welcome to the active woman.

The superiorities which make Modess so much more acceptable than other sanitary napkins are the result of four years of research and invention in the Johnson & Johnson laboratories.

A way was found to soften the gauze and to cushion it with a film of cotton. The sides are smoothly rounded, doing away with hard, chafing edges. An entirely new substance was invented for the disposable filler, fluffy and downy as cotton but amazingly absorbent. The back is moisture-repellent.

You will be astonished and delighted that a napkin could be so noticeably better.

Sparkplug In Local Debut

LITTLE SPARKY ADAMS LIFE OF PIRATES' RECONSTRUCTED INFIELD

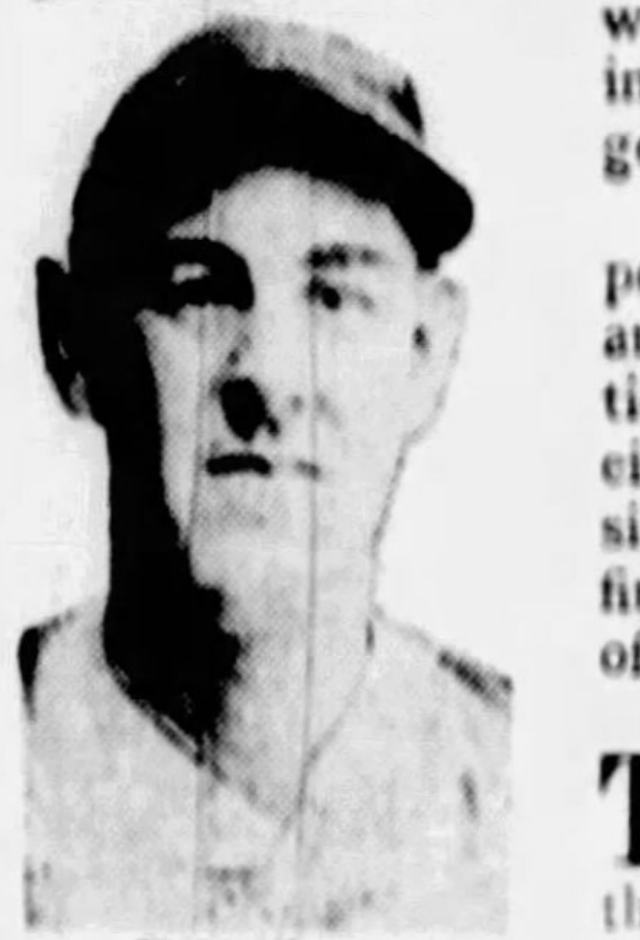
With an admitted weak spot at second base last year, the Pirates were good enough to win the National League pennant. This season they've plugged the gap by getting Sparky Adams from the Cubs in exchange for Kiki Cuyler, and shifted George Grantham to first base to replace Joe Harris, thus completely changing the right side of the infield. As was expected when the Cuyler deal was made, Adams has proved a great acquisition in bolstering the inner works and putting all sorts of life and zip into the play. He made his local bow in a Pirate uniform in the opening game of the home season at Forbes Field today, and the fans had a chance to see him spark and sparkle in his own inimitable way, as suggested by the composite picture above, in which the infielders are superimposed on a picture of the Forbes Field diamond during the action of a play.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Showing of Pirates in First Home Game, Whether Good or Bad, Not to Be Taken as Indication of Season's Form—Below Par But Will Improve—Joe Dawson a Changed Pitcher—Fans Want Dempsey to Return.

NO MATTER whether the Pirates perform like real champions in their opening game of the home season at Forbes Field this afternoon, or slip back into the losing form they showed in the first three contests of the season at St. Louis last week, their work is not to be taken as an indication of the kind of ball they are going to play steadily from now on,



Remy Kremer.

In one case it may be only a temporary flash or the result of bad breaks, and in the other it may be a true indication of the team's lack of fitness. So in either event, do not accept the surface signs at Forbes Field this afternoon as a final indication of the normal strength of the Buccaneers,

THE reason why today's game cannot be fairly used as a criterion is that the Pirates are not yet in their true form. If they happen to get good pitching they may look as good as ever for a day or two, but those will be only outside appearances,

The truth is that it will require good weather and steady playing for another week or 10 days to put the team at its best, Traynor is working with a stiff neck and a sore throwing arm, Smith is still out of commission and the pitching staff is far from being right as whole.

ONE notable case in the slab department is Remy Kremer. In yesterday's workout it was clear that the Frenchman is considerably overweight, and inquiry revealed that whereas he generally scales 190 pounds in pitching form he at present tips the beam around 200. Manager Bush says he will not start him again for four or five days, using Miljus and Grimes after Hill, Dawson following, in order that the big ace may have a chance to attain the form which illness and bad weather kept him from reaching in California. And when a club is deprived of the services of a pitcher like Kremer it is losing something.

BUT even though they are clearly not yet in their true stride, there's everything about the Pirates to indicate that when they do get going properly in a short time they will speedily prove that they are just what they looked to be on paper at the start—the best club and the best pennant bet in the National League. The infield alone is enough to assure that.

Joe Dawson.

Improved playing is assured on the part of both Grantham and Wright, and Adams will not only fill the gap at second base that was a source of worry all last year but his teammates are predicting that he will hit above .300 and be up among the leaders in base-stealing and run-getting.

THE inner defense could stand more pepper and chatter than are in evidence now, but probably the rather quiet quartet will liven things up a lot when another week of games and a chance to put in some solid morning practice licks have brought the team up to something like its true form.

One factor that will help the Corsairs is their high morale and the perfect harmony that prevails. Manager Bush commented on this feature particularly during a chat between orders to the players on the field yesterday. "There isn't a grouch or a crab on this club," said Donie. "Every player has a good word and the best of feeling for all of his teammates, and it's just like one big family. I never knew of a case of more complete or perfect harmony in all my baseball days. Just watch this club."

RALPH (JOE) DAWSON was a pitcher who quickly catches the eye of an observer this spring. For Joe has been made over so thoroughly that it is hard to recognize him. Whereas he always was an overhand pitcher exclusively in his former years, Manager Bush has completely changed his style, so that now he pitches side-arm, underhand and from various other angles. Neither does he throw his screw ball any more. That has been taken away from him and he has been taught to use a curve ball instead. The pitching that Dawson did in Cincinnati last week, though he did not go the distance, indicate that the changes in his delivery have increased his effectiveness.

MANAGER BUSH blames the period of bad weather experienced on the coast for the failure of the Corsairs to be on the right edge at present.

"Before that rainy weather struck us and kept us idle for five straight days," said the Buc skipper, "we were steaming along at such a clip that we seemed certain to be in perfect shape for the opening of the season.

"The best proof is the way our pitchers was going. Remember how the Yanigans, using our regular pitchers, trimmed us in game after game? Well, that was because our regular pitchers were in such fine trim that the first team simply could not touch him. But look at the difference since. Practically every man of the regular slab corps has been laid up with some sort of ailment. Grimes has been about the only sound man, except some of the new hurlers."

WHAT are only rumors of another attempt to come back on the part of Jack Dempsey may yet develop into a public clamor. Dempsey, of course, will ultimately yield to the "wishes of the people" and Tex Rickard will get another of the big breaks which the fistic fortunes appears always to be handing to him. Seriously, Dempsey, slurred when he was champion, seems to be more popular right now than any man in the Queensberry world. Fans ha-ha the suggestion that he is done and unfit to be sent into a ring again. They want him back and they want the whole world to know it.

Jack Dempsey

THAT has often been the case with a fallen or retired champion. Jim Corbett was a public hero when he came back and tried to beat Jeffries, so was Bob Fitzsimmons against the same fighter, and Jeff himself was little short of idol when he announced that he would return to the ring and attempt to win the title back for the white race. Jess Willard wasn't very popular when he held the title but when he tried to come back after defeat he had the masses with him.

YANKS SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON

BOSTON, April 19. — (AP.) — The New York Yankees dropped their first game of the year today, bowing to the Boston Red Sox in the third game of the series, 7 to 6.

The Yankees had won four straight, two from Philadelphia and and two from the Red Sox.

The game, morning encounter of a Patriots' Day double-header, was decided in the eighth inning, when the Red Sox hammered Al Shealy and Wilcy Moore for five hits and four runs. The winning runs were scored after Moore had entered the box.

Shealy pitched invincible ball for five innings, allowing only one hit. He weakened in the sixth, however.

The Zivic brothers are going well in the money ranks again. Jack turned in a decisive victory over Jack Katkish at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, is matched with Jack McCarthy at Chicago next Monday night and has matches in the making with Sammy Baker and Champion Joe Dundee. Pete recently defeated Lou Moscowitz twice and drew with Frankie Garcia in New York and is training now for a bout with Leo (Kid) Roy at Montreal Wednesday night of next week. Picture of the pair was snapped yesterday. Note their jackets, which they wear to break the wind in running on the road.

SHARON HIGH GIRLS' CAGE COACH RESIGNS

SHARON, Pa., April 19.—Miss Agnes Flinn, for the past four years coach of the Sharon High girls' basketball team, has resigned her position, effective in June. Miss Flinn will enter Columbia University this summer to continue her studies.

Under her direction Sharon girls won the 1926 national scholastic cage title and the following year were undefeated in 14 regular contests.

CANUCK GOLFER REACHES PINEHURST SEMI-FINALS

Somerville was out in 35, one under par, to gain a lead of four holes. He finished with 71.

BULLETIN

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP.)—Clarence DeMar, the 39-year-old Melrose printer, won the Boston Marathon today for the sixth time. Pressed hard most of the way by Joie Ray, veteran middle distance runner attempting the marathon distance for the first time, DeMar ran a heady race and was out ahead all the way after pulling out of the ruck of the 241 starters.

BOSTON, April 19. — (AP.) — Under ideal weather conditions, 241 of the 285 entries in the thirty-second annual Boston Athletic Association marathon left the starting line at Hopkinton today at 12 o'clock noon. The sky was overcast, but the roads were dry.

Frank Zuna, winner in 1921 and one of the favorites, was unable to start.

At South Framingham, about five miles from the start, William T. Simons, of the Needham Heights (Mass.) A. A. A., was in the lead. He had covered the distance in 31 minutes 20 seconds, almost a minute faster than last year's time. Demar and William Wilson, of Philadelphia, were close behind.

Demar and Wilson, running side by side, pulled into the lead between South Framingham and Natick, and at the latter place were running smoothly.

Close behind the second group were William Taylor, the Nova Scotian, and Harvey Frick.

Armour Withdraws From Trip Abroad

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Notables of America's golf and tennis circles were bound for Europe aboard the Aquitania today in the annual quest for international laurels. Tennis was represented by Miss Helen Wills, national women's champion, and Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., and golf by three leading American professionals, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Bill Mehlhorn. Tom Armour cancelled his passage at the last moment.

The British open championship, won six times in the last seven years by Americans and now held by Bobby Jones, is the goal of the golfing contingent. Miss Wills will storm the heights at Wimbledon, tennis capital of the British.

For Hagen, the glories of the British open are old, but for the others, Sarazen in particular, success at Sandwich would be prized more highly than victory on any other course.

Hagen said he would ask Archie Compston for a postponement of their 72-hole match, now scheduled for April 27-28 as the American's first warm-up for the open. Hagen explained that the original date of the match would give him only one day of practice after his arrival at Southampton.

Kiwanians Honor Manager Bill McKechnie

The Kiwanis Club of Wilkinsburg, of which Bill McKechnie, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is a member, turned out in a body to honor him at today's opening game with the Pirates at Forbes Field, and will banquet him and the members of his club at the Penn Lincoln Hotel in Wilkinsburg this evening.

McKechnie was presented a gold Kiwanis pin by the club before the game.

SET HIGH MARK

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 19.—(AP.)—What is believed to be a world's record in the American game of tenpins for tournament competition was established here yesterday in the doubles event of the Elks' national bowling tournament when Dominick Devito and Hank Marino of Blue Island, Ill., ran a count of 1,419 to win the doubles title.

Devito was the star of the doubles as he crashed games of 247, 211, and 263 for a count of 724. Marino

NEW YORK, April 19.—Two heavyweights started training today for a match that would have been an outstanding event only a few months ago, but is now just a contest to settle a long disputed question of superiority.

We refer to the impending struggle between Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey a week from next Monday night at the Garden here.

One year ago Sharkey was hot on the trail of Dempsey and Tunney. A year ago next month he earned the shot with Dempsey by knocking out Jimmy Maloney at the Yankee Stadium.

But this is another year.

Without any fanfare of publicity trumpets Sharkey arrived last night at Gus Wilson's training camp at Orangeburg, N. Y., after motoring from Boston, and today he starts a grind far away from the city gymnasiums he favored on other occasions.

Jimmy Johnston, the famous ten percenter, will go up to Orangeburg today to lay out a training routine for Sharkey. Jack Shaw, Italian Jack Herman, Billy Vidabeck and Johnny Krieger have been engaged as sparring partners.

Tex Rickard and Danny Dunn yesterday discussed a match between Johnny Risko and the winner of the Delaney-Sharkey thing. Rickard may have opposition from Jim Mullen, of Chicago, for this attraction.

Delaney is already at work in a Bridgeport gymnasium.

GANS, GORDINI AWAIT BELL

Frankie Gordini of Hazelwood breaks in as a main-bouter in this section at McKeesport tonight, when he faces California Joe Gans, Negro lightweight now making his home in the Tube City, in the 10-round feature event.

Both have appeared on previous M'Keesport cards and have registered well with the fans.

Frankie Porte of Glassport and Ken Hargraves, Negro featherweight of New Kensington, will meet in the six-round semi-final. Young Guido of Niles, O., and Jimmy Belmont of Braddock will battle in the second bout and Charley Brodd and Ed. Gibbons, M'Keesport heavyweights, in the opener.

Happy Childs of New Kensington and Andy Charlton of Wellsburg, W. Va., will meet in the 10-round main event of a show at Clarksburg, W. Va., tomorrow night. Childs recently moved to New Kensington from Wilkes-Barre. He is a stablemate of Johnny Dunn, the bantamweight.

Steve O'Malley of Bellaire, O., and Teddy Welch of McKeesport have been rematched for a 10-round bout at Washington, Pa., April 30, as a result of their good battle in the same ring last Monday night.

Young Terry McGovern of Chambersville and Johnny Horvath of Mansfield, O., will meet in a 10-round bout at Mansfield next Monday night. Monte Sirko and Al Dundee will clash in another 10-rounder on the same card.

BENNY KAUFF ENDS SUIT AGAINST GIANTS

CINCINNATI, April 19.—(AP.)—The suit of Benny Kauff, of Columbus, former star of the New York Giants, to recover $6,652.50 from the owners of the club on a season contract was dismissed in Federal Court when Judge Hickenlooper was informed a settlement had been made. Terms of the settlement were not announced.

Kauff was suspended by Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis in 1921 before his contract expired and he claimed the amount he sought in the suit was due him, although he never finished the season with the Giants.

SHOOTS 120 FOULS

Lou Alman, competing in the Y. M. H. A. foul-shooting tournament, shot 47 out of a possible 50. In practice Alman registered 120 fouls.

High school lads will swim this afternoon in the Fifth Avenue High School pool in quest of the American Red Cross trophy. The meet will begin at 4 o'clock.

The VARSITY COLUMN by Jess M. Carver

BECAUSE Bill Loehr, freshman Phi Gamma Delta, contracted an illness that has been diagnosed as scarlet fever, the Phi Gamma Deltas at Pitt are not attending school today, and Gibby Welch, Don Gwinn and Eddie Knoblock, star members of Frank Shea's Panther track team will not compete in the annual Ohio State relays at Columbus tomorrow and Saturday.

A quarantine has been placed on the "Fiji" fraternity and Gibby and Don and Eddie will have to confine their athletic activities to pinochle and thumb twiddling for the next week at least. Gwinn was to defend his hammer tossing championship at Columbus, and Gibby was going to attempt to win the triathlon weight title and cop the discus throw, in which he placed second last year.

AS A result of the eleventh hour loss of this crack trio, the Pitt team will be greatly weakened at Columbus. Pete Bowen, crack dash man, has been declared ineligible on account of scholastic difficulties, and cannot make the trip.

Ken Webecan and Jim McCullough, sprint stars, and Victor Pickard, pole vaulter and holder of the Ohio State relay championship and record, will be the only Panther representatives at the meet.

GENEVA COLLEGE is having a bit of trouble with Capt. Dave Cullen of the football team, or at least, is having some difficulty in establishing his eligibility. Cullen played on the Geneva varsity last year and also in '26 and '25. In 1924 he was at McKendree College at Lebanon, Ill., and played on the team there.

SUCH a record would apparently give him four years of varsity competition, and as this is not generally being done, it would seem that Cullen is "out" as far as playing for Geneva next fall was concerned.

But the Covenanters claim that McKendree College is not a college in an athletic sense, and say it only counts as a normal school. It is permitted that a man play at a normal school for a year without losing any of his allotted varsity competitive time.

JOHN HOLAHAN, manager of athletics at Duquesne University, has questioned the status of Cullen and has been in touch with McKendree authorities. The Illinois school claims to be a college and states that it awards degrees, according to Manager Holahan.

The Dukes have not formally protested Cullen, but are considering the case thoroughly.

McKendree is listed as a college in the record books.

Landis to Give Yanks World Series Awards

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Commissioner Landis will present world's series souvenirs to the Yankees at the opening day program at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow. The Athletics will be the guests of the world's champions.

President Barnard will present the American League's most valuable player diploma to Lou Gehrig. The raising of flags symbolic of both the American League and the world's champions will wind up the ceremonies.

PENNA. BOXING BODY SUSPENDS SIX BOXERS

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission has announced suspensions as follows:

K. O. (Phil) Kaplan, boxer, New York, indefinitely, for not appearing in Philadelphia.

Francis Cawley, boxer, Pittston, Pa., indefinitely, for not appearing in Wilkes-Barre.

Mickey Michaels, boxer, Philadelphia, indefinitely, because of illness.

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP.)—Virgil Gist, center and forward on the University of Chicago basketball team, has been elected captain for the 1928-29 season.

SOCCER NEWS by TOM BIRKS

THIS week will see the close of the 1927-8 soccer season with its trials and tribulations. Saturday afternoon the second Olympic benefit game will be played at Swissvale when the Switch and Signal eleven faces the West Penn all-stars. Quite a number of tickets have been sold for this battle and a large crowd of soccerites is expected.

Saturday evening the West Penn Valley Referees' Association will hold its annual banquet at the Seventh Avenue Hotel at 7 p. m. Practically all of the leading soccer men of the district have been invited to the festivities.

This is a good sign when the officials have their own banquet. It is a sign that the organization is ready to do things. The local association despite its troubles, compares with any like association in the country and a banquet is a fitting end to a good season.

Sunday will find the playing of the last games in the district before the curtain falls. One game gives the fans quite an interstate aspect for it brings together the German Sport Club, and Akron, last season's Ohio state champions.

PRINCE ALBERT
CRIMP CUT
LONG BURNING PIPE AND CIGARETTE TOBACCO

Closer than a tattooed anchor

P.A. and I are like that. Closer than the paper on the wall. P.A. is so companionable, so genuinely friendly. When you open the tidy red tin, you get a fragrant notice of how friendly it's going to be in a pipe. Then you tamp in a load and apply the match.

Man, that taste! Cool as an Eskimo's front porch. Refreshing as arctic sunshine. Mellow and mild and long-burning, with a full, rich tobacco-body that puts you next to a new kind of pipe-joy. Here's a smoke that you can write home about. It's got everything!

They tell me more P.A. is smoked than any other brand. I believe it, and I think I know why. If you don't know the deep-down satisfaction of a jimmy-pipe and Prince Albert, you've been missing the best bet in the whole tobacco-line. I'm giving it to you straight, Men.

There are TWO full ounces of smoke-contentment in every tidy red tin.

JACK IS "OFF" GENE

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, doesn't care to face Gene Tunney again, but will return to the ring next year to fight Tom Heeney if the New Zealander wins the title from Tunney, according to Promoter Tex Rickard.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

The Allegheny County League will hold a meeting in the near future to pass upon everything appertaining to the running of the league this season. It is announced that the forfeit of $100 will stand as the class of clubs in the league do not warrant any fee raising. Well, that might be all right at this stage of the game, but it might be remarked in passing that one of the clubs in the present four nearly closed up shop before the second half of the race started last season. And had not a reorganization taken place, this would have actually happened.

The signing of Hilty, spitball star, by the Bellevue club was not a surprise for the fans in the know. It has been known in the district ever since Paul Houston decided not to have a club that the north borough officials were on the track of the Export ace.

Had Green Cab gone this season Hilty would have been with the Cabbies, and when their entrance into the County League was denied, Bellevue decided that another first-class hurler would be very acceptable, with the result that an auto trip found Hilty signing the dotted line to a Bellevue contract. He should be very popular with the followers of the club.

The Beckman Chevrolets will open their season Saturday with the Medio Lyceum of the West End. Sunday will find the Beckmans playing at Coraopolis. They have booked some of the best first-class teams and have a few home dates open for good attractions. Write H. E. Lutton, 221 Mathews avenue, or call Lafayette 5687-M.

DONAHOE BOWLERS TO DINE TONIGHT

Donahoe's Duckpin Bowling League will celebrate the closing of its first season with a banquet at Webster Hall tonight. Eight five-men teams competed during the season from October 4 to April 10. Two extra men were on each team, making a total of 56 active participants. The teams were known as Warehouse, Fifth Avenue, Garage, Dormont, Meat, West Park, Groceries and Smithfield and finished the season in the order named.

This first season was remarkably successful in both a social and financial way. There was a spirit of comeraderie among the teams that added immeasurably to the good will among the members of the Donahoe organization.

At times during the year donations were made to various charities. Theater parties were held and the treasury still shows a surplus at the end of the season.

A magnificent trophy will be presented by Donahoe's to the Warehouse champions through Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, at the banquet tonight.

To Edward Garrity and Charles Wingerson goes the credit for organizing the league.

U. S. Runner Still Ahead

MIAMI, Okla., April 19.—(AP.)—Having satisfied the home town folks at Claremore yesterday by spurting along to recapture the lead in the cross country marathon run, Andrew Payne resumed his steady jogging and allowed Peter Cavuzzi of Southampton England, to almost recapture the leadership yesterday.

The Britisher finished first in the 52-mile grind from Chelsea, Okla., in 6:48:23, bringing his elapsed time for the 1,721.1 miles to 287:55:28.

Although Payne did not come in until fifth, when he finished with Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, in a dead heat in 8:21:30, his elapsed time of 287:42:22, gave him a 13-minute advantage over his most persistent rival. The lead has seesawed back and forth between the two for 10 days, while the runners traversed Oklahoma.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., forced out temporarily with stomach trouble, made up his time yesterday and finished second with an elapsed time of 308:14:47, that keeps him in third place. He said he virtually had recovered from the illness.

Ollie Wantinnen of New York finished third in 7:56:30, his elapsed time being 335:00:05.

Louis Perella, Albany, N. Y., finished fourth in 8:16:37, elapsed time being 334:28 flat. Gardner's elapsed time was 325:25:17.

The runners cross the southeastern corner of Kansas today and enter Missouri, pausing at Joplin overnight.

Following are the 12 leaders and their elapsed time:

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 287:42:22.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, 287:55:28.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 308:14:47.

Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 323:03:34.

Ed Gardner, Seattle, 325:25:17.

William Kerr, Minneapolis, 329:23:04.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland, 332:47:28.

Harry Rea, Long Beach, Cal., 334:36:51.

Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., 334:28.

Ollie Wattinnen, New York, 335:00:05.

John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 335:19:58.

Guisto Umek, Trieste, Italy, 342:52:14.

BOWLING

cleared the timbers for counts of 224, 226, and 245 for total 695. The pair as a team counted 471 pins in the opening game, 440 in the next and finished with 508. They went through the series without an error.

A. D. C. TOURNEY

The McKeesport Hupmobiles have displaced the Arcade five of Sharpsville as leaders in the five-men event of the American Duckpin Congress tournament and have hung up a score that is very likely to withstand the remaining assaults of the tourney. The Hups rolled a 2512 score last night, one of the highest team scores of the season in Pittsburgh.

The South Hills team was second high for the night with a 2353 total.

A new doubles team was also placed when R. J. Crawford and Thomas bowled a 1100 score. C. Gillespie and W. Weism came second for the night with 1023 and the combination of Johnson and Luckey was third with 1000.

Some fair scores were rolled in the singles, F. Sukel finishing up ahead of the pack with a 592.

In the women's doubles, A. Bayles and E. Abbott clipped off a 733 score and O'Brien and Schultz 728. E. Abbott was high in the singles with 416.

ROBERT EMMONS VICTIM OF CARBON MONOXIDE

BOSTON, April 19. — (AP.)—Sportsmen today mourned Robert W. Emmons, II, internationally known yachtsman, Harvard football captain in 1895 and baseball promoter, who was found dead seated in an automobile in the garage of his summer residence at Buzzard's Bay yesterday. Death was pronounced due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

In the same year of his graduation from Harvard he acted as head football coach and in 1917 he held the Lawrence Club franchise in the Eastern Baseball League. During the war he was a lieutenant commander overseas.

In 1920 he was managing director of the American yacht Resolute in the race against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV for the American cup. He was 56 years old and a retired broker.

N. Y. RACE SEASON OPENS UNOFFICIALLY TODAY

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS.)—The New York racing season starts unofficially today with the opening of the three-day meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association at Aqueduct. The regular campaign begins next Monday.

S. A. R. SETS GOLF DATES

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

The golf committee of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution, held its first meeting in the William Penn at luncheon today and outlined plans for this season. Col. Franklin Blackstone, chairman of the general committee, presided.

The first tournament locally will be played at the Edgewood Country Club on June 26. A second, for the state championship and the Blackstone-Forsythe trophy, will be played at either the Pittsburgh Field Club or St. Clair Country Club either the latter part of August or early in September.

The first national tournament of the Sons of the American Revolution will be played over the Chevy Chase Country Club links on May 24, the last day of the annual congress of the organization, in Washington. A number of local S. A. R. golfers are expected to compete.

President John Walker, of the Pennsylvania Society, announced he again will present the winner of the state tournament with an S. A. R. insignia, while several other members of the committee announced their intention of donating prizes for tournament play.

Maj. Weaver H. Rogers, president of the Pittsburgh chapter, only recently elected, was given a formal introduction by Chairman Blackstone.

W. K. Gamble was appointed chairman of the registration committee, while A. Wesley Wall was made chairman of the prize committee.

HAPPY FELSCH SIGNS WITH MILMAUKEE TEAM

MILWAUKEE, April 19.—(AP.)—Oscar (Happy) Felsch, banished from organized baseball following the disclosures made after the 1919 world series, has signed a contract to play with the Kosciusko Reds, a Milwaukee team enrolled in the newly organized Wisconsin State League.

Judge A. J. Heading, president of the league, and all clubs consented to the signing of Felsch, it was announced by Al Moran, manager of the Reds.

EARL SANDE RIDES TODAY

NEW YORK, April 19.—Earl Sande, at one time considered America's premier race rider, will ride again today after a winter in which he was barred from all tracks in the country. Sande is expected to have a mount in the initial handicap at Aqueduct, the feature flat race on the two days' program of the United Hunts. He was suspended last fall for alleged roughness on Maryland tracks.

GOLF CONFAB TONIGHT

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

The annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association is slated for the Pittsburgh Athletic Association ball room tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock. It is anticipated that a representative attendance will be on hand. The election of officers, discussion of tournament plans for the season and the showing of golf slow motion pictures are on the program.

Chester H. Lehman of the Westmoreland Country Club will be formally elected president; John (Jock) Graham of the South Hills Country Club, vice president; George A. Ormiston of the Oakmont Country Club, secretary, and James W. Barber of the Chartiers Heights Country Club, treasurer.

Three members will be elected for three-year terms on the executive committee: John W. Carr, of the Pittsburgh Field Club; Harmar J. Denny, Jr., of the Fox Chapel Golf Club, and Robert W. Smith of the Hannastown Country Club.

HAVERS, RAY, BOOMER LOSE IN GOLF PLAY

LONDON, April 19.—(AP.)—British golfing giants had a difficult time in the first round of the Roehampton tournament at match play today as well known golfing names were removed from the list of competitors.

Abe Mitchell and Fred Robyon were the only outstanding stars to survive.

F. G. Holden, an assistant at Roehampton, defeated Arthur Havers, four up and two to play. Charles Johns won from the veteran Ted Ray, seven and six and Bert Hodson stopped Audrey Boomer, one up.

Mitchell won from James Sherlock, three and two, while Robson was beating George Cadd, two and one.

Who said you couldn't do anything about the weather? If spring be warm or chilly you can protect yourself with the new HANES Lightweight Union Suit

MARK TWAIN would still find many people who talk about the weather—but few who never do anything about it. Thousands of men have stopped shivering in nainsook when north winds blow in the springtime. They're no longer suffocated by winter underwear when sudden warm spells come.

HANES has given them a new lightweight knitted union suit—specially designed for all kinds of spring weather. Knitted from full-combed yarn. Soft, fine. Made to fit all over by two measures—trunk and chest.

Buttons sewed on with plenty of good stout thread. Reinforced buttonholes that are made for buttoning. Short sleeves. Three-quarter or ankle length. Rayon trimmed throughout. Absolutely guaranteed—every thread, stitch and button. Examine this garment at your dealer's. Look for the special HANES Gold Label. The price is only $1.50 the garment. If he hasn't it, write to P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Forbes

Best Students Make Best Business Men, Facts Show.

By B. C. FORBES

IF you want your organization to succeed, select as employes and executive men who succeed at school or at college.

Youths who aspire to climb high in business or the professions would do well to climb while at school, for, if they do not, their chances of doing so later in life are distinctly poorer.

New authentic records proving this have been compiled by President Walter S. Gifford, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

EDISON was thrown out of school before he was 10 because he was declared incapable of absorbing education! Henry Ford while at school was not of the Phi Beta Kappa type. The dynamic, active head of another large and prosperous business enterprise was ousted from school before he had finished the primary grades because, like Edison, he was considered a hopeless dunce and could not reach a higher class even after two or three years of effort. I could name numbers of self-made multi-millionaire men of affairs who not only made miserable progress at school, but remained very largely illiterate all through life.

These must be regarded, however, as exceptions to what is being proved the rule. Quite a number of America's best-managed corporations and banks have been aware of this rule for 5 to 15 years. Frank A. Vanderlip, when president of the National City Bank of New York, was the first important business organization head I knew of who applied to leading colleges to supply his institution with the cream of their graduates. Each year sees a marked increase in application by corporations for students who have distinguished themselves.

Now the data carefully compiled covering the Bell system proves conclusively that students who made their mark at college are making their mark in business. Also that students who ranked low in their classes have ranked low since.

Not only so, but here is a peculiarly significant discovery: "The longer the best students are in business, the more rapidly their earnings rise. The longer the poor students are in business, the slower their earnings rise," to quote Mr. Gifford in an article in the current issue of Harper's Magazine.

HERE are other illuminating statements:

"Next to the men who graduated in the first tenth of their classes come those who were in the first third of their classes. Their average earnings are lower than the earnings of the men in the first tenth of their classes, but better than any other group.

"Of the 3,806 men studied, 1,468 graduated in the middle third of their classes, and the median man's earnings in this group by the time they are 30 years out of college is somewhat less than two-thirds that of the median man among those in the first tenth of their classes.

"The 784 men who graduated in the lowest third of their classes have earned the least.

"It is clear that, in the Bell System, on the average, men who were good students have done better than those who were not.

"IN general the normal expectation is that any college graduate entering business has one chance in three of standing in salary among the highest third of all the college graduates in his company. From this study it appears that the man in the first third in scholarship at college, five years or more after graduation, has not merely one chance in three, but about one in two of standing in the first third in salary. The man in the lowest third in scholarship has, instead of one chance in three, only about one in five of standing in the highest third in salary. There is also nearly one chance in two that he will stand in the lowest third in salary.

"The man in the highest tenth in scholarship college has not one chance in 10, but merely two chances in 10 of standing in the highest tenth in salary. The man in the lowest third, on the other hand, has instead of one in 10, only one in 22 of standing in the first tenth in salary."

SURELY the foregoing will interest parents, teachers, school children, college students and executives.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—A steadier tone developed in the raw sugar market early today and all nearby sugars were absorbed by operators at advances of 1-32c. The sales reported included 15,000 bags of Porto Rican and 35,000 bags Philippines afloat at 4.40c.

Raw sugar futures opened 1 to 2 points higher in response to the better London cables and to the steadier tone of the spot market. Shorts covered and together with some new outside buying, absorbed the moderate offerings from trade interests and the market continued firm throughout the remainder of the forenoon and at midday showed net gains of 2 to 3 points.

There were no new features in the refined situation. The trade continued to withdraw against old contracts, but new business was light. Prices were unchanged at 5.95 to 6.00c for fine granulated, and while some second-hand sugars were still obtainable at below these figures, they were not so abundant.

Exchange Calls Holiday to Catch Up

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP.)—The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange today voted to close the exchange on next Saturday to allow member firms to clear up an accumulation of clerical work resulting from the recent string of 4,000,000 share days.

Officers of the exchange and of member firms, however, will remain open to transact regular routine business.

This will be the third special holiday declared by the exchange since the present "bull market" began on March 9, trading having been suspended on Good Friday and the succeeding Saturday.

The Curb market also voted to suspend trading on Saturday to permit its members to catch up on their work. Private dispatches to Wall street declared that exchanges in other centers, including Chicago, would not be open.

STOCK ADVANCE SPREADS, NEW HIGHS MADE

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—With Wall street apparently convinced that no immediate increase in Federal Reserve rediscount rates was likely; and general expectations of a sharp reduction in brokers' loans this week, speculators for the advance had little difficulty today in bringing about a sharp rise in prices. Early gains in scores of active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 15 points, with trading in fairly heavy volume.

Lowering of the renewal rate on call money from 4¾ to 4½ per cent also helped to stimulate bullish enthusiasm. Buying orders were spread over a broad list, more than a score issues reaching new high ground by early afternoon. In order to give stock exchange members time to catch up with the accumulation of work occasioned by the recent string of 4,000,000-share sessions, the board of governors voted today to close the exchange on Saturday.

Delaware and Hudson, which is expected to become the "bridge line" in the proposed plan of eastern railroad consolidations, extended its early gain to nearly 14 points by touching a new high record at 191½. Pere Marquette, Canadian Pacific and Hudson and Manhattan advanced 2 to 4 points and St. Paul common moved up to another new peak price.

Express shares, which have been heavy recently, were again in brisk demand, American Railway Express soaring 10 points and American Express 4. American Sumatra Tobacco, Purity Baking B, Woolworth, Anaconda Copper, American Smelting, Calumet and Hecla, Greene Cananea, Public Service of New Jersey, Ludlum Steel, Allied Chemical, Standard Milling, Martin Parry and Fairbanks-Morse were among the many issues to claim 3 points or more.

Managing Your Estate

THE most serious problem, which confronts your estate, is the loss of your personal management.

After you have worked hard to accumulate a fortune for the protection of those you love, do not place the entire responsibility for its management upon those least fitted to carry out your ideas.

Few individuals have the ability, inclination or experience to wisely administer an estate.

Appoint The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh as your Executor and Trustee and let it conserve your property and give adequate protection to your heirs.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Exchanges Closed Saturday.

The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange will be closed on Saturday, directors here taking similar action to the governors of the New York Stock Exchange, who voted to suspend operations for the short week-end session in order to provide an opportunity for the overburdened clerical forces of the brokerage houses to catch up with the enormous volume of work which has piled up over the past several weeks. The New York Curb Exchange will also be closed. These are the principal stock trading markets and their closing means that stock transactions throughout the country will be at a minimum if, in fact, any business at all is transacted. A series of 4,000,000-share days on the New York Exchange following a month in which the daily turnovers seldom fell below 3,000,000 has taxed the operating facilities of the brokerage business to such an extent that a let-down is absolutely necessary to prevent inextricable confusion in accounts, etc. The tremendous strain under which the order departments and clerical forces have had to work since the beginning of March is proving too much for employes and owners as well, and the interspersion of breathing space comes none too soon. In some quarters the hope was expressed that the New York Exchange action is the forerunner of the establishment of a straight five-day week in the securities markets.

KSU March Earnings Off.

Kansas City Southern Railway, first to report March earnings, had railway operating income of $416,211, a decrease of $29,585 from March, last year, and for the first quarter $1,288,599, a decline of $37,457 under a year ago. March gross revenues were $57,989 less.

New Haven's Rehabilitation.

E. J. Pearson, president of New Haven Railroad, at the annual meeting said: "Notwithstanding reduction of 2.23 per cent, or $3,161,483 in revenue during 1927 as compared with 1926, the net income was better by $1,580,580 up to the end of March, there had been a further reduction of 4.27 in revenues under 1927, aggregating $600,000. However, the reduction in expenses has caused net income on the common stock to be better than that earned in the same period of 1927. During the past 15 years while no dividends have been paid, over $92,000,000 net has been invested in additions and betterments. During these years of no dividends, while the property has been added to and improved largely out of earnings, stockholders have foregone over $134,000,000 in dividends on a 6 per cent basis. If one-half only of the benefits which have resulted from efficiency and economy which has been accomplished during recent years could have been retained for the benefit of stockholders, satisfactory dividends could have been paid."

Commonwealth Power.

Earnings of Commonwealth Power Corporation and subsidiaries for the year ended March 31 were equivalent to $19.28 on the preferred and $4.86 on the common, compared with $15.22 on the preferred and $3.62 on the common in the previous 12 months. Surplus after preferred dividends was $6,961,620, against $5,407,245 the year before.

Bond Club Luncheon Friday.

The weekly luncheon of the Pittsburgh Bond Club will be held at the William Penn on Friday, this week, instead of today, because of the opening of the baseball season. Many of the members requested this change on account of out-of-town customers that they were entertaining. With baseball in the air and in the thoughts and minds of every one, Prescott Lyon, host for the luncheon, decided to give it a touch of the great national pastime. He invited Honus Wagner to be the club's guest and talk to them on "Baseball—Past and Present."

A new issue of $1,650,000 6 per cent serial mortgage gold bonds of the Pittsburgh Hotels Corporation is being offered by a syndicate composed of West & Co., Biddle & Henry, and Prescott, Lyon & Co. The bonds are dated March 1, 1928, and due serially from September 1, 1930, to March 1, 1940, and priced to yield from 5.10 to 6.25 per cent, according to maturity. This issue is secured by a closed mortgage on the two largest hotels in Pittsburgh, the William Penn and Fort Pitt, and a service building. It is further secured by a pledge of the entire capital stock of a subsidiary company which will own the furniture and equipment. The two hotels, upon completion of a 546-room addition to the William Penn Hotel, will contain a total of 2,128 guest rooms. These bonds are preceded only by $10,350,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds and followed by $2,400,000 15-year 6½ per cent sinking fund gold debentures; $1,900,000 7 per cent cumulative prior preference stock, $100 par value; $3,250,000 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value, and 200,000 shares of no-par common.

Texon Oil and Land.

Texon Oil and Land Company received dividends of $1,072,667 from Big Lake Oil Company and Group No. 1 Oil Corporation during the year ended March 31, according to a letter to stockholders from Frank T. Pickrell, vice president and general manager. The company enjoyed a profitable year in the face of generally unfavorable conditions in the oil industry and paid a dividend of 20 per cent last April. The annual report will be forwarded to stockholders in a few days. The company has contracts for the coming year involving deliveries of between 7,500 and 10,500 barrels a day of its Winkler county (Texas) crude. Net profit on these contracts, Mr. Pickrell says, should be something over $1,500,000. Regan County Purchasing Company, an affiliated concern, has a surplus of $5,800,000, the major portion of which will be distributed shortly, and Texon will receive approximately $1,000,000 through this distribution. In concluding his statement, Mr. Pickrell said that "all of these factors lead one to conclude that the coming year will be the greatest year in the history of the company, from the point of view of earnings." "The areas upon which production has already been encountered, the development of which has been held back by reason of overproduction, forms an excellent reserve for the continuance of operations when the circumstances warrant."

Five-for-One Split Recommended.

A committee of United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company directors recommends to stockholders that the common and preferred shares be split up on a basis of five new no-par common shares for each present $100 par common share, and five new $20 par 6 per cent cumulative preferred for each $100 preferred share now held. In addition, each present preferred holder will receive 1½ shares of new preferred.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company reports for the March quarter net income of $1,663,615 after charges and federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $1.43 a share on the common stock, against $2,256,913 or $2.02 a share in the March, 1927, quarter.

American Sheet at 90 Per Cent.

The American Sheet and Tinplate Company sustains a 90 per cent operating basis, while independents are running 85 to 100 per cent. Steady specifications on the part of customers is enabling Pittsburgh bar finishers to operate between 70 to 80 per cent capacity. Bar mills continue to operate on an 80 to 85 per cent basis, with demand particularly heavy from cold bar finishers.

Granby Shows Larger Loss.

Granby Consolidated Mining reports net loss of $844,650 for the year ended December 31, after interest, depreciation and depletion, compared with loss of $527,772 in 1926.

Food Prices Decline.

Retail food prices on March 15 were 0.2 per cent below February 15 prices, according to the Department of Labor. Compared with last year, a decrease of 1½ per cent is shown, and compared with 1913 prices, an increase of 56 per cent was shown.

Big Bank Sees Improvement.

Business is now in the full swing of spring activity, says the National Bank of Commerce, in New York. Developments the last 30 days have been favorable and the outlook is for maintenance of production and consumption at high levels well into May. Some seasonal slackening is to be expected as mid-summer approaches, but present indications are that it will be no more than normal.

Curb Stocks as Collateral.

Bankers are reported to be discussing plans by which all better grade curb market securities would be accepted as collateral on the same basis as securities listed on the stock exchange. Only special loans are made at the present time on selective curb stocks at higher interest than the prevailing rate.

Oil Well Supply.

Large year-end write-off which carried book values of inventories and other assets down to rock bottom were made at the end of 1927 by the Oil Well Supply Company. Curtailment in oil drilling activity, which started in the spring of 1927, was responsible for reduced demand for most of the company's products and for much of the slump in net income. For 1927 net of $490,502 after depreciation, interest and taxes was equivalent to four cents a share on the 366,567 shares of common stock after preferred dividends. This compared with $2,645,227, or $4.81 a share on 325,000 common shares in 1926. Demand for oil drilling supplies is still light, but with these losses charged off the company is in a position to show better earnings. Sales to foreign countries were in fairly good volume early this year, but they have declined in recent months. Officials are optimistic about the domestic outlook.

Ford's Surplus Decreased.

Ford Motor Company has filed with the Massachusetts Commissioner of Corporations, its balance sheet dated December 31, 1927. This statement reveals the effect of the long shut-down occasioned by redesigning of the Ford car and re-tooling of the assembling plants. Profit and loss surplus at the year end was $654,851,061 compared with $697,637,788 on December 31, 1926, indicating loss of $42,786,727. This indicated loss does not take into consideration any dividends which may have been withdrawn from the business during the year by the three owners—Henry Ford, Mrs. Henry Ford and Edsel B. Ford. It is unlikely, however, that any dividends were disbursed in view of the reorganization of plant and product.

Standard Oil of Kentucky.

The fact that Standard Oil Company of Kentucky showed a surplus in its 1927 balance sheet in excess of outstanding capitalization has strengthened the belief in financial circles that a stock dividend will be ordered soon. Discussions point to a distribution of at least 50%. Surplus at end of last year was $17,277,497, in contrast to outstanding capital stock ($25 par) of $17,013,010. There is no funded debt. Despite unfavorable conditions in the general oil industry last year, Kentucky reported net income of $4,492,008 after charges, or $6.56 a share on the 681,120 shares of stock. For 1926 net was $7,309,568, or $10.74 a share on 680,502 shares. After payment of $3,072,831 in dividends during 1927, the company carried $1,419,177 to its surplus account from profits of that year.

Midland Steel Products.

Midland Steel Products Company reports for quarter ended March 31, 1928, profit of $630,551 after interest and depreciation but before federal taxes, compared with profit of $603,048 before federal taxes in first quarter of 1927. Stock outstanding consists of 96,920 shares of 8% preferred and 50,000 shares of no par common stock.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 19.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 8 points under selling inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables and a fairly favorable view of the weather map.

May eased off to 19.22c and October to 19.59c, net declines of about 10 points, but covering and trade-buying at these figures, steadied up the market again, recovering about its early losses by the end of the first hour. Warmer weather reported in the South was considered a favorable feature, but the outlook for scattering showers was regarded by some traders as suggesting that conditions were not yet altogether settled.

Liverpool cables said some Liverpool buying there had been supplied by liquidation, with the market influenced by depression in Egyptian cotton.

The advance from the opening decline later carried the market up to 20.13c for May and 19.76c for October, or about 7 to 11 points above yesterday's closing quotations. Some broadcasting of commission house demand was reported on the advance which was supposed to reflect nervousness over the new crop start, but there was a little more realizing at the higher prices and the market at midday was quiet at reactions of 4 or 5 points.

SCREW AND BOLT SELLS OFF

Recent absorption of Standard Sanitary Manufacturing shares was further reflected on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today when bidders for the stock offered the highest price in more than a month to obtain wanted shares.

Firming tendency in Standard became noticeable several days ago, but the advance has been slow and there had been a fair amount available at the market up to yesterday's late session. Chief cause of the current strength is the sustained activity in the building industry, principal consumer of Standard's products. The season of heaviest demand is just ahead, and while there has been some talk of a rather slow first quarter for the company, the ensuing months are expected to more than make up for the slight let-down at the beginning of the year. It was announced today that the company had advanced the prices on enamelware 5 per cent, a move which was followed by some of the other big producers.

The fuel issues displayed a slight sagging tendency, but no great amount of selling occurred. Waverly Oil class A stock touched a new low, a fraction under the last previous price. Arkansas Gas was firm.

Some of the miscellaneous manufacturing issues found a thin demand when offered for sale and transactions showed a receding tendency. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt dropped back a point or so and Armstrong Cork sold at the lowest since the shares were listed last month, breaking through 60 for a loss of almost a point. On the other hand, May Drug Stores showed considerable strength, opening more than a point above the previous close and making further gains on small-lot trades.

SATISFACTORY ownership of real estate depends upon the managerial ability of the owner or of those who have charge of it for him.

There are owners to whom the care of real estate is a business in which they find pleasure and remunerative employment.

For others who may not care to attend to the details of their properties, such as negotiating with tenants, repairmen, etc., the Peoples Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, through its Real Estate Department, provides efficient management, assuming entire charge of real estate and relieving the owner of the details connected therewith, and yet keeping him posted regarding the condition of his investment from time to time.

Included in the services rendered for the owner is the matter of the assessment for taxes, the payment of the taxes at the proper times, supervising of repairs and improvements to buildings, securing tenants, preparing leases, collecting rents and rendering detailed statements with remittances at regular periods.

The charge for these services is not excessive.

The Peoples Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh also acts as agent in the purchase of real estate or in the selling thereof. It provides a place to which an owner may come for a conference in the attempt to solve problems which may confront him from time to time, and should he desire to be away on an extended journey, he can have the satisfaction of knowing that with his real estate in charge of this Company, he will be able to travel indefinitely, knowing that his property will be properly cared for during his absence.

An interview with the manager of the Department is suggested to those who desire to know more about the methods used in managing the properties in our charge.

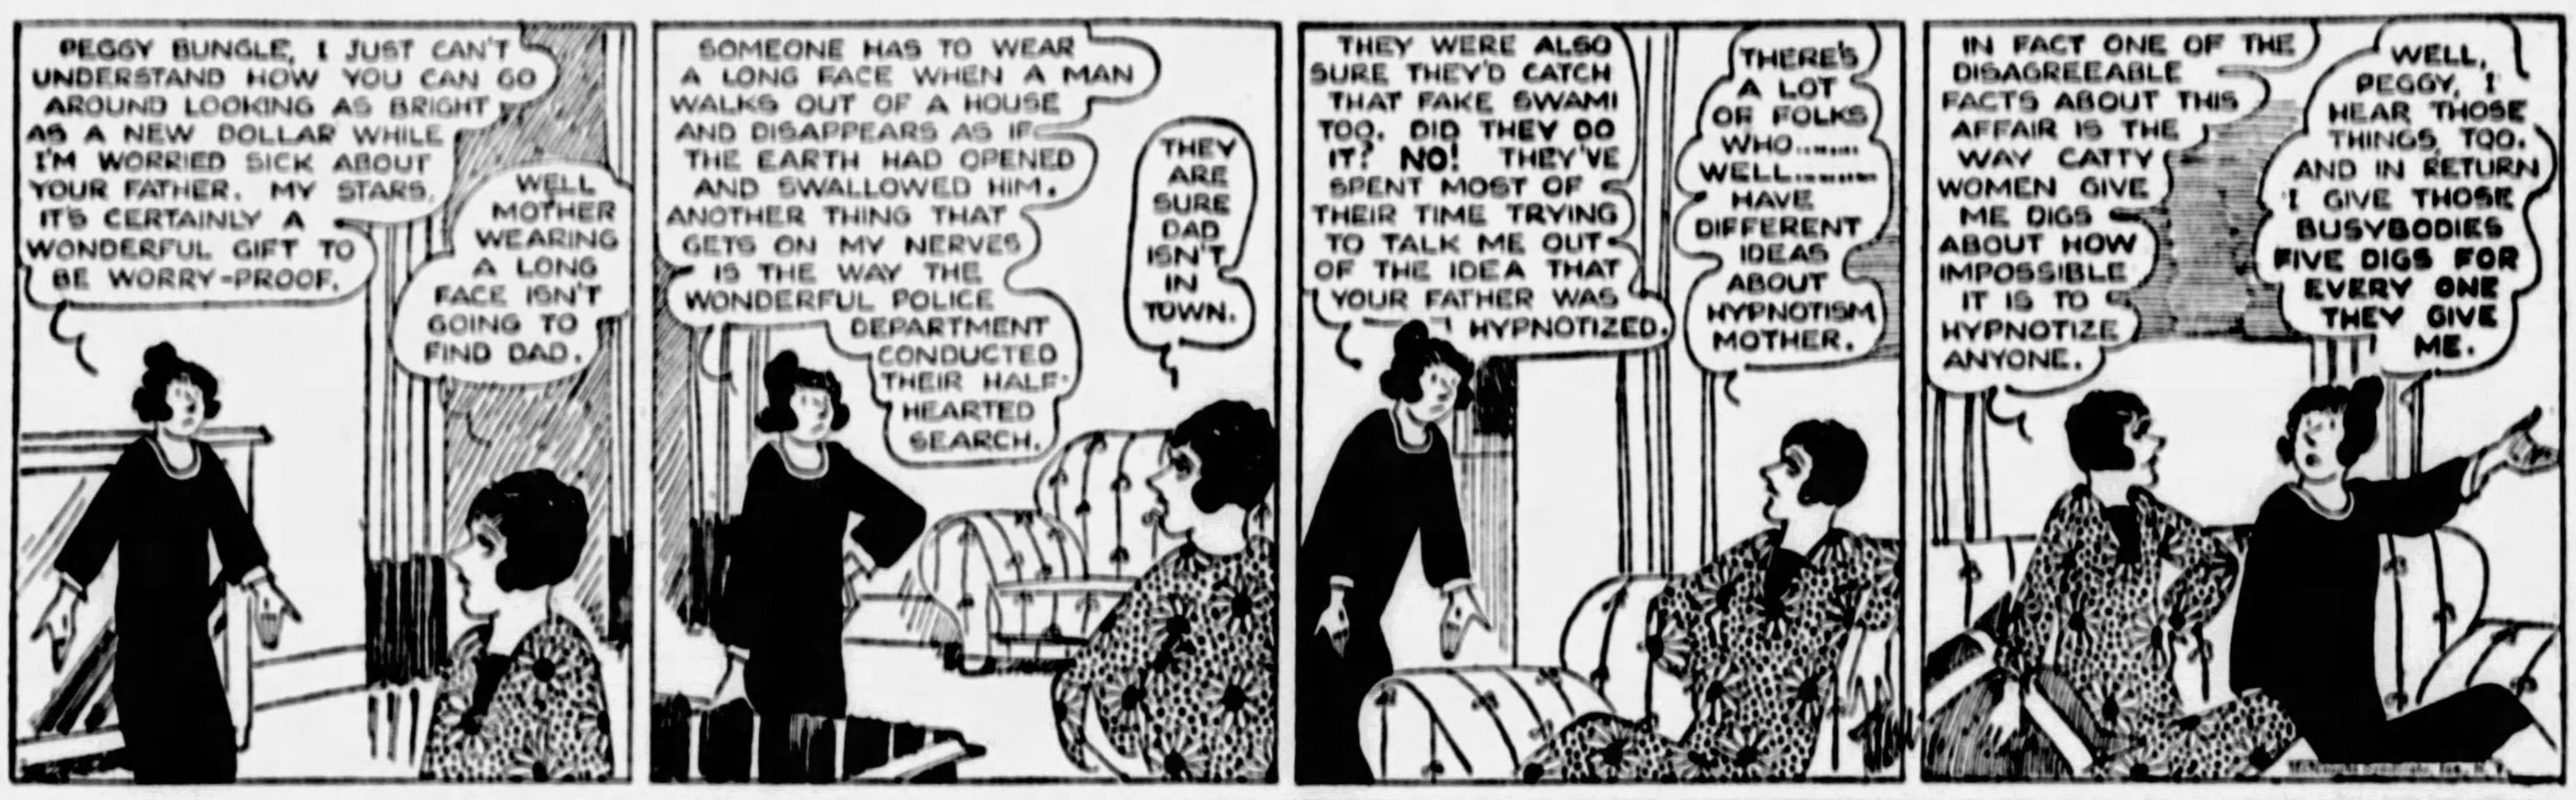
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

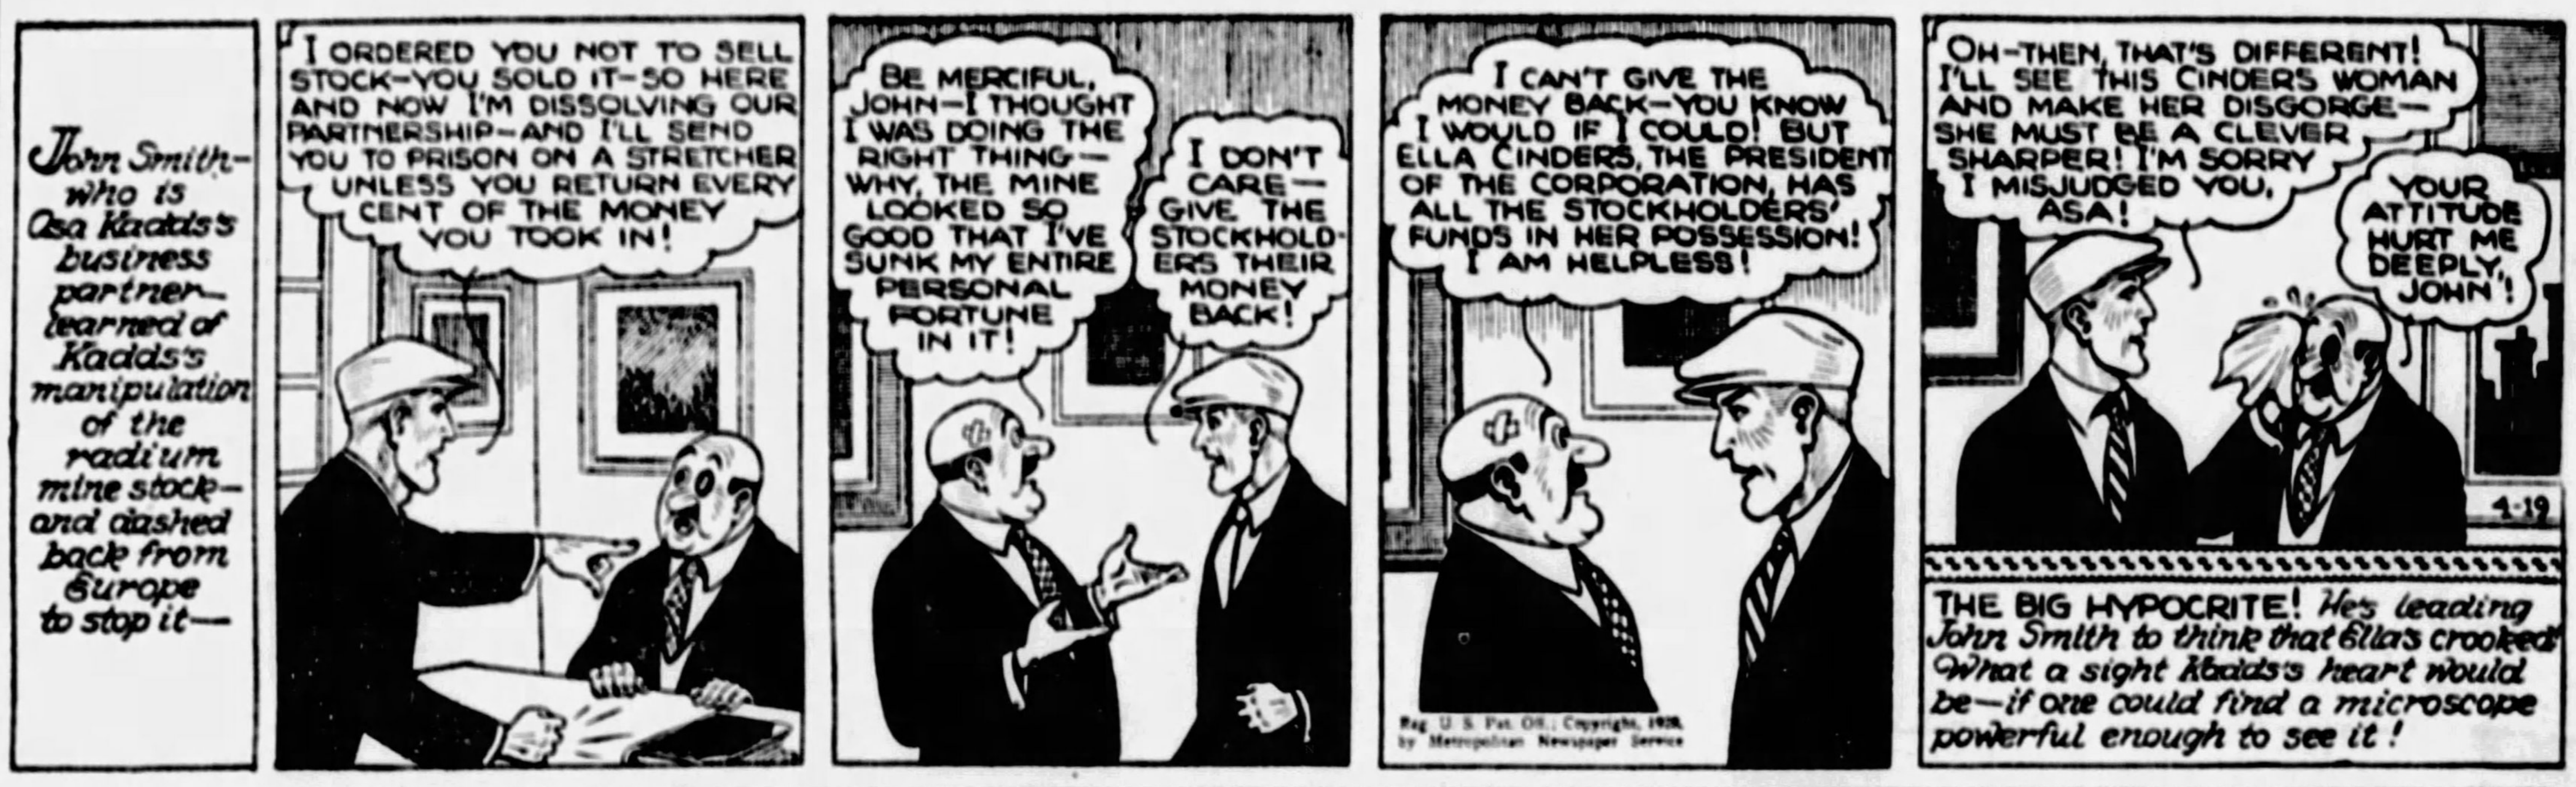
Digging In



PEGGY BUNGLE, I JUST CAN'T UNDERSTAND HOW YOU CAN GO AROUND LOOKING AS BRIGHT AS A NEW DOLLAR WHILE I'M WORRIED SICK ABOUT YOUR FATHER. MY STARS, IT'S CERTAINLY A WONDERFUL GIFT TO BE WORRY-PROOF.
WELL MOTHER WEARING A LONG FACE ISN'T GOING TO FIND DAD.
SOMEONE HAS TO WEAR A LONG FACE WHEN A MAN WALKS OUT OF A HOUSE AND DISAPPEARS AS IF THE EARTH HAD OPENED AND SWALLOWED HIM. ANOTHER THING THAT GETS ON MY NERVES IS THE WAY THE WONDERFUL POLICE DEPARTMENT CONDUCTED THEIR HALF-HEARTED SEARCH.
THEY ARE SURE DAD ISN'T IN TOWN.
THEY WERE ALSO SURE THEY'D CATCH THAT FAKE SWAMI TOO. DID THEY DO IT? NO! THEY'VE SPENT MOST OF THEIR TIME TRYING TO TALK ME OUT OF THE IDEA THAT YOUR FATHER WAS HYPNOTIZED.
THERE'S A LOT OF FOLKS WHO...... WELL...... HAVE DIFFERENT IDEAS ABOUT HYPNOTISM MOTHER.
IN FACT ONE OF THE DISAGREEABLE FACTS ABOUT THIS AFFAIR IS THE WAY CATTY WOMEN GIVE ME DIGS ABOUT HOW IMPOSSIBLE IT IS TO HYPNOTIZE ANYONE.
WELL, PEGGY, I HEAR THOSE THINGS, TOO. AND IN RETURN I GIVE THOSE BUSYBODIES FIVE DIGS FOR EVERY ONE THEY GIVE ME.

ELLA CINDERS

A Typical Kadds Trick



John Smith—who is Asa Kadds's business partner—learned of Kadds's manipulation of the radium mine stock—and dashed back from Europe to stop it—

I ORDERED YOU NOT TO SELL STOCK—YOU SOLD IT—SO HERE AND NOW I'M DISSOLVING OUR PARTNERSHIP—AND I'LL SEND YOU TO PRISON ON A STRETCHER UNLESS YOU RETURN EVERY CENT OF THE MONEY YOU TOOK IN!
BE MERCIFUL, JOHN—I THOUGHT I WAS DOING THE RIGHT THING—WHY, THE MINE LOOKED SO GOOD THAT I'VE SUNK MY ENTIRE PERSONAL FORTUNE IN IT!
I DON'T CARE—GIVE THE STOCKHOLDERS THEIR MONEY BACK!
I CAN'T GIVE THE MONEY BACK—YOU KNOW I WOULD IF I COULD! BUT ELLA CINDERS, THE PRESIDENT OF THE CORPORATION, HAS ALL THE STOCKHOLDERS' FUNDS IN HER POSSESSION! I AM HELPLESS!
OH—THEN, THAT'S DIFFERENT! I'LL SEE THIS CINDERS WOMAN AND MAKE HER DISGORGE—SHE MUST BE A CLEVER SHARPER! I'M SORRY I MISJUDGED YOU, ASA!
YOUR ATTITUDE HURT ME DEEPLY, JOHN!

BUGS BAER Says

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

MR. BRISBANE, who sees power in buttercups and gorillas in paper dolls, asks us what would have happened in New York if the Bremen had been loaded with T. N. T.

Nothing would have happened to New York if the boys cannot steer any better than that.

They landed 1,220 miles out of line.

The Irish claim the Dutchmen were steering.

The Germans insist that there must have been an argument as to the proper direction.

And the fact that the Bremen landed in Newfoundland proves that Fitzmaurice won the debate.

Lindbergh, Byrd, Levine flew clockwise and had no difficulty in locating Europe.

Koehl, Fitz and the Baron aimed for New York and astonished the Eskimo Rotary Club on Greenley Island.

And though we dread the impact of the thought on civic pride, patriotism and municipal reaction, we are faced with the horrible conclusion that the Eiffel Tower is a better landmark than Grover Whalen's high silk hat.

Pirates' Home Season Opening Thrills Fan

The Pirates answer to the ''Play ball!'' call on their home grounds for the first time this season today—the day of days to the case-hardened, confirmed baseball fan,

It is ''Der Tag,'' to which mental toasts have been drunk during the weeks of the training season and the days of the games away from home, which, however, do not count as being in the season. For us the season begins today, and what has gone before has only been preliminary to the glory of the risen sun of baseball that appears in the eastern sky today.

There are some to whom a baseball game is just a ball game, whether it be played at the beginning or at the end of the season, but we fear these poor souls have never assimilated the nourishment upon which a real baseball fan feeds and thrives.

The opening of the baseball season, to the dyed-in-the-wool fan, is a notable festal occasion, and for him the days preceding it merely are squares on the calendar on which numbers are marked. The year begins when the umpire bawls ''Batter up!''

To him—and most of us are ''him''—today is the day above all others. Let us be gentle with him and not chide him—we'll all be as crazy as he is when the season gets hot and the race becomes close.

Boys Will Plant Trees And Become Benefactors

The President's proclamation designating a national forestry week will find one response in Allegheny county in the planting of 100,000 trees in North and South county parks by schoolboys. Beginning Saturday, groups of 60 boys will visit each park, a different group each day, ending Friday, April 27. Boys from public and parochial schools and members of the Boy Scouts will participate. Trees will be furnished by the State Department of Forestry.

Time will prove this to be one of the most excellent things ever done in the county. In future years the boys who will take part in this work will be proud of the evidence of their day in the park. In a few years the trees they plant will have attained a growth that will cause them to feel that they—boys—took part in a big service, which it really is.

We are proud of the spirit of these boys. They are doing something big for future generations, and they are also doing something for themselves. They are gaining an insight into the wonders of nature, laying a foundation which will make them lovers of trees and of all which nature gives us to enjoy.

Dr. McCormick's Death Is Loss to Pittsburgh

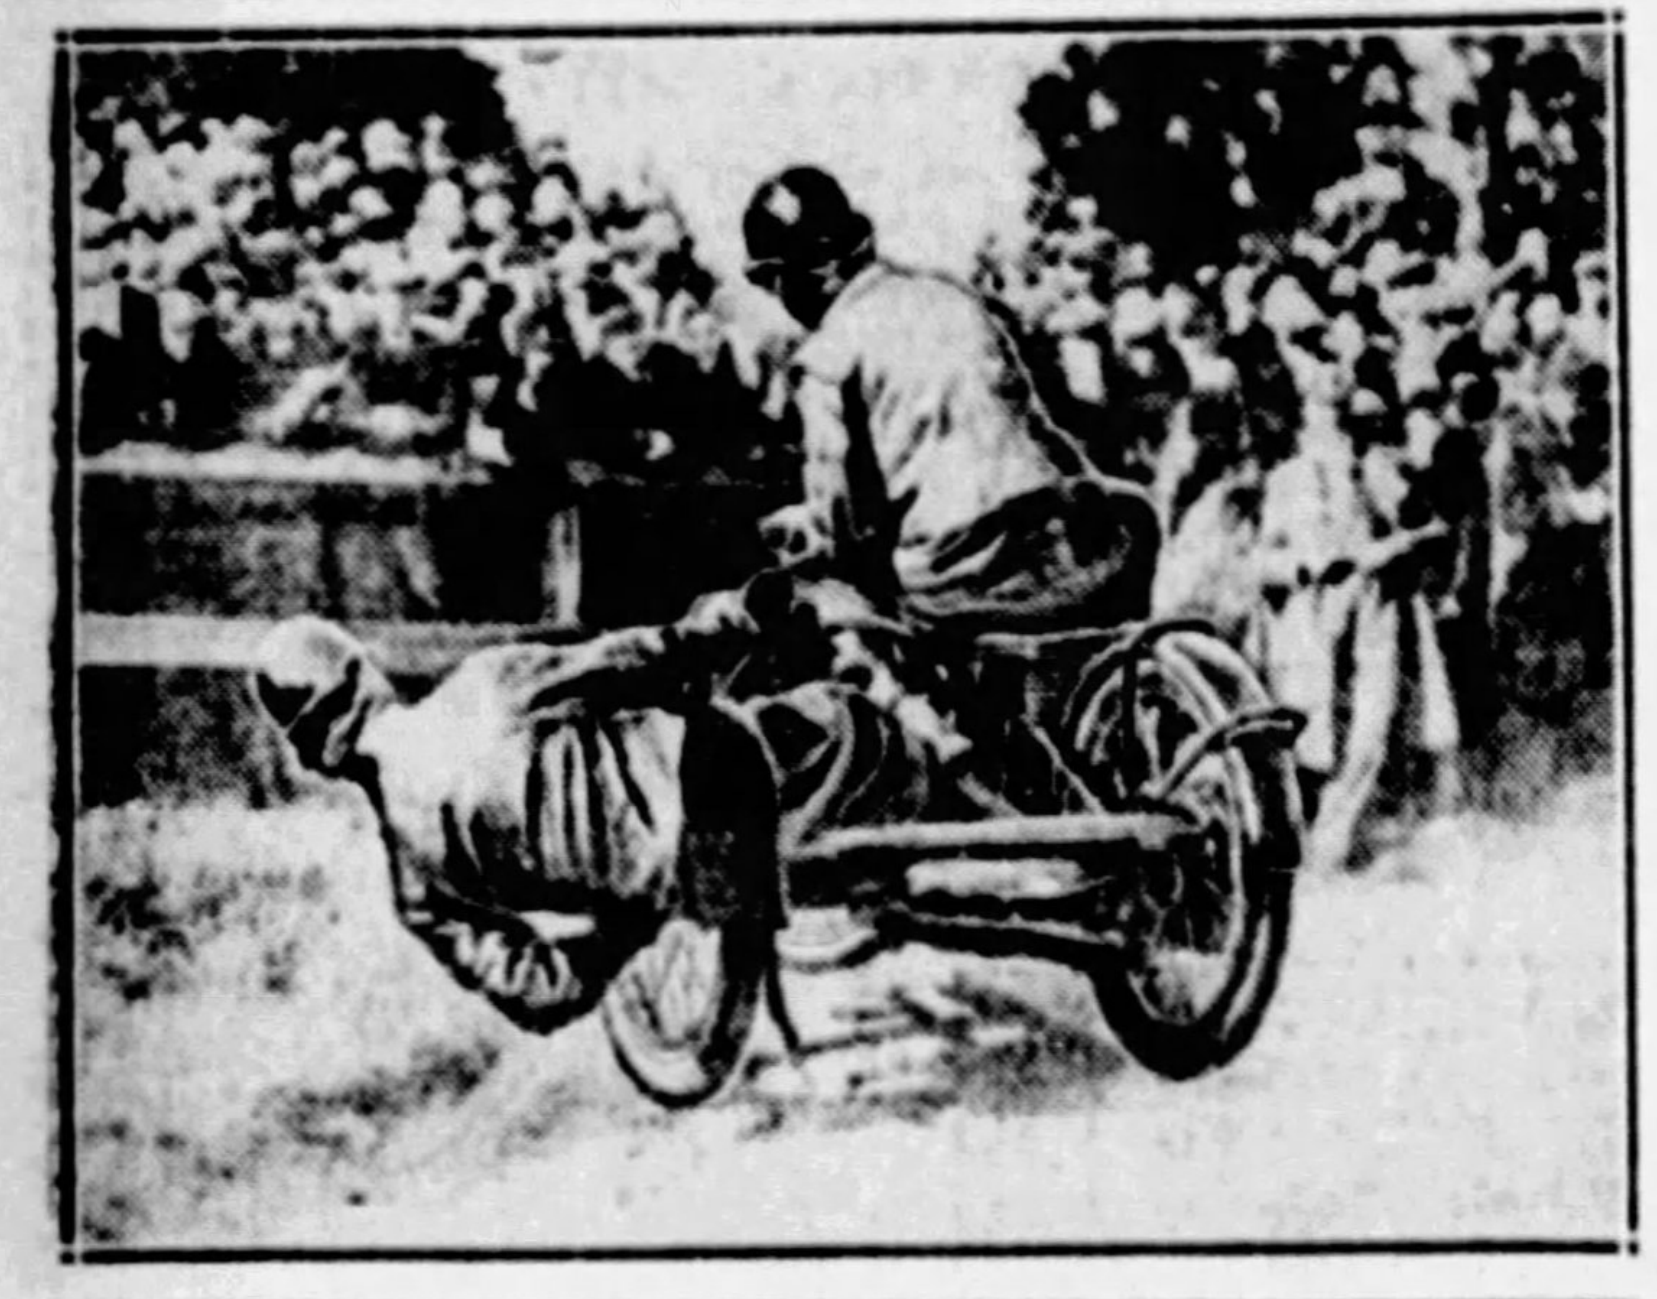
Dr. Samuel Black McCormick, whose death is noted in the news of the day, was a builder of Pittsburgh. The position of chancellor emeritus served to cement the ties between the deceased educator and the University of Pittsburgh. The transition of this school from a comparatively insignificant institution of learning to one of the important seats of higher education in the United States developed during his regime as active chancellor.

Aside from his notable career as an educator, Dr. McCormick was active for many years in various ways for the betterment of Pittsburgh. Although a busy man, he lent his voice and his abilities to the furtherance of civic projects. Like the late "Uncle John" Brashear, he was in demand as a disseminator of popular education and his discourses before luncheon and other groups bore the enlightening influence of one who spoke the language of the layman with the authority of a teacher.

His passing is a loss to Pittsburgh and to the cause of education.

Could You Do This?

It's Fighting Gravitation



TAKING A CORNER AT HIGH SPEED

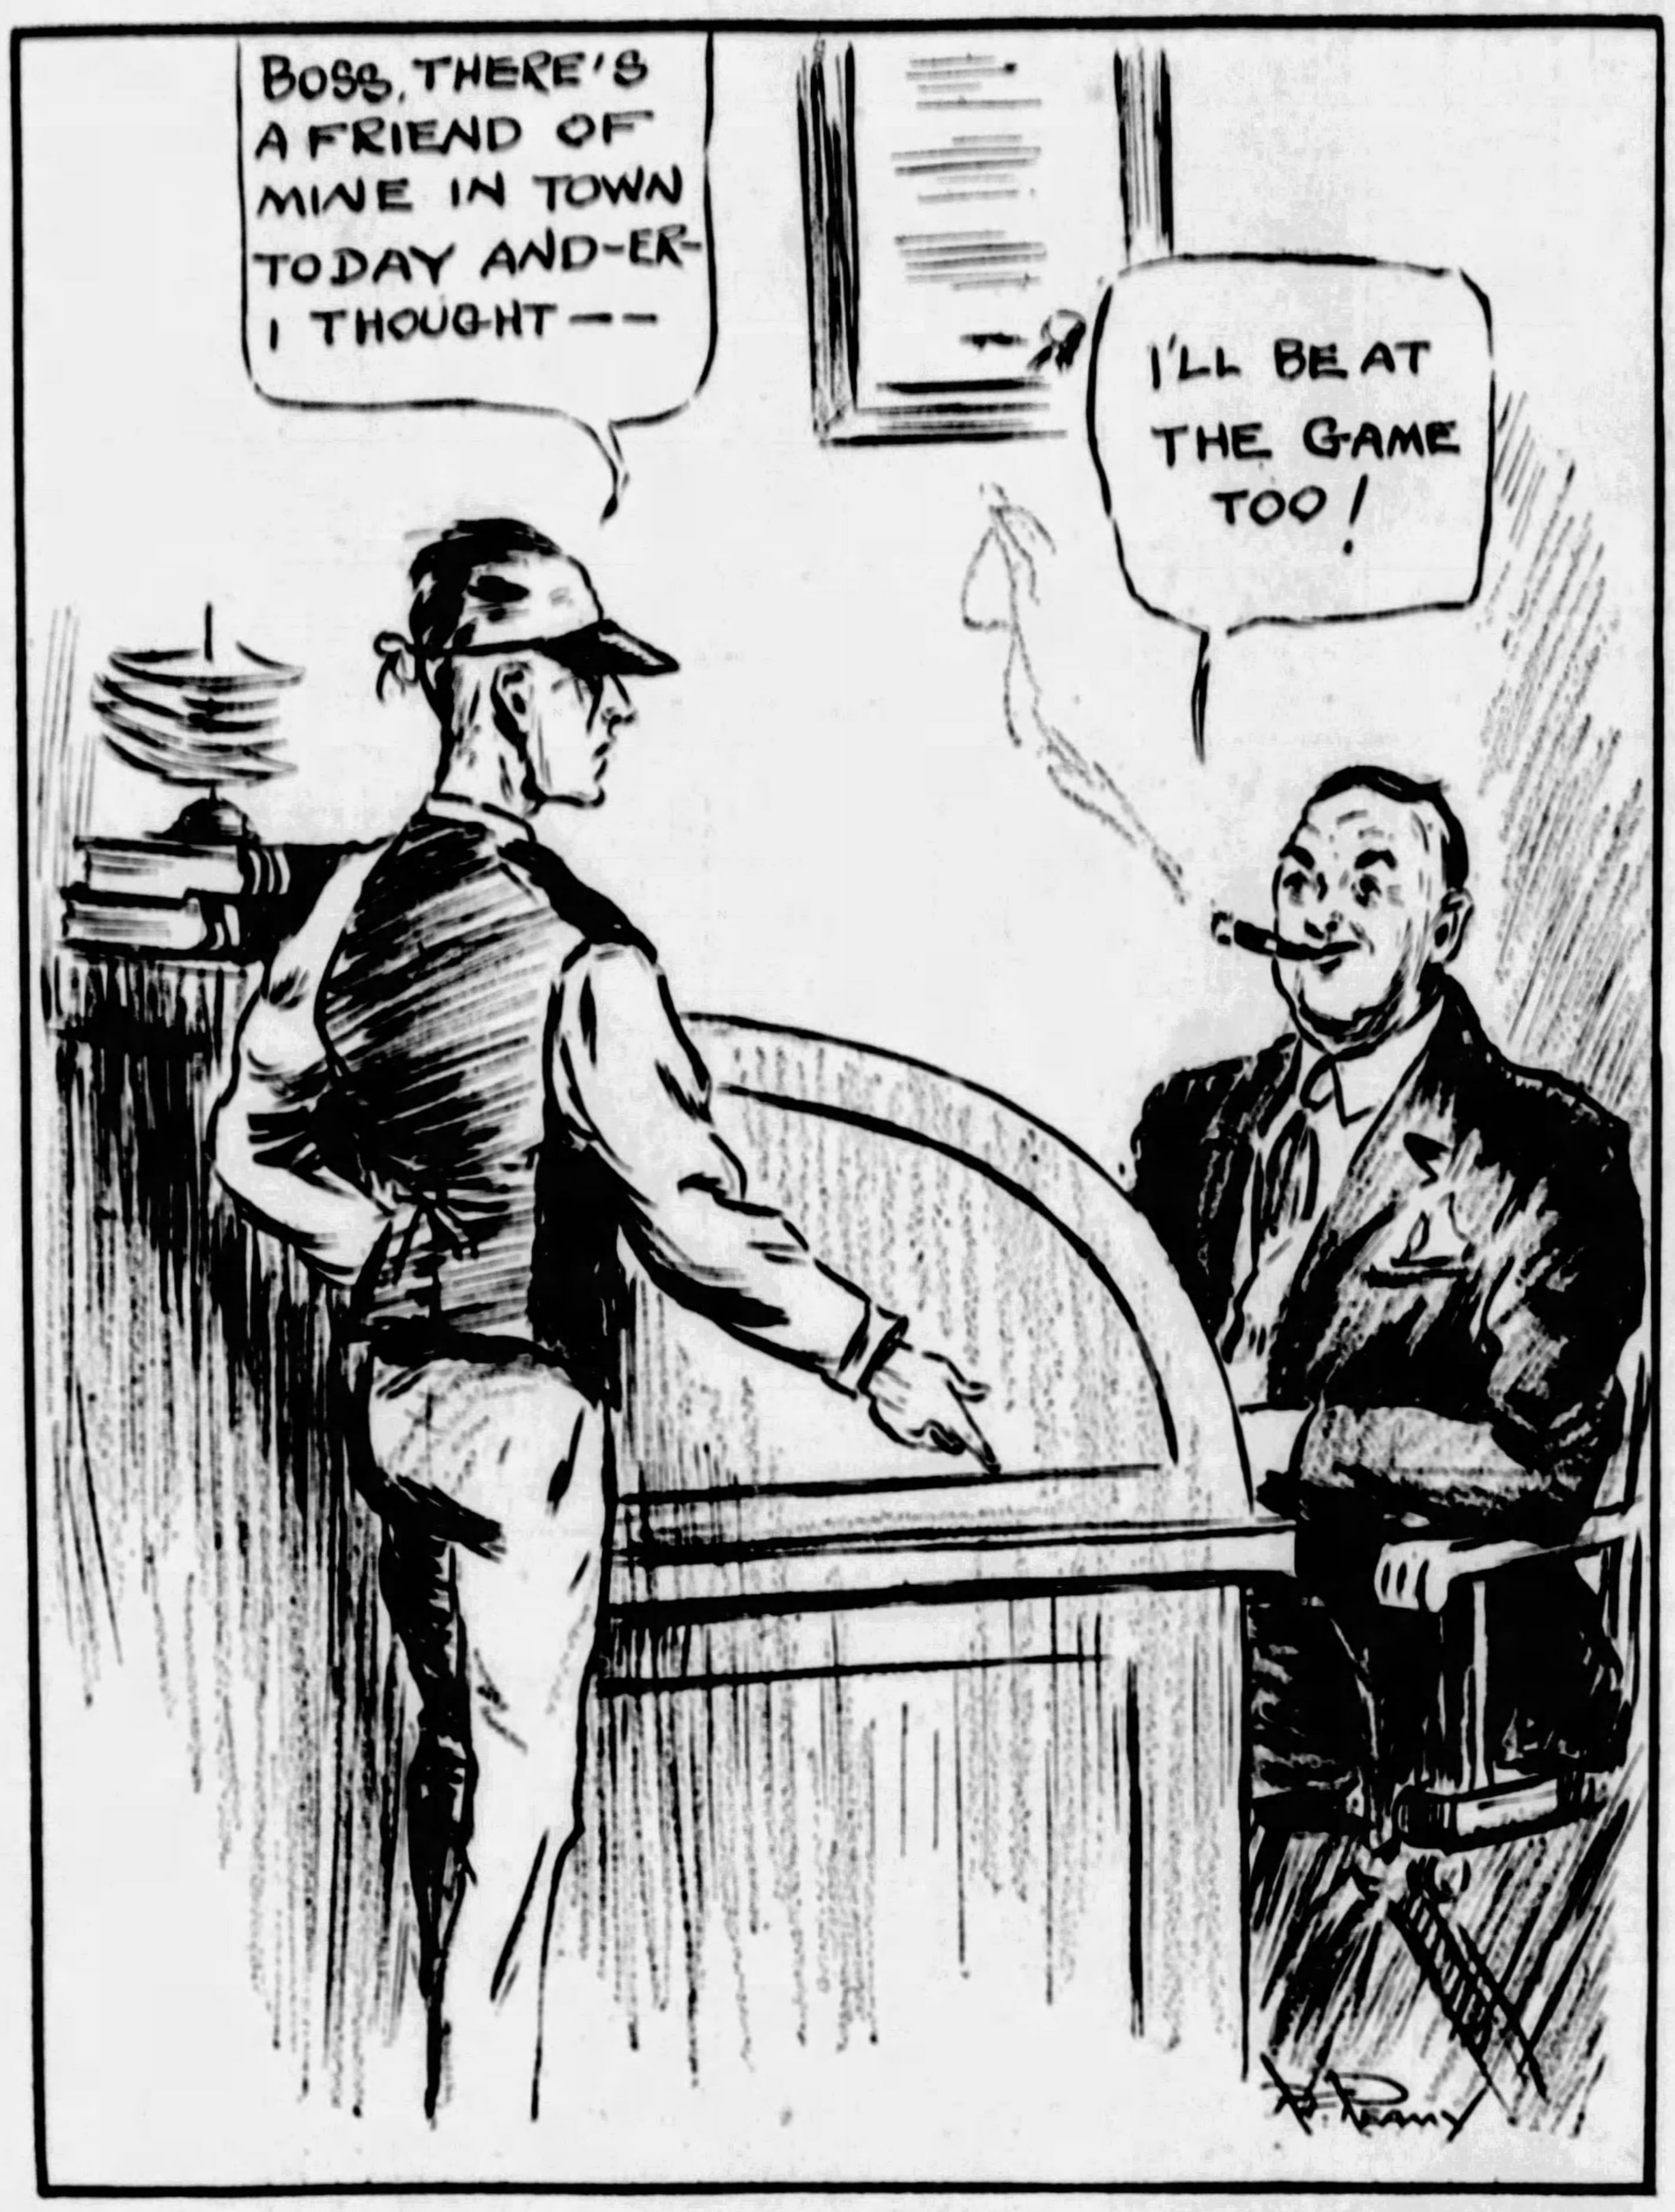
This shows the driver of a motorcycle taking a sharp turn in the British ''Bristol Cup'' race. The driver looks after his machine and the passenger that helps him leans out, as you see in the picture, to keep the motorcycle from turning over as it goes round the corner.

The picture below shows how near the obliging passenger comes to the ground with his head, risking an unpleasant bump, to keep the machine balanced.

RISKING HIS HEAD

Young American sportsmen will be interested in these two pictures and their demonstration of the power of leverage in overcoming ''centrifugal gravity.''

PIRATES VS. CARDS 3 P. M.



BOSS, THERE'S A FRIEND OF MINE IN TOWN TODAY AND-ER-I THOUGHT-- I'LL BE AT THE GAME TOO!

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Speed and Life

THAT man must more and more accommodate himself to the exigencies introduced into his living conditions by swift movements is daily demonstrated in the automobile obituary column. But the necessity for speeding up his mental machinery affects more than the controls of his bodily motions; he must do all his thinking in terms of a greater velocity.

Everybody knows how the aeroplane is striking the speed note higher, leaving mere terrestrial locomotion far and farther behind. The birds, by favor of the light element in which they move, have always been the earth's swiftest travelers, but the man-bird already outflies the speediest of the winged tribe. Three hundred miles an hour has become an attainable speed for air machines. Now a sustained speed of 300 miles an hour means in the latitude of the northern United States "around the world in sixty hours." It would mean around the world in eighty hours even at the Equator.

But 300 miles an hour is not the ultimate limit of aeroplane speed. No one can predict exactly what that limit will be. But to avoid exaggeration, let it stand at 300 miles. Now, to perceive the immediate effect of such a motion on the human senses imagine an auto traveling at the rate of 300 miles an hour to pass your door. YOU WOULD NOT BE ABLE TO SEE IT.

It would flash across the field of vision too quickly to leave a picture of itself. It would travel 440 feet in a second. You would see nothing but a quivering streak in the air. The proof of this is furnished by the movies. There your eye cannot grasp the individual pictures making up the film, although they succeed one another at the rate of only about sixteen a second. But the machine presents them in such a way that they appear blended on the retina as a single image, exhibiting in combination the movements of the sixteen that have passed during the second.

When human beings move at speeds of several hundred feet per second, their senses need a special training to meet the exigencies that arise.

And their muscles must share in this training, which hundreds of thousands of men and women are receiving unwittingly every day in the streets of great cities and even on country roads. There is, of course, a limit imposed by the maximum speed of transmission of nervous impulses. The rate of transmission in motor nerves has been estimated as high as 200 feet per second. But the distance that the impulse must travel may not exceed ten feet, which would be covered in the twentieth of a second.

Even in ordinary automobiling we must acquire something of the quickness of reaction naturally possessed by the birds. No matter how fast it may be flying, and no matter how intricate the labyrinth of branches, limbs and masses of foliage through which its course lies, a bird very rarely, perhaps never, runs into collision with an obstacle, except when blinded by the sun-like blaze of giant reflectors and disabled by fierce winds and cold it plunges to death against lighthouses on stormy nights.

Watch the evolutions of a chased bat imprisoned in a lighted room filled with a maze of objects that it must avoid with lightning quickness and dodging blows with an ease and skill that are astonishing. The practiced jaywalker becomes almost as agile as the bat and stands in no less need of his agility.

Probably intellectual agility follows the quickening of the physical responses, but, on the other hand, it will be found that many of the so-called intelligence tests relate only to the intelligence of the body rather than to that of the mind.

Isn't It So?

Mighty few of us acquire polish from the grindstone of adversity.

Love may be blind, but it knows when there is too much light in the room.

• • •

Some people feel so high and mighty that they are always up in the air about it.

It goes without saying that "It goes without saying" never applies to a woman.

• • •

There are people so constituted that they never speak well of a man till he is dead.

Train Your Voice

IT IS a relief to converse with a person who possesses a pleasing voice, well modulated and, at all times, not too loud.

The person with a musical speaking voice you judge to be charming.

You think about your own coarse tones and wish you had a voice of softer quality.

Association has a great deal to do with the habit of speaking.

If you mingle with educated, polite people, you can change your tones by listening for the sounds that please, and practicising the way these persons express themselves.

Imitation is one reason why children should be brought up among persons who are careful of their manner of speech if you want them to speak pleasingly.

Teachers can do a great deal for boys and girls who are deprived of this sort of association at home.

Get the children to notice the tones of different ones and to try to speak in the manner that pleases them.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Ship

I SAW a ship as night dropped down
With silent wings on sea and town,
A lonely ship that slipped away
And mingled with the shadows gray.

As dauntless as the wind went she,
Alone with night upon the sea.
Like that brave ship so may I go,
Nor fear whatever tempests blow.

For gallant hearts alone are free,
They only know true mastery,
And nothing through the marching years
Can harm a man save what he fears!

Words of the Wise

Everything comes if a man will only wait.—Disraeli.

A spark neglected has often raised a conflagration.—Rufus.

Speak the language of the company you are in; speak it purely, and unlarded with any other.—Chesterfield.

A mind too vigorous and active serves only to consume the body to which it is joined, as the richest jewels are soonest found to wear their settings.—Goldsmith.

To be happy, the passion must be cheerful and gay, not gloomy and melancholy. A propensity to hope and joy is real riches; one to fear and sorrow, real poverty.—Hume.

At the workingman's house hunger looks in, but dares not enter! Nor will the bailiff or the constable enter; for industry pays debts, but despair increaseth them.—Franklin.

Tales that are Told

Heartbreaking

THEY were very much in love with each other, and the young girl had but recently accepted an engagement ring from her lover.

Although everything was perfectly planned for their future, the young man was inquisitive to the point of folly.

"Tell me, dear," he pleaded, "have you ever been kissed before?"

The girl blushed. She did not know what to say for the best.

"Well, ye—es; only twice," she confessed reluctantly.

"What?" he shrieked. "Who by."

"Don't be ridiculous, dear," returned the girl. "It was only the church choir and the cricket club."—London Answers.

Perpetual Motion

A TRAVELER in the wild and woolly West put up for the night at a very small ranch.

The rancher, a happy-go-lucky individual, was very pleased to have someone to talk to, and began telling his visitor some of the hardships a farmer had to endure.

In the end the traveler became more and more puzzled as to how the little ranch managed to pay its way.

"How on earth do you make the thing go at all?" he asked.

Indicating the only man he employed, the owner said:

"See that feller there? Well, he works for me but I can't pay him. In a couple o' years he gets the ranch and then I work for him until I get it back."

Fitting Man to Job

THE foreman suddenly caught sight of one of his laborers resting on an upturned bucket, and his indignation was immediately roused.

Striding up to the man he shook him violently by the shoulder.

"Now, then," he cried, "up you get and shift some o' them bricks, me lad!"

The laborer hesitated.

"I don't feel well, gov'nor," he answered sadly. "I'm trembling all over."

"Oh, all right," returned the foreman, brutally indifferent to the other's suffering, "catch 'old o' this 'ere sieve, then."

Forewarned

ON ARRIVING at his city office, Cooper, the senior partner of a firm of chartered accountants, who had advertised for an office boy, found about fifty applicants waiting to be interviewed.

He took off his hat and coat and glanced through the morning's letters before attending to the applicants.

Just as he was about to begin to examine them a clerk tapped on the door and came in. He handed a hastily scribbled note to his employer.

"Dear sir," it ran—"Please do not decide upon anything definite until you reach me. I'm last in the queue, but I am IT."

Days of Long Ago

THE split of opinion on the subject of prohibition is at least a century old.

Charles and Mary Beard tell of it in their "The Rise of American Civilization."

This was the Middle West in the days when population was streaming over the Alleghenies to the new farm land:

"Methodists denounced dancing, card-playing and jewelry almost as fiercely as they did drunkenness and profanity.

"The Congregational minister, Timothy Flint, though somewhat more liberal in his views, complained that every German farmer had a distillery and that the pernicious poison, whisky, dribbles from the corn.

"But when he remonstrated with them, the Germans always replied that, 'while they wanted religion and their children baptized and a minister as exemplary as possible, he must allow the honest Dutch, as they called themselves, to partake of the native beverage.'

"The Quakers—even those who liked a 'nightcap' of good whisky—would have no 'godless' musical instrument in their meeting houses, and their solemn guard marched them as censors of the wicked world in which they had no part."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 19.—Cafe entrepreneurs offer a sedate new subtlety these days to attract trade. They have evidently sensed the decline of the baroque type of restaurant with fantastical hangings, dazzling lights and screaming whine of jazz.

The new cafe is sombre and musicless and instead of being on a prominent street is likely to be plumped down between a Socony and Texaco sign on a gloomy street of garages. The woodwork is dark, relieved here and there by a mirror and suggesting Foyot's or the Voisin in Paris.

The new idea is to offer perfect food by attentive waiters on the theory that to the gourmets who will be attracted the price doesn't matter. And, of course, it doesn't. There is no outside abracadabra as expressed in flashing signs and opulent doormen.

The places are genteel and a patron finds himself unconsciously lowering his voice. The knack of displaying things temptingly is stressed. This requires waiters not brought up in the American slap-it-at-you school. They are Europeans whose fathers and grandfathers were waiters before them and unfortunately there are only a few left.

Dining in the new type of places—so far I have found three—is priced about a third higher than the average first-class place. But there is compensation in devotion to cuisine details. The toast for the caviar for instance has a crispness and thinness few cafes achieve.

Crepe Suzette is a marvelous dish, but half its charm is in the hocus-pocus of its making. There is a fascination in watching the artist touch it off into dancing blue brandy flames and you are amazed it comes to you soft and succulent instead of being burned to a crisp.

There is something appetite-whetting, too, mixing salad dressing at your table. It has a distinct savour whereas, if it comes to you from the kitchen, you have a feeling it was poured from a gummy-necked jug. It is these graces that add charm to the new type of cafe. Their popularity will last—well, until New York hungers for something new.

I have never been able to choke up much over the millionaire hypochondriacs who carry personal physicians with them while traveling, but I confess to crying out loud and wringing my hands at the Long Island matron who carried a veterinarian specialist with her for he dog on a trip to Europe.

On top of that, one of the grand automobiles that bowls down the avenue has a specially built in cushioned seat for the owner's Pomeranian. And what is more, there is a mirror directly in front of the seat so the pet may admire itself.

When I think of Pomeranians I always think of Bide Dudley, distinguished as a paragrapher, orator and father. Mr. Dudley has seen much of life and is inclined to be a medium-boiled cynic. Many years ago he owned a beautiful Pom and every evening he could be seen promenading Central Park West with his pink be-ribboned pet. Admiring ladies would often stop and inquire the animal's name and Mr. Dudley, turning red about the ears, would have to reply: "Boo."

The Harlem Black Belt this week offered gaudy posters reading: "The Stay Woke Ball—open from 5 o'clock p. m. until 5 a. am. the next morning."

The highest priced cigaret case-making establishment in New York has been discovered on Park avenue. It occupies a small room and a designer is employed to fashion monograms for buyers. These monograms are inset in metal or jewels. The cheapest case is $400 and they range all the way up to $2,000. A charge of $100 is made for the monogram designing alone.

Paul Whiteman is said to have purchased the most expensive cigaret case in New York for a friend. It was woven of strands of gold and platinum with a filagreed and jeweled monogram and according to a rumor starter set the orchestra leader back $2,800.

Brain Power

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Col. Robert I. Rees, of the Southern California Telephone Company, announced the other day that that company was on the lookout for brains. College trained brains, if you please, and young ones.

Col. Rees knows whereof he speaks. During the war he organized schools for the soldiers of which on the date of the Armistice the total enrollment was 178,000 men, while 75,000 had completed their work.

He established a university and many schools in France regularly attended by 287,000 men.

He is co-operating with many of the largest universities of the country and has spoken to thousands of students. His talks before students have helped to swell the stream of new employes that pours each year from the colleges into the telephone company's organization.

He was presented with the Distinguished Service Medal and was made a member of the Legion of Honor by France for his war services and he is now a member of the National Research Council.

It cannot be too often impressed upon the young man that his prospects and his worth to society depend upon his brain power.

As the world progresses and mechanical inventions improve, hand power means less and less. The untrained man is being slowly but surely crowded off the earth.

Most of us are intellectually lazy. What did you do, for instance, last Sunday morning, besides lying in bed and reading desultorily, both of which pastimes are a mere frittering away of the intellect?

Every one should do some intellectually hard work every day, attack some problem that will require brain usage.

The main thing to do is to get something you like even if it is only a hobby, something upon which you can exercise your brain, as your value to the world will largely depend upon the way you use that.

Time was when big corporations were in search of robots or some such workers that had nothing to offer but their physical ability. More and more they want men who can use their brains. The hand with the brain behind it is worth much more than the hand alone.

The greatest enemy to production and efficiency is stupidity, and like all brain power the way to get brain power is to use your think tank.

Work it and work it hard.

Have some meaty problem on hand constantly that requires your fullest intellectual ability.

An alert, quick and dependable mind is of infinitely more value to the world than willing hands.

Even in running a machine, the intelligent workman is worth more than the stupid one.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Home

THERE were 800 answers when a London magazine asked its readers to define home. Just step this way and look at a few of them.

"Home—a world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in."

"Home—the place where the small are great and the great all."

"Home—the father's kingdom, the mother's world, and the child's paradise."

"Home—the place where we grumble the most and are treated the best."

"Home—the place where our stomachs get three square meals daily and our hearts a thousand."

We might add to those little excellencies Hubbard's funnyism to the the effect that home is the place we go to change our clothes to get ready to go somewhere.

That quintet of London definitions underscores one tenet of my domestic creed, which declares that four walls on a lot don't make a home. It was Richard Lovelace who said: "Stone walls do not a prison make." Neither do they constitute a home, although they may exhaust the architect's skill and the builder's material and the decorator's art.

Turn the jacket of one of those definitions and we get this: It is not a home where strife is in and love out. There is a rule as trite as King Tut but as true as geometry: "Each for all and all for each."

Just wind that up and set it going in a home and no more is needed. It will turn a house into a home before the first sunset throws its good night kisses to the children of men. It implies untrammelled freedom; and mutual protection akin to providence; and foils aplenty for the flashing thrusts of the mind; and a comfort couch for the siestas of the soul.

Watch this golden text in execution; the suddenly jobless one in the home is gladly kept till his tide turns; the misstep of the wayward one is hidden in a blanket of forgetting love; the college course is finished, be the student solvent or no; the mortgage is burned in the family hearth with every hand holding a corner. In short, the family works together like a symphony orchestra with the father swinging the baton.

Next to love, home is earth's dearest treasure. Indeed, home is the cottage where love dwells. Homeless love is as paradoxical as loveless home. When young women inadvertently express a yearning for a home of their own they seldom sense the depth and beauty and significance of their desire. That heart hunger is the most basic thing in racial life. It is the zenith of human divinity.

"Just the wee cot—the cricket's chirr—
Love and the smiling face of her."
